Troubles About an Estate.

Years ago a man named James A. Campbell, lived in Mifflintown. He went to California, and there accumulated a fortune. When Samuel A. Speed of this town went to California he looked up his relative Campbell. Last summer Campbell died, and Speedy took out letters of administration on his estate and it is said also produced a will that gives the entire estate to Speedy's wife. Campbell had no children and his next of kin are after Speedy for a share of the estate, and he, they say, proposes to give them five thousand dollars, and if they don't take that he threatens to sweep the whole of the estate into his wife's pocket under the provisions of the will.

Breeders Disease.

Jeanette, Pa., January 5.-A young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Boast of Warren township, is dead as the result of a cut in the upper gum, received in a fall. The wound bled so freely that Dr. T. L. A remarkable fact in this connection is that a brother of the deceased died two years ago from the same cause, while two brothers of the boy's mother's also died of death upon receiving a slight cut.

A "Trust" Which is Popular.

There is a great deal of indignation felt against trusts. The Sugar Trust, the English Salt Trust, and other combinations of the kind, are vigorously denounced, and it is a subject of controversy whether there are more trusts in England than in America, and whether protection or free trade fosters them. But there is one form of trust against which no one has anything to say. That is the trust the public reposes in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

After Breakfast.

To Take a Nap.

Last Friday morning between 3 and 4 o'clock, merchant Schott was aroused by a pistol shot on Bridge street, in front of his business place. On investigating the cause of the shot he was informed by William Kanawell, who had been over to Porter's place in Milford township, attending a party, that when he turned into his place just across, and street from Schott's place, he heard a shuffling under Schott's awning. Milt Hoffman was with him and they looked across the street and while they could not distinctly make out the exact position of two men they could see their shadows made by the reflection of clothing merchant Harley's street lamp. The shadows clearly revealed the two men at work trying to pry open the front door. Kanawell opened his window noisily and fired a shot. The two men, he says, ran up Bridge street and turned into the alley at the Register office and soon re-appeared on Bridge street by Charles Meyers house and ran across the bridge to Patterson. Schott speedily came down and called up his brother-in-law, clothing merchant Meyer, and they two went in search of the private watchman, whom they found at home in bed. He said that he had gone home to put a fire in a stove at 3 o'clock, and thought all danger from burglars was over at that hour and had laid down to take a nap.

LITERARY NOTE.

The second edition of the December World's Fair Cosmopolitan brings the total up to the extraordinary figure of 400,000 copies, an unprecedented record for any literary magazine. Four hundred thousand copies - 200 tens - ninety four million pages - enough to fill 200 wagons with 2000 pounds each - in a single line, in close order, this would be a file of wagons more than a mile and a half long. This means not less than 2,000,000 readers, scattered through out every town and village in the United States. The course of the Cosmopolitan for the last twenty months may be compared to that of a rolling snowball; more subscribers mean more money spent in buying the best articles and best illustrations in the world; better articles mean more subscribers, and so the two things are acting and reacting upon each other until it seems probable that the day is not far distant when the magazine publisher will be able to give so excellent an article that it will claim the attention of every intelligent reader in the country.

REBECCA WILKINSON, of Browns valley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, and Indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one box of South American Nervine which does me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy. A few bottles of it has cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." War wanted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Trial bottle 15 cents. Sold by L. Banks & Co., Druggist, Mifflintown, Pa. Feb. 1, 1894.
