The Best Kind of Exercise

There is no single exercise which combines so many health giving qualities as riding. It is peculiarly valuable to children, for it is the most certain and gentle developer of the back and stomach muscles and imparts a tone to the entire system that cannot possibly be attained in any other way. Even football, the hardiest of all games, falls short of having the same invigorating in your absence, effect on the boy. If this be true for the boy-and such it is now generally admitted to be-how much more neces-sary is riding to the young girl who has Few boys and girls, and almost as few men and women, think twice of the value of different kinds of exercise to them, or would know much about it if they did think. Any exercise of course, mod erately taken, is better than none, but the exercise which acts upon arms and legs only is of not one-half the value of that which acts on the body, the chest, stomach and back.
