

F. SCHWEIER

DR. TALMAGR

VOL. XLVII.

and

betwith

iptly ts to

quid

tina

Can-

ak-

0m

ug

tha

when

THE CONSTITUTION-THE UNION-AND THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAWS.

Editor and Proprietor.

NO. 33.

MIFFLINTOWN, JUNIATA COUNTY, PENNA., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1893.

The Brooklyn Divine's Sunday Sermon.

Subject : "Comfort for Business Men."

TETT: "Speak ye comfortably to Jerusa-en,"-Isainh x1., 2.

what an awful six weeks in commercial What an award six weeks in commercial sircles! The crashing of banks from San prancises to New York and from occan to ocean. The complete uncertainty that has halted all styles of business for three months and the measure of the more reference in the and the pressure of the money market for the has year have put all bargain makers at their wits end. Some of the best men in the land have faltered—men whose hearts are enlisted in every good work and whose hands have blessed every great charity. The shurch of God can afford to extend to them her sympathies and plead he charity. The source of trod can allord to extend to them her sympathies and plead be-fore beaven with all availing prayer. The schools such men have established, the shurshes they have built, the asylums and shurdles they have built, the asymms and beneficent institutions they have fostered, will be their eulogy long after their banking institutions are forgotten

Such men can never fail. They have their Such men can never fail. They have their treasures in banks that never break and will be millionaires forever. The stringency of the money market, I am glad to say, begins to relax. May the wisdom of Almighty God come down upon our National legislature at their convening next month in Washington and such results be reached as shall restore confidence and revive trade and multiply prosperities! Yet not only now in the time prosperities: Yet not only now in the time of financial disaster, but all through life, our active business people have a struggle, and I think it will be appropriate and useful for me to talk about their trials and try to offer tome curative prescriptions.

In the first place, I have to remark that a great many of our business men feel ruinous trials and temptations coming to them from small and limited capital in business. It is everywhere understood that it takes now three or four times as much to do business well as once it did. Once a few hundred dol-In the first place, I have to remark that a well as once it did. Once a few hundred dol-lars were turned into goods-the merchant would be his own store sweeper, his own salesman, his own bookkeeper. He would manage all the affairs himself, and every-thing would be net profit. Wonderfu changer have come. Costly apparatus, ex-tensive advertising, exorbitant store rents, heavy tratation, expensive agencies, are only parts of the demand made upon our commercial men, and when they have found erelal men, and when they have found themselves in such circumstances with small capital they have sometimes been tempted to an against the rocks of moral and fluancial

This temptation of limited capital has uined men in two ways. Sometimes they have sbrunk down under the temptation. They have yielded the battle before the firs, shot was fired. At the first hard gun the idered. Their knees knocked togethe at the fall of the auctioneer's hammer. The blanched at the financial peril. They di, not understand that there is such a thing a ism in merchandise, and that there are Waterloos of the counter, and that a man can fight no braver battle with the sword than n with the vardstick.

Their souls meited in them because sugar were up when they wanted to buy and down when they wanted to sell and unsalable goods were on the shelf and bad debts in goods were on the shell and bad debts in their ledger. The gloom of their counte-nances overshalowed even their dry goods and groceries. Despondency, coming from limited capital, blasted them. Others have felt if in a different way. They have said: "Here I have been trudging along. I have been trying to be honest all these years. I find it is of no use. Now it is make or break."

<text><text><text><text>

"her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are poace." I sympathize with the work being done in many of our cities by which beautiful rooms are set apart by our Young Men's Christian Associations, and I pray God to prosper them in all things. But, I tell you, there is some-thing tack of that and before that. We need thing tack of that and before that. We need one happy, consecrated, cheerful Christian Have you ever ciphered out in the rule of

Have you ever ciphered out in the rule of oss and gain the sum, "What shall it profit is and if he gain the whole world and lose is soul?" However fine your apparel, the winds of death will flutter it like rags. Homespun and a threadbare coat have some-times been the shadow of coming robes made white in the blood of the Lamb. The pearl of great price is worth more than any gen you can bring from the ocean, than any gran you can bring from the ocean, than Aus-tralian or Brazilian mines strung in one car-oanet. Seek after God, find His righteous-ness, and all shall be well here; all shall be well here; all shall be well hereafter. But I must have a word with those who But I must have a word with those wht during the present commercial calamities have lost heavily, or perhaps lost all their estate. If a man lose his property at 30 or 40 years of age, it is only a sharp discipling gen-erally by which later he are not stated.

years of age, it is only asharp discipline gen-erally by which later he comes to larger suc-cess. It is all folly for a man to sit down in midlife discouraged. The marshals of Napoleon came to their commander and said, "We have lost the battle and we are being cut to pieces." Napoleon took his watch from his pocket and said. "It is only 2 o'clock in the atternoon. You have lost that battle, but you have time enough to win another. Charge upon the foe!" Though the meridian of life has passed with you and you have been routed in many a conflict, give not up in discouragement. There are victories yet for you to gain. But sometimes monetary disaster comes to a man when there is something in his age o something in his health or something in hi surroundings which make him know well that he will never get up again. In 1857 it was estimated the lodge years previous to that time annually thera Many of those persons never recovered fr the misfortune. But let me give a word comfort in passing. The sheriff may sell yo out of many things, but there are some things of which he ennot sell you out. He cannot sell out your health. He cannot sell out your family. He cannot sell out your He cannot sell out your God. woman!" cannot sell out your heaven. Your have more than you have lost. Sons and daughters of God, children of an eternal and all loving Father, mourn not whon your property goes. The world is yours, and life is yours, and chrones of im-perial grandeur are yours, and rivers of gladness are yours, and shining mansions are yours, and God is yours. The eternal God has sworn it, and every time you doubt it you charge the King of heaven and earth with perjury. Instead of complaining how hard you have ft, go home, take up your Bible full of promises, get down on your knees before God and thank Him for what you have instead of spending so much time in complaining about what you have not. Some of you remember the shipwreek of cannot sell out your heaven. You have mor want; be Some of you remember the shipwrock Some of you remember the ship work of the Central America. This noble steame had, I think, about 500 passengers aboard Suddenly the storm came, and the surger trampled the decks and swung into the hatches, and there went up a hundred voiced death shrick. The foam on the jaw of the wave; the pitching of the steamor as though it were leaping a mountain; the dismal flare overed the truth, in spite of his sissteam pipes, the hiss of the extinguished urnaces; the walking of God on the wave of the signal rockets ; the long cough of th make plans for trying to earn a few furnaces; the walking of God on the wave The steamer went not down without a strug sons himself, but Madeleine objected strenuously to all those schemes which she thought beneath the dignity of the As the passengers stationed themselves in hows to bale out the vessel, hark to the hump of the buckets as men unused to toll with blistered hands and strained muscle ting for their lives. There is a sail seen against the sky. The flash of the distress gun is sounded. Its voice is heard not, fa-ft is choked in the louder booming of the sea. A few passengers escaped, but the steamer gave one great lurch and was gone! So there are some men who sail on prosperous in life. All's well, all's well. But at lac ome financial disaster comes -a euroclydor Down they go! the bottom of this commen

NEW RESOLVES. SY ISABELLA FYATE MATO. Lord. I would leave the world apart To spend a happy time with thes. To feel Thee owelling in my heart To calm and cheer and counsel me.

But ere Thy preserves i invite, i must sweep price and wrath away. Must make my conscience sweet and whi Wide open to Thy blessed day.

Lo: When I turn me to my task I find Thou dost its labors share; For Thou art come before I ask, And for Thyself, Thou dost prepare!

Michel Perrin's Benefactor.

TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH OF MME. DE BAWR, BY ISABEL SMITHSON.

> not matter; it seems that when one is "There is no doubt about it. My duty minister, one can do anything, and sold her watch. She works from "If I were sure of morning till night, but one woman's the cure, excitedly. "If I were sure of that!" interrupted out money? How can 1 earn my fiv-ing when I know no more of the world "Why should not I go to Paris?"

This m n igne was uttered at Dijon, only two years, I am sure he will rein the year VIII, of the Republic, in a member me." little room, which is perhaps still in existence, and which was then occupied by the former cure of a little village of the Department of the Cote d' Or.

Michel Perrin, who until now had ived only to do good to others, to gray to God, and to work in the little garden of the p rsonage, had been driven away from this home, where "But it is so far off," said Madeleine, twenty-two years of his peaceful life beginning to cry. "Baht Sixty to eighty lengueshad been passed. Deprived of the modest salary attached to his position, persecuted by some of the officials of what is that to a good walker! The only thing that grieves me is that I shall have to ask you for two or three the Republican Government, and suspected by all, the poor care had wancrowns, with which to buy food on the dered for a long time from village to way Something tells me that I shall be lucky directly after I reach Paris, village, partly to escape arrest, and partly to seek aid from persons whose about a year, having jouned his sister, that Madeleine was comforted, and she even smiled at the thought of her she had always been the sole mistress utilizing her skill in needle-work so far as to provide amply for her own wants, but when her brother yielded to her earnest entreaties, and came to occupy one of the two tiny rooms occupy one of the two tiny rooms which she called her apartment, Madeleine soon realized that a man in the prime of life and with a good appetite then parted. Michel Perrin, urged by his anxiety francs, and a position in the Depart- and he had hardly raised his head and ( "I have three whole days in which | remarked as before, "Oh nothing "I'wo thousand frances!' cried the comer, when he exclaimed laugh- said, "my faith! It will not be diffiment of Taxes." cure, and then he added with a smile, ingly

"you are right in saying that some "It is not at all necessary for you to people are lucky, for Engene Canus be announced-I could not have passed was the most idle and ignorant fellow you on the street without recognizing gloomy, muddy, smokey in his eyes, "It is not at all necessary for you to that ever left the College of Juilty.' you!'' "Well, he nearly starved in Paris This friendly greeting put the cure for two or three years, but luck so quite at his ease, and grasping his ful monuments, or the superb bridges willed it that another student of the friend's hand heartily, he replied: over the Seine; he thought of the vil-Oratory, Joseph Fonche, of whom you "And you, Citizen Minister, are so lage of M ...., and fancied himself in have spoken." have spoken.

g al to hear that he still lives. He was a knowing one, and always at the head. He and I were chums at college; be helped me with my studies, and in re use I fought for him—I was a solid little fellow, but he was not strong." little feilow, but he was not strong."

"and tell me what you have been do ingall these years since we pirted." "I was the happiest of mea for sevs mething, I forget what, but that does > came pastor of the prettiest village of Bonsgavve.

"So poor indeed that, having been ing, when I know no more of the world "Why should not I go to Paris?" turned out of my home, rained and than a new-born babe! It does not critic Michel, starting to his feet. "I persecuted, I have lived for soven matter, however, 1 will go if I have to beg on the highway—even though I die of hunger." Concle and speak to him. If he rec-ognized Camus, who was at Juilly for myself, for 1 was suspected, at least Nor I at the source of the t sey said so. Now, I a k yon, of what would they suspect me? But so it go to Paris or not. You can not earn bread enough for both of us, and noth-filled them, they would have been filled them, they would have been bread enough for both of us, and noth-ing that you can say will alter my de-cision. Paris is the best place for me, because I shall find a friend there." Hilled them, they would nave been rushing about the city overflowing a long time ago," said the poor priest with a sigh. "I think that more ideas pass through the mind of a noor devil who wants to earn a crown "The mischief is in it!" exclaimed a poor devil who wants to carp a crown or two, than passed through Homer's "An I they had no result!"

"Certainly!"

Paris ---but fixed on his college mate a look which spoke volumes.

and that my first letter will give you gratitude he had earned in happier and that my good news." ter?" The cure seemed to be so full of hop-> brother's prospects, although he himself was far from being sure of the success of his journey, but reflected that at le st he could go on errands or chop wood, where there would be no Madeleine to prevent him. The preparations for the journey did she said contained eight | un ired sous; ployment in my department?" tearfully the brother and sister kissed "Why, that is all I ask!" cri each other for the hundredth time, and rin, his eyes beaming with joy. was more difficult to feed than to

"Is this man an idiot?" though Desmarest, and then he said: cult "Be good enough to tell me where calsers, you dined, yesterday." "At the Palace Royal," was the reply. "What did you do after that?" suddealy assumed a smiling aspect; he was never tired of admiring the beauti-"I drank a cup of coffee at the Caveau. "And what happened there? " "Nothing that I know of." rant to drink a bottle of beer without "Is it possible that you did not observe three young men at the table next to yours? " being dazzled by the luxury he saw around him.

"Oh yes, I remember the gentlemen "I wish to heaven that Madeleine but I cannot tell whether there were were here," he often said to himself, "for she will never believe me when I punch. describe all this." "And they were talking treason

The boulevards were his favorite promenades. Here, the variety of amusements was so great that he could his life? ' pass on entire day without being wearied; the shops, the parades, the Funch and Judy shows attracted him in turn, and it was nearly night before he went home to Monifetard street, rection, so I got up and changed my seat. pleasel with everything he had needle cannot support two persons. I ought to have gone long ago. But where can I go-withoutfriends, with-tion Camus was in Paris; he was able out money? How can I are withoutfriends withseen, delighted at living in the gay not wish to overhear." "Indeed, that is just what I have been trying to discover for the last two When Monday morning came Michel weeks," said Perrin quickly. Perrin presented himself before Desmarest feeling a little uneasy, as to you! You are supposed to be a gov whether the work intended for him ernment spy. would prove to be beyond his capa-"A Spy?" screamed Perrin. "Precisely."

"Ah, it is you," said citizen Dessail the sister saily, shi the cure, sitting down beside acr, answered: "I must leave you, dear, whether I our pockets?" flaming cheeks and trembling lips. "it is not with you that I must speak, and rushed out of the room. At Joseph time? Fonche's door he demanded admit-when he was writing the lliad or the is quiet, I suppose?" Everything said the attendant, shutting the door. The next minute, Fonche himself, "Oh, perfectly quiet, every one seems to be as happy as I am." There is plenty of dissatisfaction, nevertheless-could I have taken it home with me, I wonder?" "Did you know that I was Minis-"Yes, that is what I was told by a poor fellow with whom I had some conversation on the boulevard of the Temple, and who, indeed, seemed to "I have discovered a conspiracy?" at any one s of the year. "And you counted on me," said Fonche, in a tone which showed the natural kundness of his heart. Michel stopped speaking, and the seen fit to trifle with the friend of "to much so," replied the poor cure, "that after God, I have no one but you to turn to. Employ me in any way you see fit-necessity does not two hundred letters or so, one after make one very particular, I will not another. "What sort of man was refuse any work-I must make my this?" living, one way or another." "One of the old body guards of my Lord the Comte d' Artois-"Ah, here it is, just under my hand! Well, the old guard?" "He told me his whole history.

"Very confiding of him!" ported of you, that you don't earn ", is still preserv "I had already told him that I was your money." said Fonche, with a "Why, that is all I osk!" cried Per-"You will make more money with ouce a cure us, than by being a pastor of souls," said Fonche, looking at Perrin's hon-

"You told him you were a cure?" re-

NEWS IN BRIEF. -'The Chinese are great poultry

"Sir!"he began, but added auddenly,

"Listen to me, I beg of yon!"

you, after what you have done."

speaker had lost his sonses, under your orders?"

that was honorable.

to your parish.'

place!'

sister.

bias

his friend's hand, said gently:

time arranging matters with the First you; let us be friends again.

give you some money to----'

and the Minister smothered a sigh.

twenty-five louis.

"What on earth do you mean!"

was out.

said

asked:

-The Chinese hand is small, slim and with square phalinges

-Vandyke brought portra ture to the highest degree of perfection.

-The best specimens of alabaster carvings have been exhumed at Nine Teh.

-The bones or tombs of over 200 glants have been found in various parts of Europe.

-Plining says that 400 years were three or four. They were drinking spent building the temple of Diana at Ephesus.

-The average length of life is greaagainst the First Consul?" said Das- ter in Norway than in any other counmarest angrily, "they even threatened try on the globs.

"I cannot say, as to that, for I notic--A tree thirty feet in diameter was ed that the gentlemen lowered their found recently in a grove in Sumts voices when ever I looked in their di- 'ounty, Florida.

-One square foot of glass will lose as You can understand that I did much heat as six square feet of twelve-Inch brick wa '. "This is too much!" cried Desmarest.

"what do you suppose your business about 50,000 pounds; Puliman sleeper--An ordinary day coach weighs weigh about 74 000 pounds.

-There is about four hours and fortyfive minutes difference in time between "Heavens and earth, man, I will tell New York and Liverpool,

> -A map of the smokes of Paris has been recently prepare | by M. Foubert of the Tour St. Jacques.

The cure leaped to his feet, with -The first nickel-steel crank ever cast in this country was turned out recently at the Bethlehem (Pa.) Iron Works.

-A dollar loaned for 100 years and pounded at twenty-four per cant, will amount in that time to $2,551,799,404. tance, but was told that the Minister

-"Chump" is not a new wor i, as Sir "I will wait all day if necessary," he Philip Sidney used "chumpish" in the tense of "sullen" over 300 years ago.

"You can wait in the street then." -A luminous idea for the employment of luminious paint: Use it for the names of streets and the numbers of drove up in his carriage, and the poor houses.

care exclaimed in an agitated voice. -Most students of plant structure Surprised at his friend's altered naintain that leaves spring duectly look, Fonche let him follow him into from the node with which they seem the house and when they were alone, onnected.

-At the bottom of the ocean the tem-"What is the matter with you? Have perature remains practically constant at any one spot throughout the whole

-The snowfall in the Rocky Mounyour childhood," said t'errin with a tains along the line of the Can dian courage born of indiguation, "although you are a rich man, and I am a poor Pacific Railway during the past whiter one, I would not change places with was tunty one feet.

-Aluminum can be bardened by rapid cooling in water, more especially asked Fonche, wondering whether the lif it is alloyed with a small percentage of titanium or tung isten.

"Did not your citizen Desmarest act -A copy of the first dictionary, made by Chinese scholars in the year 1109 B. "Certainly he did; and he has re-C., is still preserved among the archives good-natured laugh. -The very first pages of human his-"My greatest regret is that 1 can tory, the annal of the Egyptians, r--ot return it to you," said Perrin, "for cord that the progenitors of our race not return it to you. were worshipers of the dog. -A deer was chased by dogs through "Who asked you to return it, you the main street of Mays Landing, N. idiot? If I choose to employ you, that J., recently. It jumped a minst a picket is not Desmarest's affair. fence and died of its wounds. "To employ me? To make me a spy!" cried Perriu, flushing with in-- A Georgia man who crossel a dignation. stream in his buggy, a few days age, "I think, my friend, your scruples found, after he had crossed, that a nine come rather late-after two weeks. pound fish had jumped into his buggy. "How was I to know I was a spy?" -One Congregational church in Hon-"Have you only just discovered it?" olulu raises annually $35,000 for 16-"Your man has just told meligious, educational and unissionary "And you did not know it before? purposes-an avreage of $70 per mem cried Fonche, and overcome by the ludicrousness of the situation, he burst er.

"Oh, Joseph Fonche must be quite a different sort of a man, I am very g ad to hear that he still lives. He was

"That has not prevented his getting his innocence, on in the world. He is minister of "Sit down," "Sit down," he said, in a jovial tone, is to go away as soon as possible. I since he delights in making the for. eral years," answered Perrin, "for know very well that Madeleine has tun s of his old classmates _____ very soon after taking orders, I be-tomed.

city.

"If thinking of them could have the other, opening a drawer which he

The small oraft that could have eam is put out beyond the lighthouse on the great sea of speculation. Stocks are th dice with which he gambles. He bought for a few dollars vast tracts of western land. Some man at the east living on a fat homestead meets this gambler of fortune and is persuaded to trade off his estate here for lot n a western city with large avenues and ostly palaces and lake steamers smoking at he wharves and rall trains coming down with lightning speed from every direction. There it is all on paper ! The city has never seen built nor the railroads constructed, bu everything points that way, and the thing will be done as sure as you live. And that is the process by which many have been tempted through limitation of capital into abyrinths from which they could not be exricated.

I would not want to chain honest enter prise. I would not want to block up any of the avenues for honest accumulation that open before young men. On the contrary, would like to cheer them on and reloid would like to cheer them on and rejoic when they reach the goal, but when there ar such multitudes of men going to ruin for this life and the life that is to come through wrong notions of what are lawful spheres o enterprise it is the duty of ministers of re-ligion and the friends of all young men to utter a plain, emphatic, unmistakable pro-test. These are the influences that drown meen in destruction and perdition. Again, a great many of our business mer.

are tempted to over-anxiety and care. You know that nearly all commercial businesses are overdone in this day. Smitten with the love of quick gain, our dities are crowded with men resolved to be rich at all hazaris. They do not care how money comes. Our best merchants are thrown into competition with men of more means and less competition and if an opportunity of accumulation to me-glected one hour some one class picks if up. From January to December the struggle goes on. Night gives no quiet to limbs toasing in restlessness, nor to a brain that will not stop thinking. The dreams are harrowed by imaginary loss and flashed with imaginary gains. Even the Sabbath cannot dam back the tide of anxiety, for this wave of worldliness dashes clear over the churches and eaves its foam on Bibles and praver books.

Men who are living on salaries or by the culture of the soil cannot understand the wear and tear of body and mind to which our merchants are subjected when they do not know but that their livelihood and their business honor are dependent upon the un-certainties of the next hour. This excite nent of the brain, this corroding care of the eart, this strain of effort that exhausts the spirit, sends a great many of our best men in midlife to the grave. They find that Wall street does not end at the East River. It ends at Greenwood! Their life dashed out against money safes. They go with their store on their back. They trudge like camels, sweating from Aleppo to Damas-cus. They make their life a crucifixion. Standing behind desks and counters, ban-ished from the fresh air, weighed down by tarking cares, they are so many suicides. Oh, I wish I could to-day rub out some o these lines of care; that I could lift some of the burdens from the heart ; that I could give relaxation to some of these worn muscles! It is time for you to begin to take it a little ensier. Do your best, and th trust God for the rest. Do not fret. G manages all the affairs of your life, and He manages them for the best. Consider the lilles-they always have robes. Behold the fowls of the air-they always have nests. Take a long breath. Bethink betimes that God did not make you a pack horse. your selves out from among the horsheads and the shelves, and in the light of the holy Sabbath day resolve that you will give to the winds your fears, and your fretfulness, and your distresses. You brought nothing into your distresses. You brought hothing hilo the world, and it is very certain you can carry nothing out. Having food and raimant, be therewith content. The merchant came home from the store. There had been great disaster there. He opened the front door and said in the midst of his family circle: "I am raimed. Ev-erything is gone. I am all ruined!" His wife said, "I am left," and the little child three you its hands and said. "Pape, I am wife said, "I am left," and the little child threw up its hands and said, "Pape, I am here," The aged grandmother seated in the room said, "Then you have all the promises of God beside, John." And he burst into tears and said: "Ged torgive me that I have been so ungrateful. I find I have a great many things left. God forgive me." Again, I remark that many of our business menement to avoid their bound utiles.

nen are tempted to neglect their home dutie How often it is that the store and the home seem to clash, but there ought not to be any collision. It is often the case that the father collision. It is often the case that the matter is the mere treasurer of the family, a sort of agent to see that they have dry goods and groceries. The work of family government he does not touch. Once or twice in a year he calls the children up on a Sabbath after-noon when he has a half hour he does not exactly know what to do with, and in that half hour he disciplines the children and childes them and corrects their faults and gives them a great deal of good advice, and then wonders all the rest of the year that his children do not do better when they have the wonderfall downtage of that semi-ann't." baptism.

ial sea strewn with shattered hulls. But because your property goes do not et your soul go. Though all eise perish, let your soul go. Though all else perish, save that, for I have to tell you of a more stupendous shipwreck than that which I have just mentionel. God haunched this world 6000 years ago. It has been going on under freight of mountains and immortals, out one day it will stagger at the cry of fire The timbers of rock will burn, the mountains fiame like masts and the clouds like suils in the judgment hurricane. Then God shall the judgment hurricane. Then God shall take the passengers of the deck, and from the berths those who have long been asleep in Jesus, and He will set them far beyond the reach of storm and peril.

But how many shall go down? That will never be known until it shall be announced one day in heaven—the shipwreck of a world. b, my dear hearers, whatever now formed his whole library. hough your houses go, though your lands to, though all your earthly possessions per-sh, may Almighty God, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, save all your souls deep sigh would follow.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

All things may be remedied but disontent. There is no virtue so great and god ike as justice.

Don't try to please everybody except say to himself: vourself. You don't have to be disagreeable to "I must go away.

scen.

be good. Committees are admirable things, but t has been said "if the ark had been built by a committee it would not have been finished yet. No one ought to complain if the world neasures him as he measures others. To neasure one with his own yardstick may e hard, but it is also fair. To wish for a star is childhood's pretty folly. Yet he who has not suffered from means of making a living, was surthis malady will never seize the coveted treasure, be it but a glow-worm. way!' The loss of self-respect is the be gi ning of the habit of meanness. He who looks after pennies ought give away the dollars. lucky. The smallest bird is the West India humming bird. The body is less than brother with a sigh.

an inch long and weighs only twenty grains. Early Christian art was wholly sym-bolic; the lamb typified Christ, the fish and the second second to reach Paris, and his fear of exhaust-She took care, however, to conceal iug his funds on the way, walked ten est face thoughtfully. leagues on the first day. But he was valuable to us-you from her dear Michel her anxiety respecting the future of both of them. much richer than he thought; on the brains, and you expre-s yourself well. Any one who heard her singing over second day his purse was empty, in her work, or singing, "Come Michel, spite of having lived on bread and replied Perrin modestly, though he dinner is ready," as she put a great dish of wheat on the table, would have said to himself, "That is a happy heese, so he opened the roll of coins was highly flattered by the compliand his surprise was only equaled by ment. his emotion when he found the three But every night, as soon as pieces besides the forty He was sure that Madeleine she knew by his regular breathing, that her brother was sleeping soundly, her rold ranes. could not have raised such a large sum mind was besieged by a crowd of sad without going into debt, and ha re- an attendant announced that the First thoughts. The slightest delay in pay-solved to return it to her at the first Cousul wanted to see citizen Fonche ment on the part of her customers opportunity. olunged her into difficulties, a week's He took up his abode in the most sickness, therefore, would cause actual nodest hotel in the city, and lost no ides this, she was ever grow ing older, being but two years younger ime in making inquiries concerning his former college mate. His host inthan Michael who had just reached his formed him that Joseph Fonche was fiftieth year; her sight was beginning Minuster of Police, that all the state to fail, and soon perhaps, she would flicials gave public audiences once a not be able to sow even with the help week, but that it would be necessary of spectacles. It was in vain that poor Madeleine tried to banish these sad to send a request in writing for a prianxious thoughts, and more than once, vate reception the rising sun lighted her room and The cure therefore made haste to inlite the following; summoned her to work again, before she had closed her eves. On his part, Michel Perrin dis-"Michel Perrin entreats his former college-mate, Joseph Fonche, to reeive him as soon as possible. He i olging at the Hotel du Soliel, Monfter's efforts to conceal it from him; fetard street. and from that time he never ceased to "Vale et me ama."

Michel showed this missive to citizen legras, his host, and asked his opinion of it.

enre of M_____. Only one of his pro-jects met with her approval; she would be willing to see her brother, who was "The letter is good enough," said Leras, with a wise air, "for it has the mer-t being short. However, is I were you, very well educated, give lessons in should put, at the beginning, citizen Greek and Latin, and accordingly, there was not one of her acquaintance Minister, and at the end with deepest respect. You see, these republican possessed of a son or nephew who was flicials are just as magnificent as of not solicited to let the child learn the old times; they live in palaces, and lead languages, and to choose Michel have more servants than I have hairs Perrin for his tutor; but whether it on my head. They call each other was that the peop'e of Dijon had lost 'citizen" just as you and I do, it is their love for the ancients, or whether they had fittle confidence in the learntree, but if any one should call them your lordship" they would make no ing of a village pastor, Madeleine be jection, be sure of that."

songht in vain of her friends and cus-The cure took his host's advice, but tomers to give for the smallest price, he did not erase the Latin words, for the smallest pupil to her brother. he thought they would recall to Jos-"He is so clever," she would say oph's mind the days when they had "I wish you could see him at home; he sat in the same bench construing reads nothing but Latin and Greek, Cicero. However that is nothing to you, there Nearly a week pissed, and there was is no use in talking about it," and a no reply, and when the writer asked of the inn-keeper whether it often It was true that the good cure had no happened that such an application reother amusement than reading and reeived no notice at all, Legras cited reading the volumes of Homer and fity cases in one breath. The poor

Tacitus which he had managed to save pricat, therefore, gave up hoping, and from the wreck of his home, and which wondered what his next step should e. He led a very retired life, taking a One evening, however, the porter olitary walk when the weather was handed him a letter, and his heart beat fine, and seldom speaking to any one more wildly than it had ever done bebesides his sister. His affection for ore, as he broke the seal and went Madeleine was so deep that separation owords the candle. The words seemed from her seemed the greatest misforto him to be written in gold: "The Minister of Police will receive tune possible to him, and it was in an agony of suspense that he awaited her return whenever she went in quest of the 24th, at one o'clock. pupils for him, and when she came and No one who has not walked through after kissing him without speaking, set the crowded streets of Paris, as our down at once to her work, he would hero had, seeking vainly for a single creature willing to extend to him a elping hand, can understand his joy It was the sale of her beloved watch at having found a protector, and such which decided him, as we have a nowerful one! Michel could not sleep that night He had secretly fixed the next week without first writing to Madeleine. as the date of his departure, when telling her that on Thursday he was to Madeleine came home one day with an see Minister Fonche, and God only unusually thoughtful expression on her knows how much joyous hope these few words conveyed to the brother and face. She seated herself at work near the window, and her brother, who ister though apparently absorbed in read-When the appointed day came the ing, was racking his brain for some cure seated himself in Fonche's ante-room before twelve o'clock, and began repeating to himself the sentences with prised to hear her murmur repeatedly which he intended to open the conver-"What a pity that Paris is so far sation with the great man. The evisaw around, however, increased his "Why so, dear sister?" he asked. "Oh, it is wonderful, marvelous!" saw around, however, increased his she exclaimed, "Some people are so natural tizidity so much that he determined to thick of nothing but his "You and I are not," said the college days, and was telling himself for the hundredth time that Joseph "No, but your old classmate, Eugene Fonche was his classmate, when he was summoned to the minister's cabi-

You remember that he Camus, is. You remember that he went to Paris to find employment! net. Well, he has come back, and he has Fonche was quite alone, seated at a secured a salary of two thousand desk which was covered with papers, hon- | peated Desmarest, laughing. "You would be "Certainly," said Perrin, a little disvaluable to us-you are not without oncerted. "Very good, very good," returned the other, in an approving tone, 'what made me laugh was the hought that if you had told me that when you came to me first, I should have believed you, for you have every appearance of being an celesiastic. "I have never been able to shake it off, though it has often been almost fatal to me," said the cure with a The sich minister rose hastily and gathered up "And now it is advantageous to you, some papers, packing them into a port-Perrin; your whole appearance is one into a peal of laughter. folio with all the eagerness of one who hat inspires confidence."

The cure bowed. to blame me for this mistake. Did you "And what about me?" cried the 'You will meet your friend again? not tell me that you were penniless, cure in dismay, at seeing his friend aid Desmarest. and that you would do anything to preparing to leave him without having "We agreed to play a game of chess earn money?"

nard and come here again on Thurs-

Michel i'errin took his departure, feeling not a little mystified at being so well paid for doing nothing, but he lecided that the work would be arduous when once it began, and that he might as well enjoy his liberty while it

"Three days more for pleasure and easel" he cried, rubbing his hands

The next Thursday he waited in the nte-room, together with some evil-

"New," repeated Perrin in surprise, you to arrange your own movements-to go about the city, as if you had nothing else to do and to keep your eyes open. That is what I want. Did "The dence!" cried Desmarest whose principal duty was watching the royal.

sts, "I suppose you let him see you "On the contrary I told him that I

"I begin to think that is the case, aid Desmarest to himself. "Very well, ways, and come here on Monday.

something important to tell me.

Perrin," he added aloud, "go your a spy!"

you have your game of chess?'

were too strong for him.

was but a poor hand.'

amszement.

streets

and

"Well, what is there new!"

promised anything. "Wait," said the Minister, writing a if I could go back to the cafe Ture." "And what is to prevent your gofew words hastily, "take this to Des-marest, Chief of Division," then he ine? Perhaps the work you have for me asted

"No."

rushed out of the room and into his will occupy my whole time." carriage. "I have no work to give you, my Perrin glanced at the paper which friend I am very busy just now, so you can go and attend to your old good education always tells,

"Besides which," continued Fouche,

"I have perfect confidence in you,

The door of the room opened, at the Tuileries immediately.

while in most of them -"

daras not lose a minute.

Fonche had put into his hands, and read the words: "Desmarest is to employ Michael Perriu and pay him well. Then he went in search of the personage to whom they were addressed. He was admitted at once. Citizen Desmarest seemed to him a much more formidable person than Fonche perhaps because he had nover been his classmate. "Take a seat," said the Chief when he had read the message, "it is ev-placfully. ident that the Minister wishes you to correspond directly with me, and not with himself." ooking men, for nearly two hours. Perrin bowed, saying: Desmarest greeted him with a gracious "He sent me to you," and then h mile, saying:

asked timidly: "When am I to begin my work?" "Without a moment's delay.

and the other exclaimed: The Minister having directed me to "I suppose you came to tell me pay you well, doubtless has immediate omething need of your ability and your zeal.' "I came to see what you wish me to "I can answer for my zeal," replied Perrin, and I hope that with a little "I have already told you that I want practice my ability will equal it." "No doubt, no doubt. You have been chosen by a man who never makes a mistake. I will put your name on my list, and you will draw twenty francs a day; from this date.' The poor priest could hardly re-strain his delight at these words, but he managed to control himself sufficiently to say in a quiet tone. "I hope to prove myself worthy of Minister Conche's kindness, and of yours, and if you will tell me what I am to do ---"I have nothing special for you to day, but you can come in again this week, and meanwhile, walk about the city, go to the boulevards, and public citizen Michel Perrin, on Thursday squares, and dine at the restaurantsalways at the best ones ' "Ab, the best restaurants see very httle me," said Michel smiling, "they are much too expensive for my purse. "I understand. You are out of funds at present-1 will pay you two weeks in advance. Will that do?" "Indeed it will, but I do not like to take my wages before I have worked." "Poh! It is the general custom here it is not the Minister's intention that see nothing, hear nothing?" you go into the cook-shops.' "What good angel guided me to these charming people?" said Michel Perrin to humself, as he took the money-order, and while he was utter-ing profuse thanks, the Chief, being very basy, told him to go at once and draw the amount, and not to come back until Monday, unless he had something important to tell. If the cure's first thought on becom ing the possessor of three hundred francs, was of God, his second was of Madeleine; he could not give a thought to his dinner until he had written the good sister and sent her half his treasure. Then, with a light heart, he resolved to follow the directions of his employer and to enjoy some of the pleasures of Paris.

-Aluminum is found combined with 195 other metals. It is found in every "Honestly, Michel, you ought not known country on the globe and constitutes the larger part of the earth's crust.

- The largest spider of the world is "I did, and I would have been conthe migale of Central America, which, with legs extended, is sometimes fifteen tent to clean your rooms, to carry wood for your stoves, to do anything feet in diameter. It preys upon birds and lizards. Fonche laughed no more, but taking -The only two foods which contain all the substance necessary to human life are said to be milk and the yoke of "It was a mistake, Michel, I assure eggs. A man can live in health After a pause he added, "I have good these two foods. news for you, my friend. Religious

-A well has just been cleaned out at worship is to be re-established. Cardi-De Kalb, Mo., for the first time in twenty years. In the mi-cellineout nal Gonsalvi had been here a long collection of hardware which had ac Consul, and the concordat was signed cumulated were found four revolvera.

yesterday. You will soon be restored -The much-disputed question as to "Ah, shall I see my little church and my dear people again?" cried the cure, has at last been settied by the Belgian his eyes beaming with joy, but imme-diately addening, he added, "Perhaps a mountain chain south of Lake Tau explorer Dolcommune, who foun 1 it in they will put some one else in my ganyika.

"I shall take care of that," said -Scientists are of the opinion that Fonche, "and now you must not stay Avery's I land, situated in the delta n Paris-it is no place for you. I will tof the Mississippi, is composed below the top soll entirely of salt. The salt "No, no, I want no more money, occurs in more or less transparent said the cure, as his friend handed him masses and is quarried for export.

- A hit of information that the Algo-"It is not in payment of your sernaniac may like to ponder over is the vices," laughed Fonche; "it is simply fact that to display a crest on stationa present from me to you-and to your ary and plate in England costs each famia tax of $5 a year and about 40,000 "Oh, very well; I need not refuse a persons pay it. gift from an honest man," said Perrin,

-A submarine vessel named Gustave "Good-bye, go back to Dijon," he Zede has been laurched at Tonlon, France. Its movements re emble those of a swimming whale. It is easily sub-The next year, Michel Perrin resumed his old position as pastor, with his sister at the head of his house. merged when required and the navia expects present declared it a complete When Madeleine called his attention, HCCESS.

with no little pride, to the fact that the -In a paper recently contributed to people were doffing their hats to their the Royal Society of Lo. don, D ctor beloved pastor, he whispered smil- Bristowe endeavors to show that the ingly, "Yes, yes, but the good fellows supposed increase in cancer is only apdo not know that for two weeks I was parent, being due to improved diagnosis and more careful certification of the cause of death.

> -In the reign of Queen El zabeth, If bad fish was sold to the poor, the knavish fishmonger was decorated with a pecklace of his unsavory commodity. and was then perched on a stand in the market.

-In India a huge funnel of wisker work is planted in a stream below a waterfall, and every fluny creature coming down drops in o it, t e water straining out and leaving the day w prey in the receptacle, all ready to be ga'hered in.

THE man who preaches the real cospel of Christ will give emphasis to t with his life.

THE rest of Christ is only for thosy ho can be happy without baving their own way.

Gob never stops trying to 1.82 an carnest man because he now and they makes a mistake.

Goo will hear no prayer that does not come from a heart full of good will for every one.

It is hard for God to do much for men who think they can get happiness by getting money.

There is no more dangerous water than that which makes no noise,

Secularly Correct A

Feacher-Stop that drumming with directly Perrin had left him he called in another man and diyour feet, Thomas Walrath, and tell me who it was that went into the rected him to follow the former, keep strict watch over his movements and wilderness and nearly perished. Thomas (who came from a G. A. R. report them next morning. All that day, therefore, the cure was under family)-Giutral Lee. - Judge.

The French Miners.

surveillance, his every step was taken note of, and as a consequence when he came before Desmarest the Officers and soldiers of the French next day, the latter knew what he army will henceforward have a numbetter had had been doing rather than he himself did. bered metallic plate fastened on their collars for purposes of identifica-"Unless he is either blind, deaf or tion." A similar scheme is being con dumb he will make a report this time," thought the Chief of Division but udered for the benefit of miners. in realy to the usual question, Perrin

A DESCRIPTION OF A