The wheat harvest has been gathered in the western wheat belt. The crop is reported not large.

The North American says: Arbitration with criminals would be an insult to American jurisdiction.

A new grass eating worm about an inch long resembling a cabbage worm with a stripe down the side has appeared in Wisconsin.

FRANK G. CARPENTER, writing for the Philadelphia Times from China, says: "Every trade from the bazaar to the banker has its trade union in China."

Few of the Church Papers commented on the fact that President Carnot of France was fatally stabbed on Sunday while on his way to a theater.

ILLINOIS is now suffering from the election of a small man to the high place of Governor. A number of other States are suffering from the same thing of putting low grade men into high places.

The trades unions are a curse to the men who belong to them, and a menace to free government. For further particulars read the proceedings of the riots of 1877, the Homestead and Chicago, and California riots.

A society in Brooklyn has been organized against women kissing each other on account of bacteria. There is nothing said about the women kissing the men. An exchange therefore infers that men are not afflicted with bacteria.

Last Wednesday, July 12, 1894, Mary McDonald a colored woman, and John Gibson, a colored man, inmates of the Home for the aged and infirm colored persons at Belmont and Girard avenues, Philadelphia, celebrated their respective birth days. The woman on that day was 128 years old, and the man on that day was 120 years old.

The agricultural bureau estimates the wheat crop this year to be 387,257,000 bushels which is between 5 and 6 bushels for each inhabitant in the United States, counting the number of inhabitants at 65,000,000. If government is nearly correct in its estimate of the number of bushels which will soon rise higher in price.

Tax Inter-State Commerce Commission in its investigation of railroad statistics, states the railroad capitalization amounts to 10 billion 500 million dollars on which less than one per cent. dividends are paid, and out of every dollar that the railroads earn by travel and freight and stock transportation, 75 cents are paid to the railroad employees; 24 and a fraction per cent. goes for repairs, and less than one per cent. to the stock and bond holders.

When the government comes to institute an investigation into the ways and management of corporations and trade unions, in their intercourse with each other, and their effect on the public, and upon society generally, and upon individuals who do not belong to trusts, corporations or trade unions, but who sometimes come in touch with some of the mentioned organizations, then government should see to it that the work of the unions are closely looked into in their secret work in the departments of government at Washington.

There is a wind gap crack in the United States from Kansas, named Peffer. Mr. Peffer is one of the unbalanced men that here and there are launched into prominent and responsible positions. Such men whenever public troubles come are certain to get on the wrong side. So then it was not unexpected when Mr. Peffer dropped in with the Debs in surrenditions. He delivered himself of a speech in the United States Senate against everyone, except Peffer and Debs, and Peffer and Debs method. Of course Peffer could not deliver a speech of any length without contradicting his own declarations, which he did quite lively. He denounced government for interfering with the Debs movement and then proposed to enlarge the powers of the government by placing all railroads, &c., under the direct control of the government. He proposed to abolish Congress entirely and to have a sort of a one man government in each State. Possibly something after the Debs form of government would all the members are such slaves that every man of them must stop employment whether they are on the verge of starvation or whether they are plentifully supplied with the necessities of life and comfort. The Peffer government in embryo was not as clearly defined in his speech as crystal, but some idea as to what it may be when Peffer gets it started, may be gathered from the ideals that he set up. His ideals were the drunken Debs, and Coxe the leader of tramps. Kansas people merit a different kind of a man for United States Senator.

Judge Brubaker Called to Book.

Judge Brubaker of Lancaster City turned reformer to such a degree that he became a law unto himself in his treatment of the work of court and county officials. His work was appealed to the Supreme Court, and that body called the learned Judge to book in the Franklin case. The opinion as handed down by Judge Mitchell closes as follows:

"It is not intended in this opinion to say that a Judge may not of his own motion initiate an investigation for the correction of evils in the administration of justice. He is the responsible head of his Court, and if he has reason to suspect wrongs or irregularities it is not only his right, but his imperative duty to see to their correction. But he should proceed in an orderly and judicial manner, such as calling the attention of the Grand Jury to the matter, directing the District Attorney to investigate."

A Judge never serves either law or justice by proceeding carelessly, or forgetting that a court is a justice is judicially administered. Actual justice may be done and sometimes effectively, by the summary action of a vigilance committee or a mob of lynchers, but it is not done judicially, and the dangers are such as no civilized community can afford to tolerate. Deliberate and orderly proceedings, including as a foremost requisite a full and impartial hearing before judgment, are the inviolable safeguards of public justice as well as of individual liberty.

"With the best intentions, no doubt, and under the belief that the situation required extraordinary action, the learned Judge nevertheless adopted a method which cannot be sanctioned. The whole proceeding was non-judicial, void in form and in substance, and it is ordered to be struck off the record."

The Anarchists.

The anarchists in Chicago had in duence enough with James R. Soyreign, General Master Workman of a large secret order to induce him to order a strike of the men over whom he cracks the whip as a despotic boss. He bombastically declared that a hundred thousand men would obey his order and step down and out, but before his order was issued Debs the hour of order was struck and the proclamation of the President to stand about in the streets. They all talked about having President Cleveland arrested for disregarding the United States coinage law, for having stopped the coinage of certain kinds of silver coin. They also talked about the impeachment of United States Attorney General Olney for interfering with the strike work. They also talked about bringing a suit against the General Railroad Managers for having conspired to violate United States laws. This talk was to break the withering effect or influence of the arrest of Debs and a fellow lot insurrectionists.

The anarchists were gotten well in under the act of 1888 to investigate the troubles at Chicago and elsewhere, and to report to the President and Congress. The act under which the President will appoint the commission was passed October 1, 1888.

A strike sympathy meeting was held in Cooper Union, New York. Henry George was the speaker. He announced the President for the use of Federal troops and highly praised Altgelt and Stone.

Seventeen hundred more sympathy strikers quit work in Chicago. They were butchers, bakers, machinists and iron workers.

The strike so affected business in Chicago, that 10,000 men were discharged, brick-layers, teamsters, boot-makers, &c.

Labor union officers visited President Cleveland to visit Chicago and meet the officers in conference over the situation.

The government offered $2000 reward for testimony that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the party that was concerned in wrecking the train near Sacramento that contained the regular army troops.

Between 7000 and 7500 head cattle were unloaded in Chicago this day, the 12th of July, 1890 of the number coming from Texas. This is scarcely more than half of the supply usually seen Thursdays, but it was a larger number than the dens had held. Prices were lower: not because of any over supply, but by reason of anticipated heavy receipts and the sharp decline within the last two

Down, down, go the democratic prices, and the people of Juniata County, feel the pressure of low prices, but Juniata county is a paradise when compared with many of the manufacturing centers where the works have been closed by the threatened low democratic tariff. There are in such towns and cities, thousands of people who are out of employment, and of everything excepting life itself which is made miserable by the want of food and clothing. How gladly they would take work if it was to be had.
