DAY SERMON.

Thus a little change in our English translation brings out the better meaning of the text, which sets forth that the character of the face is decided by the character of the sace is decided by the character of the saut. The main features of our countenance were decided by the kimicate, and we can not change them, but under God we decide whether we shall have countenances between the counterpart of the same state. soul. The main features of our countenance were decided by the Abrilghtte, and we cannot change them, but under Got we decide whether we shall have countenances benignant or balakit, sour or sweet, wrathful or genral, benevolent or mean, honest or secundrelly, impulent or mean, honest or secundrelly, impulent or mean, courageous or cowardly, frink or sneaking. In all the works of Got there is nothing more wonderful than the human countenance. Those countenances in less than its less than sight inches from the lagir line of the foreless I to the botton of the clim and the brockets face is less than eight inches from cheek hone to cheek hone, yet in that small compass Got has wrought such differences that the 1600, only of the human race may be distinguished from each other by their facility appearance.
