

F. SCHWEIER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

PHILADELPHIA has appointed as set apart the 29th day of November as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer.

Arriving twenty years of trying to get along without hanging had people, Switzerland has re-enacted the hanging law.

On the 1st of November the Pennsylvania Railroad Company declared a semi-annual dividend of 2 1/2 per cent in cash, making 5 per cent for the year.

"The holding up" of railroad trains and the robbing of the express cars and passengers has become so frequent that the people are becoming uneasy about traveling in passenger cars at night. Just what the remedy will be for the outrages is not in sight, but the remedy will come by and by. The Americans will settle the train robbery question in time.

If the Legislature of Pennsylvania or the Legislature of any of the States of the United States should pass a compulsory religious law to give the power of the State to a board of elders or deacons of any particular denomination to enter the family and take the children from the control of parents for religious and moral instruction, the people would take arms to prevent the despotic interference with their individual and family rights, and yet we sit quietly, while men are urging the enactment of compulsory education laws.

Compulsory education enactments in time will prove themselves despotic as compulsory religious laws, have been and the reason people in highly civilized countries, will not permit the enactment of compulsory religious laws is this, the world has experienced what a despotism compulsory religion leads to. Compulsory education will lead to the same despotism.

MECHANICAL inventions have changed every phase of American life in the past 35 years, and the changed condition has produced a general inquiry of "what's the matter?" with the modern world in the past 50 years.

The farms used to be such a little government, producing almost everything that was required for the maintenance of the farmer's family and their work people. It is different now. The farmers no longer get their fuel from the farms; they no longer raise flax and wool and spin it, and have it woven in goods by the home weaver, and make articles by the home tanner, they no longer have the hides of their cattle tanned by the home tanner, and made into shoes by the home shoemaker; they no longer furnish their own light from tallow and lard raised on the farms. These changes have come so gradually, that the most of us have not noticed them, we were asking "what's the matter?" when we caught on to the fact, that the conditions have changed, and the farmer of to-day is not the farmer of 50 years ago. Now he buys his fuel, his clothes, his shoes, his sugar and molasses which he used to get from maple trees and hives of bees. He used to haul his goods to market. Now he ships it by rail, and all these things take away the resources of his farm, and add a penny to the income of the property. Greater changes are yet to come. As people multiply in numbers, landed estates and cattle ranges will decrease in size till they will be shrunken to such diminutive proportions that cattle, hogs and sheep and horses, can no longer be raised in great numbers, and then the American people will cease to be a meat eating nation. That day will be in the distant future, but it is coming. When that condition of affairs arrives, the people who live in it will look back to these times and wonder, as we now do over the past.

The Fear of Death. Familiarity with death is apt to elate one's earlier years. Two ideas are very generally accepted which experience shows to be false. One is that the dying usually fear death; and the other, that the act of dying is accompanied by pain. It is well known by all physicians that when death is near its terrors do not seem to be felt by the patient. Unless the imagination is stimulated by the frightful portrayal of the "pangs of death," or of the sufferings which some believe the soul must endure after dissolution, it is rare indeed that the last days or hours of life are passed in dread. Oliver Wendell Holmes has recorded his protest against the custom of telling a person who does not actually know that he cannot recover. As that trying observation that people almost always come to understand that recovery is impossible, it is rarely needful to tell any one that this is the case.

When nature gives the warning, death appears to be a little feared as sleep. Most sick persons are very, very tired, sleep long, quiet sleep is what they desire. I have seen many people die. I have never seen one who seemed to fear death, except when it was, or seemed to be, rather far away. Even those who are constantly haunted, while strong and well, with a dread of the end of life, forget their fear when that end is at hand. As for the act of dying—the final passage from life to death—it is absolutely without evidence that the oft-repeated assertions of its painfulness are made. Most people are unconscious for some hours before they die; and in the rare cases where consciousness is retained, it is only for a few minutes before the end, the last sensation must be of perfect calm and rest. It is worse to be conscious to the natural dread of death which the mother-in-law is usually regarded as dispatch from Murphy, that State to the New York World says: "Last spring Stephen Miller's wife died, leaving him with several small children. To day he married his mother-in-law."

JUNIATA COUNTY ELECTION RETURNS, November 6th, 1894.

Table with columns for Governor, L. Gov., A. Gen. I., S. In. A., Congress at Large, Congress, Assembly, Reg. & Rec., Sheriff, Jury Comr., and various districts. Lists candidates and their respective vote counts.

REBUKED.

The election on Tuesday was a rebuke to the Cleveland administration for its efforts to pull down the business level of this country to the business level of the old world.

Pennsylvania rolls up a plurality of over 250,000 for Hastings, and New York gives Morton 150,000 over Hill. The Republican sweep in New York is over 50,000.

It is a complete victory of protection over free trade. The Democratic Congress will go out of power next March. Wilson the intellectual champion of free trade in the house has been defeated. If the defeated party in Congress will stop their work at tariff tinkering, the business of the country will pick itself together by the time the republican congress gets to work, then the people can complete the job of restoration to prosperity by the election of a republican president. Every one will be the gainer directly or indirectly by the rebuke that was administered to the Cleveland administration on Tuesday.

The Hasting vote in Juniata was in proportion to the rebuke that ragged every other place. The Mahon, Wills and Wilson vote show how determinedly the people of the county were determined to break away from the lead of democracy, and while the republicans mourn over the defeat of Groninger, they were consoled local influences at work against him that led him out of the reach of the rush to merited victory.

In Juniata county, Hastings majority over Singery is 258 votes. Lyons' majority over Billing is 150 votes. Mylin's majority over Magee is 184. Litta's majority over Greenland is 192.

Grow's majority over Myer's is 198. Huff's majority over Collins is 215. Mahon's majority over Smith is 211. Wilson's majority over Sartain is 144. Wills' majority over Jenkin's is 144. Calhoun's majority over Groninger is 30.

Ahman, People's candidate for Governor had 146 votes in the county. Erdman of the Berks District is the only Democratic congressman elected in Pennsylvania.

It will take a week to gather the particulars of the great victory that has defeated the free traders from ocean to ocean. There is not the faintest sound of crow from the democratic rooster.

Idiotic Foot Ball Player. A party of Huntingdon football players returning from a game at Philipsburg on Thursday evening's train, became so frisky and one of their number poked a passenger's head through the pane of one of the train windows. In behalf of the P. R. R. company, which doesn't tolerate that species of mischief on arriving at Tyrone station Conductor Wm. Halligan made information against the glass-breaker and officer Van Scoyoc took the offender before Justice W. F. Taylor, who would not hold him because the offence had been committed in Centre county. On regaining his liberty, and just outside the square's office the foot ball side delivered an exultant whoop which savored so strongly of drunkenness and disorderly conduct that Chief Snyder grabbed him on the spot and conducted him to the cooler. Later Burgess Howe charged the young man $3 for his undignified exhibition of himself. The P. R. R. Company will push the case against the glass breaker in Centre county. — Tyrone Herald.

Married His Mother-in-Law. Is there something in the salubrious climate of North Carolina calculated to destroy the time honored terror with which the mother-in-law is usually regarded? A dispatch from Murphy, that State to the New York World says: "Last spring Stephen Miller's wife died, leaving him with several small children. To day he married his mother-in-law."

Work of the Cannery.

The Juniata Valley Canning Company of this place have just closed one of their busiest seasons. Program for C. E. Rally.

At a regular meeting of Committee held in the Lutheran parsonage, Milltown, Saturday, October 29th, it was decided to hold the Christian Endeavor Rally on Friday evening, November 16th. Exercises will begin promptly at 7 P. M. The following program has been made: D. Salvey. Invocation, Rev. J. C. Reighard. Music, No. 149, C. E. edition Gospel hymns. Song and Praise Service, led by J. Frank Castles. Hymn No. 224. Responses to address of Welcome, Rev. R. M. Campbell. Report of County Delegate from State Convention at York. Consecration Service—Conducted by County President J. H. Deen. We are aiming to make a veritable York echo, and hope every Christian Endeavorer and all who are interested in young people's societies will be present.

There will be a special train run on the T. V. R. R. to meet the 6:45 P. M. train at Port Royal. Also a special is being arranged for, to leave Millin at 10 P. M., after the rally is over. The rate on the T. V. R. R. will be, fare one way for round trip. Every passenger will be welcome. Rev. J. C. Reighard, Pres. R. H. C. Holloway, D. D., ANNIE M. GILSON, Dis. & Cor. Sec., Committee.

FAMILY REUNION.

"The third reunion of the family of Jacob Hertzler, deceased, was held at the residence of Edward S. Heikes in Milltown township, Juniata county, Pa., on October 27, 1894, that date being the 79th birthday of Mrs. Christiana Heikes, widow of Jacob Hertzler. All the family were present as follows: Henry Hertzler, Burt Cabins, Fulton county; Wm. Hertzler of McVeytown, Pa.; Samuel H. Hertzler, Buffalo, N. Y.; Sarah J. Stubbs, Mapleton, Pa.; A. J. Hertzler, Philadelphia, Pa.; Daniel Hertzler, Huntingdon, Pa.; Stewart Hertzler and wife, Huntingdon, Pa., and Miss Elizabeth Heikes, the wife of Edward Heikes at whose house the reunion was held. The invited guests were John Hertzler, Sr. of Port Royal, Pa., the only surviving brother of the late Jacob Hertzler, Mrs. Elizabeth Aughey, sister of Mrs. Christiana Heikes; Simon Aughey and wife; Samuel Hertzler of Harrisburg, Pa., and Miss Viola Mayer of Walnut, Juniata county, Pa. A sumptuous repast was prepared by the hostess and enjoyed by all, and the occasion was one to be remembered as one of great enjoyment.

public that he has opened a Dental Office at Oakland Mills, Pa., where he can be found at all times. Teeth extracted painlessly. All work guaranteed.

MARK TWAIN'S New Book

MARK TWAIN'S most popular and successful books have been sold by subscription and the American Publishing Company of Hartford, Conn., announce for early publication, his new book "The Tragedy of Pudd'nhead Wilson and the Comedy Those Extraordinary Twins." The Tragedy and Comedy were first a dual story—two stories in one—and the author's account, as given in the preface, of the difficulty he had in writing the book, of the incompatibility of some of the characters and of his having to finally separate them by pulling one of the stories out by the roots and leaving the other—a kind of literary Cæsarean operation, is certainly one of the most original, briefest and clearest chapters in the history of the book's work, it is sure to have a large sale. Each page will be beautifully illustrated with marginal sketches, the work of one of our best artists, and the publishers have wisely decided to sell the volume at a popular price—bringing it within the reach of all.

J. W. Keeler & Co. of Philadelphia, Pa., have the exclusive right of sale in the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, and their advertisement for agents appears in another column. All applications for agencies in their field should be sent direct to them.

Harriet E. Hall of Waynetown, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the great South American Nerve. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous prostration and a general debilitated condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. The first bottle of the Nerve Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I cannot recommend it to highly." Sold by L. Banks & Co., Drugists, Milltown, Pa., Feb. 9 '93, 1y.

Stone Coal Found.

The Millington Union County Telegraph of November 22, says: "While Mr. William Hixon was hunting golden rod tea along the mountain, he being thrifty lay down to drink at a small stream near what is known as the Little Spring, just north of where the Buffalo Mills used to stand. While in that position he noticed some black substance in the base of the stream and on examination, he found it to be soft coal, but thinking they might have been dropped there, he removed some leaves and rock farther away, and, to his astonishment, found still more, some adhering to slate as found in the western counties. This coal has been tried and was found to burn as good as the best. This outcrop of coal is on Mr. John Hildebrand's timber tract.

Have you tried South American Nerve—the gem of the century?

Muscular Rheumatism

Sciatics and the Piles Adds to the Sufferer's Misery. Four Bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla Effects a Wonderful Cure. C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. "Gentlemen: As a result of the memorable blizzard of March, 1888, I contracted muscular rheumatism, at that time I was engaged on a job of stentworking in Plainfield, N. J., and it was necessary for me to walk through the snow to the building, a new residence, in which we were working. For sixteen months afterwards I was laid up with muscular rheumatism and sciatics. I then joined my son-in-law in Denver, Col., where I was engaged in steam-fitting and engineering, and where I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for my rheumatism. It cured me not only of the rheumatism and sciatics, but also of various piles, from which I suffered three years. It cured me not only of the rheumatism and sciatics, but also of various piles, from which I suffered three years. I had suffered for many years with sciatics, and it was necessary for me to walk through the snow to the building, a new residence, in which we were working. For sixteen months afterwards I was laid up with muscular rheumatism and sciatics. I then joined my son-in-law in Denver, Col., where I was engaged in steam-fitting and engineering, and where I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for my rheumatism.
