SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN

MIFFLINTOWN.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 15, 1893.

R. F. SCHWEIER,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

NEXT week will be Institute week.

BRUISERS, Corbett and Mitchell will slug each other for a purse o $20,000 on the 25 of January.

A COMPANY with a capital of $10,000 has been organized in Bellefonte to Manufacture stoves.

THE new Dankard church at Roxbury, Cambria county, will be dedicated on Sunday November 26.

THE re-union of the 131st regiment Pa., Vols., will take place at Lewistown on the 13th of December.

THE First National Bank of Selinsgrove has resolved to reduce its capital stock from $1000,000 to $50,000

THE new tariff law that the Cleveland administration is at work on proposes free wool, free coal, free iron ore.

A CRANK woman calling herself Queen Victoria, was at the White House to see President Cleveland one day last week.

THE county commissioners held a convention at Wilkesbarre last week, one hundred and twenty five commissioners were present.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S movement for the reestablishment of a monarchy for Honolulu has been conducted with the secrecy of king craft.

SINCE Cleveland has gone into the business of reinstating deposed kings he might try his hand in placing a king or queen over France and Brazil.

IRREGULARITIES, if not down right theft has been discovered among the management of the Bank of England. The cashier made bad investments and lost several million dollars for the concern.

GOLD is at a premium in Italy, that is what the gold bugs want it to be, and that is what it will be all over the world, and then silver will again be restored to its natural place as a medium of exchange, or as legal tender money.

Wool and cotton should be protected by a tariff nigh enough to give American producers the American market, then the looms and spindles would run and the army of people out of work would find employment and the price of grain would be advanced. But Cleveland and the democracy say no. Down with the tariff.

BACK to old times goes the Cleveland administration for its political inspiration. Mr. Carlisle one of his cabinet officers has resurrected reports that were made by cabinet officers of James Buchanan's administration on the revenue question. Well if Mr. Cleveland succeeds as well in matters of finance of government as did Mr. Buchanan, the United States bonds will go a begging for purchasers at 10 and 12 cents discount. That was the discount of United States paper when James Buchanan was president.

AT 10 o'clock on Friday night the engineers, brakemen, conductors, telegraph operators and firemen of the Lehigh Valley Railroad struck in obedience to the command of their masters, and side tracked all trains and left the offices in which they worked. The country looks on with amazement at 2,000 men who are getting good wages quitting their profitable places at the command of secret society committee-men. The railroad company had no trouble to get men to take the places of the men who left its service. There are enough men out of employment to take the place of every dissatisfied or tired man who now has work on the public works.

THE Republican party raised enough revenue from the tariff to run the government without a single man and women feeling the expenses of government. The times were prosperous during republican rule, but Cleveland is scarcely warm in the white house when it is proposed to change to European rates and ways of doing business and then comes the panic as the result of the proposed change, and every thing drops toward European rates and millions of people are thrown out of employment, and now, in going from bad to worse the administration proposes to make up the loss of revenue by taxing incomes. The people will not submit to having their affairs pryed into by a government spy in times of profound peace, but even if they will allow the Cleveland administration to ransack their business affairs, that will not put a single man to work, it will not restore or revive a single industry. It will only raise up a set of spies on the business of the country that should not be tolerated among freemen in times of profound peace.

THE Cleveland administration emptied the shops and manufacturing establishments of workmen, by proposing to reduce the tariff on foreign goods. The tariff has not been reduced as yet, but the promised reduction has destroyed the business of the country for the time being, and if the Cleveland administration carries out its threat of tariff reduction the business of the country will have to be reorganized with a wage reduction of 20 to 50 per cent. But says the democratic reformers, if wages go to 25 and 50 cents a day, what's the difference if everything else is proportionately low. The best answer to such an argument is to present the state of living of the wage earners of Europe where the wages are low, with the state of living of wage earners in the United States, Americans don't want to bring their country to the level of European ways of living. If you want to bring the people to a state of European living, low wages and low rates for everything, join the democratic party. But if you want to live like an American, join the republican party.

THE New York World, one of the leading organs of the Democratic party, appears to rejoice over the fact that the Republicans carried a majority in both brances of the New York legislature.—The World says:

"With a Republican Legislature this winter we shall at least have no more legislation at the crack of the Democratic bosses' whip. We shall have no more raids upon home rule, like that of Sheehan in Buffalo last year. We shall have no more Hackleberry charters and the like to make spoil for the the machine. We shall have no more of that utter subserviency to the will of a little gang which last year afflicted the State and imperiled the interests of the people."

This is queer admission for a Democratic paper to make, but it is true that there is safety with a Republican legislature in New York as well as in other States.

THERE have been so many assaults of a nameless character committed upon young girls, the past year in different parts of the country, that the Legislature, will, in all probability, be asked to pass a law making such an assault an offense punishable by death. If the Legislature does not enact a law for severe punishment of fiendishly depraved men in that direction, fathers and other relatives of the violated children will throw themselves back on their natural rights and mete out punishment to this wicked men.

Positive Cure For Diphtheria.

A very simple receipe, but has just proven to be a very effective cure. It originated with Dr. Deltzill, who reported his discovery to the French Academy of Medicine, and later was published in the Paris Figaro. He found that the vapors arising from liquid tar and turpentine would dissolve the fibrinous exudations which choke up the throat, and are so prevalent in cases of croup and diphtheria. Dr. Deltzill's method is described thus: He pours equal parts of turpentine and liquid tar into a tin pail and sets fire to the mixture; a dense resinous smoke arises which obscures the atmosphere in the room. "The patient," says Dr. Deltzill, "immediately seems to experience relief; the choking and rattle stop, the patient falls into a pleasant slumber, and seems to inhale the smoke with pleasure. The fibrinous membrane soon becomes detached and the patient coughs up microbicides. These, when caught in a glass may be seen to dissolve in the smoke. In the course of three days afterward the patient entirely recovers."

A Fiend.

Humane Agent J. C. Krider had complaint made to him on Tuesday of last week concerning a man by the name of Corry K. Kunz, of Tyrone township, in Snaking Valley, that he had made a criminal assault on a little step daughter, aged 14 years. Agent Kreider swore out a warrant before Alderman Rose, charging him with criminal rape and on Friday morning last he started for his man and caught him on the mountain and brought him before the alderman, who committed him to jail in default of $1,000 bail for a hearing on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.—Altoona Tribune.

Railway Mail Service.

From the Philadelphia Record.

Next to the killing of engineers, firemen and brakemen, the danger to life from employment in the railway service is perhaps best illustrated by the annual slaughter of clerks on the cars. Assistant Postmaster General Bell in his annual report shows that ten clerks were killed, sixty six seriously injured and one hundred and fifteen slightly injured during the last fiscal year. These casualties were the result of 403 train accidents. We have a big country and a proportionately big railroad mileage, but the risk to life and limb in handling the mails on the cars seems to be unduly great.

Don't Bite

Bloomfield Advocate:—Swindlers are traveling over the country with samples of seed wheat, which, they they show and claim will yield 50 bushels to an acre. They propose that they will furnish the seed and 100 pounds of phosphate per acre, and ask in return one half of the crop This is certainly a bargain for the seed, but it is still better when the signed papers turns out to be a note for two or three hundred dollars.

Women With Pistols.

So many ladies have been attacked recently on the streets of Altoona that the gentler sex have now concluded to protect themselves in first rate Western style. The following is from the Tribune of November 4th: "A lady yesterday sent a handsome little revolver to Mayor Hoyer with the request that he put his name up on it, thus signifying to her mind that she had a right to use it. There was no intimation given as to whom she desires to go ganning for and she will doubtless be very much surprised when she learns that his honor is not disposed to give his permission for her to go into the shooting business.

About Pretty Girls.

A mild by merry war has broken out between the villages of Rockville, Center and Sea Cliff, L. I., brought about by the editor of a newspaper asserting that there were more pretty girls in his town than in any other on the island. The editor in other villages came to the aid of the indignant girls, and finally the war has been narrowed down to the towns named. In these the girls are daily strolling about in their most picturesque and fetching costumes, smiling as prettily as possible, and the gallant editors are "supporting" their respective sides with double leaded editorials. Photographers are kept busy "taking" the village belles. Altogether there is such a state of things going on in the rival villages as the olders inhabitant has no recollection of ever having witnessed.

Large Peach Crop.

J. Mitchell Stover, of Franklin county, shipped about 12,000 bushels of peaches from his Edgemont orchards which yielded him a handsome profit. He netted fifty cents a crate on the peaches shipped to the eastern cities and only the second grade peaches were canned Mr. Stover's canning at Edgemont produced 80,000 2 pound cans. Three other canneries in the neighborhood produced 200,000 cans.

Monkey Language.

A recent despatch from England says:—After unique experience in the wilds of Africa, talking with monkeys Professor Garner, the American scientist, has arrived here on his way home. He claims that he has established beyond a doubt that there is a monkey language, and that it can be learned by man. He brought with him from Africa two Koju Kamba chimpanzees, with which he is able to communicate.

Professor Garner states that he stayed for 101 days in his cage, which he had carried into the heart of a forest 250 miles inland. This cage was a massive affair, that was chained to trees. In it, Professor Garner would lock himself and await the comming of members of the simian family, when, by means of the sounds he had learned from monkeys in America and elsewhere. He had with him a phonograph, with which he kept a record of the sounds made by his visitors. He claims that his visitors. He claims that his visit to Africa was a great success in establishing his theory that the monkey family has a language.

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it, and the replies will be positive in its favor. Simply what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, not tells the story of its merit. One has been cured of indigestion or dyspepsia, another finds its indisputable for sick headache or biliousness, while others report remarkable cures of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, salt rheum, etc.

Hoods Pills are purely vegetable.

Bears Chase Two Boys.

Near Glen Union, fourteen miles above Lock Haven, recently three bears chased two boys home from the school house, which they were leaving. Finding their father away the went to a neighbor's Mr. Farewell's and gave the alarm. At this place was Mr W. Bland Sober and in company with Mr. Harry Farewell started in pursuit of the bears. two of which they found up a tree. Mr. Farewell shot the old bear, which when dressed, weighed 223 pounds. Mr. Bland Sober brought down the other one, which was a cub, weighing when dressed, about 75 pounds. The other cub escaped into a laurel thicket and eluded further search. The animals were captured on the timber lands of Mr. C. K. Sober, of this place.

About the same time a Mr. Fleming killed a bear in the same neighborhood that weighed 270 lbs., and in the same vicinity Mr. Kessler, formerly of Mt. Carmel and a well known hunter, killed three bears.—Lewisburg Coronicle.

Lost Two Subscribers

A veteran editor tells in the Boston Traveler how he lost two of his subscribers:

No. 1, a happy father of twins wrote to inquire the best way to get them safely over their teething, and No. 2, wanted to know how to protect his orchard from the myriads of grass hoppers. The editor framed his answer upon the orthodox lines, but unfortunately transposed their names, with the result that No 1, who was blessed with twins read in reply to his query: "Cover them carefully with straw and set fire to them, and the little pests after jumping about in the flames a few minutes will speedily be settled.". While No. 2, paused with grasshoppers, was told to "Give a little castor oil, and rub their gums gently with a bone ring.

For Throat Troubles

A patron of the Franklin News sends to that paper the following, which he declares to be a sure preventive of diphtheria: Take 2 ounces of pine tar and mix with 1 ounce of turpentine; put in a small pan on the stove and let it heat; inhale the fumes once or twice a week. This will guard against diphtheria, and will cure all throat troubles to loosen up.

IT LOOKED SUSPICIOUS.

Why a Traveling Man Gave Up Playing Poker With Strangers.

"I don't play cards with strangers," said a quiet looking man on the Pullman in response to an invitation from the drummer to join them in a little game of poker. The drummer finished up and was about to say something.

"Hold on," remarked the quiet man, "and I'll explain. Sit down here a minute or two and let me tell you."

The drummer being an obliging person sat down.

"About five years ago," began the quiet man, "I was out in the west country at a wild town, and one night, being fond of cards and a pretty fair player, I asked four or five cowboys at the tavern where I was stopping to play cards with me. I didn't know them, and they didn't know me, but they took it for granted I was all right, and they went to my room, where I had two or three decks of cards. We started the game at a quarter the ante with a $2 limit, and it wasn't long until I was winning nicely; for, as I said before, I was a good player. After some time we took another deck of cards, and as usual I had a good hand.

"My winnings had made my new found acquaintances rather suspicious, but as I was perfectly honest I didn't pay much attention to that. I remember very distinctly I had an ace of diamonds in my hand, and when it came around to show down I knew the pot was mine, but just as I laid down my hand the man opposite me whipped out his revolver and jabbed it into my face, and on the instant out came all the other men's guns, and I was scared almost to death. I couldn't say a word, for I thought my time had come, but nobody shot.

"'Look here!' ejaculated the man who had first pulled his gun, applying several disagreeable epithets in addition, and he took an ace of diamonds out of his hand. This restored my consciousness somewhat, and after waiting until each man had expressed his opinion of me, and the final decision had been reached that I was to give up all I had won and probably be shot later, I got in a word.

"'Gentlemen,' I said, 'appearances are against me, but I am honest. I don't know how that extra ace got in the pack, but if you will look in my valise there you will find a pack exactly like this one lying loose in it, and the cards must have got mixed in there. I'm sure I didn't do it.' One of the men took the cards out of the valise and ran them over, and the ace was missing. That much was in my favor, but it did not restore confidence.

"'Send down stairs,' I said next, 'to the clerk and have him come up. He was playing here this afternoon.'

"Then they sent for the clerk, and he said that he and a party of friends had played with those cards during the afternoon, and further, that they had used two packs to do some tricks with. He also stood land for my honesty, and after an hour or so of terrific strain on me my friends concluded I was all right. Then, to establish good fellowship firmly, I insisted on their taking their money back. They set up the drinks all around, and I left them at last with a solemn vow registered that when I played poker again I must know everybody in the game, and everybody must know me. Don't you think one experience like that is enough for an honest man of quiet temperament to go through?"—Detroit Free Press.

SHARP BEGGARS AND DULL ONES.

Alms Solicitors Who Choose Between the Entrances of a Cafe.

A well patronized restaurant in the neighborhood of the city hall has an entrance on two populous thoroughfares. In front of the one on the north a lean and whining beggar nightly stands with outstretched hand. He makes no audible complaint, but mutters incessantly in a tone that excites the imagination into conjuring up every horror that waits upon excessive poverty. In spite of this he fares badly, for more men come out of this door than enter by it, and as their stomachs are full the thought of hunger in others finds no abiding place within their minds.

At the down town entrance there loiters, when the lounging policeman is not in sight, a beggar of another breed. He is sleek and round, with a fat and shiny face and a merry twinkle in his lazy eyes. More than once the writer caught him collecting a cigar behind his back while he extended the other hand in a beseeching way for alms. His sole prayer is for food, interpolated with fervent protestations that he is starving, and that he never drinks a drop of strong liquor. Many men hurrying into the restaurant with a poignant appetite are touched by his prayers and pause long enough to drop a coin into his hand.

It is clear that the sleek beggar knows that a hungry man is more apt to be touched by the hunger of others than he who is well fed, and so he chooses as his workshop the door at which the patrons of the restaurant enter, leaving the one through which they leave to the stupid fellow whose need, like enough, is as great as his mumbled prayers for charity would indicate.—New York World.
