

WEDNESDAY, JULY 26, 1893. B. F. SCHWEIER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

Republican Cony Ticket.

- COUNTY COMMISSIONERS: Wm. H. Moore, Neal M. Stewart. DISTRICT ATTORNEY: Wilberforce Schweyer. COUNTY TREASURER: John F. Eberzeller. PROTHONOTARY: W. H. Zeders. AUDITORS: William Guss, John Y. Shelly.

The American Bi-metallic League, who are in favor of maintaining the money of the Constitution, gold and silver, will hold a National Convention in Chicago, beginning August 1st.

Certain farmers in Berks county declare their purpose to feed their wheat to live stock in preference to selling it for 60c a bushel, which will be just the thing to do if they can get more than 60 cents a bushel for the wheat in that way.

The Supreme Court has set aside the law of the late Legislature relative to the Philadelphia Public Building Commission. There isn't much use in having a Legislature if the Supreme Court is to remake the law after the Legislature has enacted them.

Revolution never goes backward. The Cleveland administration has started the revolution toward the restoration of rebel rule, and the crack of the master's whip will again soon be heard over the backs of democratic northern dough faces in Congress.

France and Siam are at war, and dispatches say England and China will side with Siam, which if it comes to blows will make a big war with France and Russia on one side, and England, China and Siam on the other side.

The pension of Justice Charles De Loag, of the Supreme Court of Michigan, who was getting $70 a month has been suspended. The judge was in the army and lost his left arm. He has a running wound in the abdomen. As judge, he gets a salary of seven thousand dollars a year.

Senator John J. Patterson of this place has been successful in securing the financial aid to carry on to completion the enterprise of constructing an electric railway from Philadelphia through the counties of Delaware, Chester, Lancaster and Dauphin. Quite a number of Juniata county men are associated with the Senator in the enterprise. A mortgage of seven hundred thousand dollars was negotiated last Friday, July 21st for the Pennsylvania Traction Company as it is called. The Providence Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia is named as trustee. The bonds are of one thousand dollar denomination, bearing five per cent. interest and due in 1923.

Judge Lyons Sustained.

Some years ago a young man named Martin Miller, had both feet crushed off while jumping freight cars between this town and Lewistown. He became a county charge. The county authority learned that he belonged to Walker township, and he was put upon the bounty of that district. The poor authority said he had not been with us a number of years, and forthwith they proceeded to find his place of residence. It was found to be in Perry county. An order of court was gotten out to move him from Walker to Perry Co. The poor directors of Perry Co., appealed from the order. Judge Lyons dismissed their appeal. The Perry county directors carried the case up to the Supreme Court. Last week the Supreme Court handed down its opinion in the case, sustaining Judge Lyons which makes Perry county the custodian of Miller.

Take Care What You Report.

Under a law passed by the late Legislature, any person reporting to an editor, and causing to be published in a newspaper any libelous statement concerning any person or corporation, may be found guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisoned not over two years.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD EXHIBIT AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

A GLIMSE AT ITS INTERESTING TREASURES. Of more real interest to the average visitor to the World's Fair than all the confusing array of locomotives, cars, ships, wagons, bicycles and velocipedes in the great Transportation Building is the compact yet comprehensive exhibit which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company makes in its own beautiful little model railway station. What with signal tower, overhead foot bridges, automatic switches, tracks, ballast, and ditches just outside its doors, and the original "John Bull" locomotive the oldest in America, with its train of antique cars, and the colossal iron vehicles upon which the hugh Krupp guns were converted from Baltimore to the Exposition, standing in the shadow of its walls it presents to the passer by an appearance so distinctly characteristic that a careful inspection of the treasures of the interior is almost inevitable. Once inside you enter immediately into a study of transportation history in the United States on the kindergarten or object-lesson basis, and by means of models, ranging from the old Conestoga wagon, through a WOMAN AND HOME.

A TRIBUTE TO THE PARLORLESS HOME AND DEAR MOTHER.

Remarkable Record of Public Service. Word to the Good Young Girl—The Almost Woman Peer—Early Training of a Gossip—Household Hints.

The word parlor always suggests to my mind a vague something, something practical or beautiful, with no savor of comfort or happiness, but instead a breathless sort of place, from its solemnity, "not to be used" air. A place so sacred from its forbiddingness takes an air of such supreme elegance that humanity seems not related because there is no deference to the common.

I always feel a chill when honored by a reception in a parlor or drawing room, and I feel one of the richest treasures I can pay my mother is that she so loved her home that she never had a parlor. The largest and sunniest room had the best furniture, and along with it, chairs, electric pictures, an open piano and books in plenty were the open window and vases and flowers in summer, and warm fire and plate of fruits in winter.

Another lady had a sitting room apart, because our reception room was so popular that sometimes she wished to spend her evening more quietly with book or friend than with our merry group. But no guest left the happy young circle without a good night to mother, even if it was to withdraw from our musical, fun loving crowd. All who came thought the evening incomplete without the mother, the jolly word or bit of kindly counsel the "young folks" friend.

It is through this sweet freedom, informality and unity of our home life that the children's friends were always under the supervision of our parents. A shield inviolable was about us in the parental love and companionship, and our home made the center of pure and wholesome amusement for our guests and companions.

It is not waste an inch of room in our home by making it a sitting room, would have our home the brightest spot in the memory of our boys and girls when they have become men and women, let the atmosphere of the home be grateful, sympathetic, with every belonging serving every day the human needs of unfolding lives.

A Remarkable Record of Public Service. Miss Harriet M. Aspell, the only woman permanently employed in the home division of the dead letter office, was appointed New York by Postmaster General James M. Beck. It is a high record, and return to the sender whenever possible, such letters as have been opened and returned to sender, are returned to the sender with a note explaining the reason. The records show a complete history of each letter handled and can be quickly referred to from first to last. It is a fair condition, if a letter contains the faintest clue to the identity of the writer, it is sent under cover to the postmaster at the mailing office, together with instructions as to the delivery of it. About 95 per cent are delivered by this means.

The largest amount she has cared to find in a single letter is $1,300. The only woman in the office who has ever discovered and equal effort is made to discover the owner. About $500,000 in money is stored to the sender of letters, and the accounts are kept so accurately that in all the period of this woman's service, not a cent of the thousands, passing through her hands has failed to be properly accounted for. Never since her appointment has she failed to report for duty at 9 o'clock save once, and that was because she was delayed eight minutes, nor has she lost an hour on account of illness in 10 years. It is believed this record cannot be equalled in the world. Her present salary is $1,200—$100 Postoffice.

A Word to the Good Young Girl. The extremely well behaved young girl who has never been tempted and who cannot understand how another could commit a folly is certain to become the censorious of old women. If she does not develop into a cruel, malicious tongue, she will be a miser. Nothing is so easy as the descent from uncharitableness to malice. As a young girl she prides herself upon her love of morality and good behavior. Her friends speak of her as "such a strict girl" in her days. No one would think of appealing to her for sympathy or advice in an hour of temptation, but she is respected for her high ideas if feared for her severity. As an old woman she is simply held in abhorrence, and her name becomes a neighborhood synonym for cruel judgment.

Criticism of our frail fellow beings is a vice which takes possession of us like a sin, or a drug, once we become conscious of it. It is a bad habit to be cured. It may begin in our high moral standard, or our hatred of sin, but once it becomes a habit we find it hard to get rid of. It is a bad habit to be cured. In the old it is intolerable, for nothing renders old age so interesting or lovable as sympathy for the young and cheerfulness in the erring. It is strange that we all do not get charitable as we grow old. As we learn more and more of our frailties and more and more of the temptations and illusions of life we ought to become more and more tender and pitying. One can be sympathetic without encouraging vice and wrongdoing, and without being a hypocrite. Ancient Woman Poets.

It is no new theory that women in order to succeed in poetry must be brief, personal and concentrated. It was recognized by the Greek critics themselves. Into that delicious garland of the poet which was woven by Meleager to be hung outside the gate of the garden of the Hesperides had the Greek poet two women from the centuries of Hellenic song. Sappho is there indeed because "though her flowers were few, they were all roses," and almost a single strain, about the length of the one bears the name of Erinna. That was all that remained of her, of a poet who had written a hundred lines of poetry to the love of a girl of 19 as lovely as the lowest of Homer's.

Even at the time of the birth of Christ Erinna's name was what could be printed on a page of a magazine. The whole of her extant work, and of Sappho's, could now be pressed into a newspaper every time they were read. The name of Sappho at least enough survives to prove beyond a shadow of doubt the lofty inspiration of her genius. She is the type of the woman poet who exists not by reason of the variety or volume of her work, but by virtue of its intensity, its individuality, its artistic perfection.—Edmund Gosse in Century.

A Covered Broom For Dusting. A weary and perhaps ultra fastidious housekeeper, who was asked what her idea of brooms was, promptly responded, "A place where there is no dust." As long however, as we do remain on this earth dust is a more aggressive and ever present enemy than either mosquitoes or flies, and every fortnight walls and corners, the tops of windows and doors should have their broom. It is a clean broom, being increased in a bag of cotton flannel, being a cloth about the broom is an unsatisfactory makeshift, besides which the fuzzy part of the cloth catches and retains dust better than old mottled and only to be forced to fly about the room, does not settle anywhere else, as is the case when the work is done with a feather duster.

Don't let your love of the beautiful tempt you to the use of colored flannel, because you want to see when it is dirty in order to send it to the wash. Three of these bags will not be too many, as a broom covered with one is the best means of removing the dust each morning from polished or stained floors.

Applicants must be examined in the district in which they intend to teach. Directors and friends of education are invited to attend.

D. M. MARSHALL, County Superintendent.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Roy Kreider is visiting friends in Driftwood. Come to Millin Academy rather than go out of the county. Squire Wert of McVeytown was in town on business this week. Hood's Pills may be had by mail for 25c of C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Misses Gertie and Lottie Schott have returned home from a visit to Lebanon. Ex-editor T. D. Garman from Luzerne county is in Juniata among his old friends.

Miss Grace McAnigley of Port Royal is visiting her mother Mrs. Clara McAnigley. Miss Annie Heck has returned from a month's visit among friends in Waterford and vicinity.

You don't want to miss Dr. J. T. Rothrock's free lecture in the Court House next Friday evening. Merchant Joseph Pennell of Patterson was taken suddenly ill on Monday with something like sun-stroke.

Mrs. Mueselman formerly of Millport, but now of Philadelphia, visited in this county some days ago. Mrs. J. S. Kissinger of Patterson has returned home from a visit to Washington D. C., and State of New Jersey.

Hundreds of people write "It is impossible to describe the good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me." It will be equal help to you.

FREE—Illustrated Lecture in Court room, Millintown, Friday evening, July 28th, 1893, by Dr. J. T. Rothrock, Pennsylvania Forestry Commissioner. Come—Ladies especially invited.

Harriet E. Hall of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the great South American Nerve. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. He got me up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. The first bottle of the Nerve Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I cannot recommend it to highly." Sold by L. Banks & Co., Druggist, Millintown, Pa. Feb. 9 '93, N.Y.

PHOTOGRAPHS. ANOTHER TIME FOR ANY LENGTH OF TIME, WHILE WE ARE IN THE PICTURE BUSINESS.

We will continue making our fine Cabinet Photographs as well as $1.50 per dozen. These pictures are mounted on elegant card enameled on back and fast with picture with a high Polish finish superior in quality to the Aristo Photo I have been taking the last year. However all those wishing the Aristo picture I will still make them at the same price, $1.50 per dozen.

The extensive patronage and the many testimonials of the appreciation of our work, we have received the last year, gives us renewed courage to go on with these low prices, and we propose making Millintown headquarters for the finest Photographs for the money that can be obtained anywhere, adding all the time new and costly accessories of the very latest designs giving our trade the benefit of that which would cost $3.00 in the city, for $1.50 in Millintown. We can make pictures for $1.00 per dozen such as are made by all travelling photographers, but we prefer giving our patrons a much better picture for very little more money. Thanking our patrons for their liberal patronage we solicit a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, JOSEPH HIGGS, Millintown, Pa. March 9, 1893.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Browns Valley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition near three years from Nervousness, Weakness, of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nerve which done me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I now revive every weakly person to this valuable and lovely remedy. A few bottles of it has cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." War wanted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Trial bottle 15c. Sold by L. Banks & Co., Druggist, Millintown, Pa. Feb. 1, 1913.

Once an Almond. A writer in Meehan's Monthly tries to make it appear that the peach was once an almond. The almond has a thin shell around the stone when mature. The outer skin has simply become fleshy in the peach, so that it is all that gives it its specific character. It seems now clear from investigation in the history of ancient Babylon, that in their gardens, now nearly 4000 years ago, the peach was cultivated then as it is now. It must have been many years before this that the peach was introduced from the almond, and this fact goes to show the great antiquity of the fruit. Possibly gardening in some respects at least so far as it relates to many of our cultivated fruits, was as far advanced six, or perhaps eight or ten thousand years back, as it is to-day.

Phonians, many thousands of years ago, as is proven by the records, had in their gardens almonds, apricots, bananas, citrons, figs, grapes, olives, peaches, pomegranates, and even sugar-cane was in extensive cultivation. Certainly this shows how very far advanced these nations were in garden culture these many years ago.
