HON. GALUSHA A. GROW.

FRANCE proposes to raise her tariff rates.

THE democracy have two candidates in the field for Congressman at large.

KING William and Bismark smoked the pipe of peace last week, and the excitable people in the cities of Germany were almost wild over the event.

THE Democracy have lost the hostility to United States bonds that they manifested years ago. They are now the most ardent advocates of the issue of bonds.

DEMOCRATIC papers have been publishing what is not true about the expression of Governor Beaver on the subject of the cause of the present hard times. Elsewhere in this paper read what the General says.

REV. H. H. PERSHING, a M. E. Minister, in Pittsburg, has been expelled from the church for improper treatment of 14 and 15 year old girls of his church. He should not be left off by an expulsion from the ministry.

THE Mayor of Chicago, has ordered the police of that city to arrest all participants in boxing matches and the sports of that persuasion, will have to take to some honest employment or leave Chicago for some other town where boxing gambling is permitted.

THE Democracy used to denounce the bond coupon clipper, now Cleveland and Carlisle are imploring the country to allow them to issue more bonds to save them from the financial wreck of their own bad legislation. They don't denounce the bond coupon clipper now.

DEMOCRATIC congressman Beltzhoover, of Carlisle, is in favor of a protective tariff. A number of his party want to call the county committee to ask him to resign. Mr. Beltzhoover will likely tell the committee that the people who get along best are those who attend to their own business.

THE opposition to the issue of new bonds, is growing stronger in the Democratic house hold every day, and now, worse than all the House Committee on the judiciary bring a resolution into Congress denying the right of Secretary Carlisle to issue bonds that have not been authorized by Congress.

CONGRESSMAN Sibley, of the Crawford county district, has given offence to the store box politicians of the democracy in his district by declaring in favor of a protective tariff. The county committee asked him to resign, and he did not have the courage to tell the county committee just what should have been told them, but he resigned. Possibly he was disgusted with democratic politics and wanted out.

CONGRESSMAN Sibley has resigned because the democratic county, committee, of Crawford county ask him to resign, because he is not in favor of the Wilson Tariff bill. Sibley resigned, and the district after all that will elect a republican. But the cheek of that county committee in asking a man elected by the people to resign, is harder than the cheek of a brazen image. The duties of a county committee are simply executive and do not extend to the expression of preference between candidates or to the power or dictation as to what an office holder elected by the people shall do. There is one good thing that the superlative cheek of the Democratic county committe of Sibley's county has done, it will result in the election of a Republican to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Sibley.

A DEMOCRATIC congressman named Thompson a steel rail manufacturer, cheered the hearts of free traders by making a free trade speech. The free traders said now we have the argument that will tell, coming from an iron manufacturer, but lo and be hold when Thompson is looked into it is learned that he has a complete monopoly of the iron that he makes into rails. His rails are protected by patents and no man dare make anything in the rail line like them. That's enough from Thompson on that point, but then Mr. Thompson in a debate in Congress expressed himself not only in favor of free trade but he declared it to be his purpose to go into other parts of the world and employ the cheapest labor that he can get to run his mills. He is just the kind of a man after the heart of the leaders of the Democracy. He wants free trade, because it cannot effect him but will make his business better, because his iron is protected by patents and cannot be reached by the competition of other men. He is in favor of going to Europe to import work men from there because he can get them to work for less wages than Americans have been used to getting. No one can compete with him in the iron rail business because he is protected by patents, but he proposes to compete and brake down others by importing cheap foreign workmen.

A Piece For Boys.

1. Save a part of your weekly earnings, even it be no more than a quarter of a dollar; and put your savings monthly into a savings' bank.

2. Buy nothing until you can pay for it, and buy nothing you do not need.

A young man who has grit enough to follow these rules will have taken the first step upward to success in business. He may be compelled to wear a coat a year longer, even if it be unfashionable; he may have to live in a smaller house than some of his acquaintances; his wife may not sparkle with diamonds nor be resplendent in silk and satin, just yet; his children may not be dressed as dolls or popinjays; his table may be plain and wholesome, and the whiz of the beer or champagne cork may never be heard in his dwelling; he may have to get along without the earliest fruit or vegetables; he may have to abjure the club-room, the theate , and the gambling-hell, and to reverence the Sabbath day, and follow the precepts of the Bible instead; but he will be better off in every way for this self-discipline. Yes, he may do all these without detriment to his manhood or health or character. True, empty-headed folk may sneer at him and affect to pity him, but he will find that he has grown stronger-hearted and brave enough to stand the laugh of the foolish. He has become an independent man. He never owes anybody, and so he is no man's slave. He has become master of himself will become a leader among men, and prosperity will crown his every enterprise. Young man, life's discipline and life's success come from hard work and earnier self denial; and hard earned success is all the sweeter at the time when old years climb upon your shoulder and you need propping up.—Mid Continent.

A Piece For Girls.

Right to the point is the following readable little article from the New York Sun:—We all know the girl who writes, "I want to come to the city and earn my living; what chance have I?" She writes us from Timbuctoo and from the country town where we used to live ourselves. She can do "most anything, you know," to earn money, from painting a plaque to writing editorials on the eccentricities of the tariff; and the town she was born and brought up in, where every one calls her by first name and likes her, where she has a sunny little room all to herself and a new gown whenever she cries for it, won't hold her any longer. Now here is an answer to that girl that a woman wrote who knew what she was talking about. This letter should be printed, framed and hung in every country schoolhouse, every village seminary, every small city high school. The woman's name is Martha Dverts Holden, and the ambitious girl of whom she writes had written to her:

"I felt like posting an immediate answer and saying, Stay where you are. I didn't do it, though, for I knew it would be useless. The girl is bound to come, and come she will. And she will drift into a third-rate boarding house, than which if there is anything meaner—let us pray. And if she is pretty she will have to carry herself like snow on high hills to avoid contamination. If she is confiding and innocent, the fate of that highly-persecuted heroine of old fashioned romance, Clarissa Harlowe, is before her. If she is homely the doors of opportunity are firmly closed against her. If she is smart, she will perhaps succeed in earning enough money to pay her board bill and have sufficient left over to indulge in the maddening extravagance of an occasional paper of pins or a ball of tape. What if, after hard labor and repeated failure, she does secure something like success? No sooner will she do so than up will step some dapper youth who will beckon her over the border into the land where troub'es just begin. She won't know how to sew or bake or make good coffee, for such arts are liable to be overlooked when a girl makes a career for herself; and so love will gallop away over the hills like a riderless steed and happiness will flare like a light in a windy night.

"Oh, no, my little country maid, stay where you are if you have a home and friends. Be content with fishing for trout in the brook rather than cruising a stormy sea for whales. A great city is a cruel place for young lives. It takes them as the cider press takes juicy apples, sun-kissed and flavored with the breath of the hills and crushes them into pulp. There is a spoonful of juice in each apple, but cider is cheap. The girl of whose success you read is in nine cases out of ten the girl with a friend at court who gives her the opportunity to show what she can do. Without such a friend the path of the lone girl in a great city is a briery uphill track."

Last Saturday evening when the sun was sinking behind the Western horizon, and when night was drawing its black curtains over the valleys, when all nature seemed to go too its sweet repose, death, entered the quiet home of Grant and Grace Vanormer, and took from there the wife and beloved mother of the household. Death, Oh where is thy sting. It comes to the King on his throne, to the Minister in the Pulpit, and to the prisoner in his cell. It matters not where it enters it causes some hearts to be filled with sorrow.

This departed daughter, mother, wife and sister, leaves many friends that mourn her loss.

We mourn her loss as a faithful member of our Sunday School, but we hope she has joined as a member of the redeemed. After a short exhortation by Rev. J. Landis, from the Thess. 4, 13. But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. She was consined to her last resting place in the Presbyterian cemetery near McAlisterville there to wait to give her final account before God on the great judgement day. With sad hearts we offer our tributs of love and esteem, for our departed friend whom it has pleased the Father to call into the glorious company of the redeemed. "Where faith is lost in sight and hope in glad fruition." Where our prayers and alms are treasured as our memorial, where there is fulness of joy forever. There fore be it resolved: That we as members of the Goodville Sunday School, express our sense of loss in her death, while confident that our loss is her eternal gain.

That in this affliction we bow in humble recognition, of the unerring will of God, whose ways are always right, and whose grace is adequate to all the needs of our changing lot.

That we hereby testify to our high appreciation of her affectionateness as a wife, to her fidelity as a mother and to her heartfelt sympathy she showed amongst all.

That our heart felt sympathies be tendered to the husband, parents and sisters, who tenderly and faithfully ministered to her in her last illness, and would point them to him who has said, "I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee."

That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the berieved husband and family, and that they be published in the county papers.

Blaine's Handy Manual of Useful Information.

There has just been published in Chicago a most valuable book with the above title, compiled by Prof. Wm. H. Blaine, of Lancaster University. Its 500 pages are full of just what its name implies—useful information—and we fully advise all our readers to send for a copy of it. It is a compendium of things worth knowing, things difficult to remember, and tables of reference of great value to everybody, that it has never before been our good fortune to possess in such compact shape. Our wonder is how it can be published at so low a price as is asked for it. It is handsomely bound in flexible cloth covers, and will be sent to any address, postpaid, on receipt of 25 cents in postage stamps, by the publishers.

Ten-Day Excursion Tickets to Washington, D. C., at Greatly Reduced Rates.

The success attending low-rate excursions to the National Capital in the past prompts the Pennsylvania Railroad Company again to place similiar tickets on sale this winter and spring These will be good for ten days, and on the special train, or on any regular train except the Limited, leaving Pittsburg on the dates selected, which are January 25th, February 21st, March 22d, and April 19th. The tickets will be good for return passage for ten days, and stop-over at Baltimore in either direction will be permitted within the limit.

The rates on these trips place them within the means of all, and, considering the divers attractions of Washington and the educational benefits to be derived from a visit to its institutions, it would be difficult to imagine a better way in which to spend a few days.

The following rates will apply from the various points quoted, and the special train will be run on the following schedule:—

Beaver and Business Depression.

Governor Beaver has been misgusted by the Democratic press, as having said, the depression of business would have come, no matter who the people elected President. Congressman Mahon of this district sent a despatch to the governor in to the report and this is the reply that the Governor sent to Mahon.

"BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 19th, 1894.

"Hon. Thad. M. Mahon.

"MY DEAR SIR:—Your telegram of this date just received. I have never said anywhere to any person: 'I have no doubt that if Harrison had been re-elected the business depression would have come anyway and the protection system was the greatest curse ever inflicted on a free people.

On the contrary I believe, as I have always believed, and say as I have always said, that the protection system is the only one which will enable this country to maintain its own industrial independence, its dignity and its prosperity. It is essential to the individual prosperity, to the wage earner and payer alike, and any serious interference with that system, as it has been in force for over thirty years must necessarily involve the country and all classes of our citizens in the distress and depression which now hang over us like a pall.

"Very cordially yours,
JAMES A, BEAVER.
