

The war between China and Japan is over.

Russia does not approve of the territorial demands of Japan on China.

Milk is frozen in Norway and shipped in that state to London, England.

The Legislature took a trip to Philadelphia, on the 10th, to witness the launch of the St. Paul.

The Secretary of Agriculture is engaged in an inquiry into the recent increase in the price of meats.

Cattlemen of the west say, higher prices for cattle always follow a poor corn crop, such as was had last year.

A western hay grower declares that a bushel of wheat should increase the weight of a hog 12 to 15 pounds.

In order to save one hundred and fifty thousand dollars this year there will be no encampment of the National Guards in Pennsylvania.

The English are civilizing Africa, the natives are quitting cannibalism—eating people—and are taking to drinking English whiskey and getting drunk.

The gold bugs are trying to influence President Cleveland to turn in and help them keep the democracy in the respective state conventions to be held, from declaring in favor of the free coinage of silver.

The civil war that the leaders of the Democracy inaugurated, cost the country $2,500,000,000, and the late free trade scare and panic that the leaders of the Democracy started, cost the country $7,500,000,000.

England, France and Germany are all snapping at each other over the division of Africa. There is no power in Africa strong enough to take care of itself, and the three powers above named are engaged in a dangerous quarrel over the division of the country.

The Methodist preacher who charged President Cleveland with getting drunk, made a retraction, and it is what the President said about the retraction. "While his so-called retraction is an aggravation of his original offense, I am willing that his further punishment should be left to his conscience and the contempt of his neighbors and the American people."

CHARLES EMORY SMITH, of the Philadelphia Press and Mrs. Hastings, wife of Governor Hastings, and Mrs. Hartranft, wife of Governor Hartranft, deceased, visited the General Assembly at Harrisburg, last Thursday. When their presence became known, a recess of 20 minutes was taken, in which time the members shook hands with the ladies and with Mr. Smith.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND was invited to Chicago by business men to make an address on the Gold Question. He could not accept the invitation, but sent a letter that cheered the financial heart of the gold bugs. He will favor free coinage of silver whenever England and Germany agree to the reinstatement of silver to the rights of coinage, that gold has in the mints of the country.

CHARLES EMORY SMITH of the Philadelphia Press, was last week invited to make a speech against silver before the Legislature. He is a pleasant and able speaker and did well for the gold bug cause. The big boy with him is the fact, that European nations have turned silver down as bond redeeming money, and for that reason he is against giving silver the same rights as gold in the mints and in the redemption of paper money. He is of the opinion that if this government adopts free coinage all the silver within sight—$4,000,000,000—will be dumped into this country, and all the people in foreign countries to whom the United States owes gold bonds will rush here to have their bonds paid, and that will create such a demand for gold that it will be drained out of the country, and gold will be at a premium, and we will be silver money people.

He did not say, but he might have said that if his opinion is correct, it conclusively proves that there is not gold enough among the nations of the world to safely base the bonded indebtedness of nations and corporations on.

He has a remedy to make the redemption of the securities all in gold, and that remedy is the same remedy that Mr. Cleveland has been applying.

That remedy is to purchase five hundred million of gold for redeeming purposes, but the failure of the remedy is not mentioned by Mr. Smith, and it is the same failure that Mr. Cleveland makes. It settles nothing, and the only thing it does, is to create five hundred million more debts. If there is not gold enough now to redeem maturing obligations, where are the additional five hundred million dollars gold to come from to redeem the new debt. Mr. Smith's speech is a good one, but it is an explanation that doesn't explain.

Restored Speech and Hearing.

The Sunbury Daily, in a recent issue, relates a wonderful case of the restoration of speech and hearing as follows:

S. R. Conrad of East Sunbury, has regained his sense of speech and hearing. The restoration took place Wednesday night. Many friends of Mr. Conrad were very much surprised Thursday when he talked to them.

On the ninth of November, 1894, Mr. Conrad was stricken with paralysis. His entire left side was affected. His condition was very serious and for several weeks he hovered between life and death. He slowly recovered and gradually regained the use of his left side. He was unable to talk or hear.

About ten days ago Mr. Conrad was able to hear the whistling of a locomotive. His sense of hearing became stronger daily. The sense of speech was restored to him while at his home at East Sunbury.

Dr. Stoner says that the effusion of the brain has all been absorbed and the depression on the convolution of hearing and speech has been relieved. This is the cause of the restoration. Medical men are very much interested in the case and Dr. Stoner is receiving many congratulations on the recovery of his patient.

dangerous errors into which courts may fall.

While it is not necessary to deny the exercise of a certain occult influence by some persons over others, it does not follow that any person can be rendered irresponsible in law or morals by the alleged suggestions of any other person.

To admit such a plea in bar of judgment after crime is proved is to return to the insane policy of the courts of old and of New England during the witchcraft period.

Crude as were the times then, the hanging and burning of persons as witches was a disgrace to the average common sense of mankind, and inflicted an indelible stain upon the theology and jurisprudence of the age.

No man of sense then witnessed, and no man of decent intelligence now contemplates, the course of the church and civil authorities of that period without speechless shame and utter contempt. It was the slaughter of the innocent in about every case.

It was a brewing of the hands of justice in judicial murder. Whatever hypnotism may be at least the doctrine of courts must be held responsible as principals or accessories, and the acquittal of McDonald was a crime now approved by the Supreme Court.

Of course the alleged hypnotizer will not be executed. The highest court in the land must halt such perversions of justice and rebuke the dense ignorance that gave such verdict to normal things.

It is most probable that instead of injustice would be inaugurated such a reign of terror as existed in France a hundred years ago. It would put every good citizen at the mercy of the criminal classes. North American.

TOO MANY WIVES.

Louisville, Ky., April 11.—Frederick Weimer, a well-to-do farmer from Woodford county, near Versailles, came to this city a few days ago to attend a sale of seventeen hogsheads of tobacco he had shipped here.

When he arrived here he had about him $700 in cash, and Monday sold his tobacco, which netted him about the same amount. Then he went to a saloon on Fifth street and began drinking freely.

While in a jolly mood he said he was afraid to go to his home with so much money about him and remained at the saloon all night. He told those in the saloon about losing his wife lately, and said he was very lonesome, saying he would give $50 for a wife.

Two hackmen, William Hepler and Martin Crane, have lately been disputing the affections of one Effie Gannon, a domestic employed by a family at Third and Broadway.

The girl who claims to be his wife and five her to Weimer for the $50. The girl upon being seen consented to the marriage, and they were taken to Jeffersonville and married. Weimer giving each of the hackmen $25.

Weimer and his bride missed the train for Versailles that night and employed the two hackmen to take them to their destination.

This morning Weimer's body was found near Versailles. Fool play is working on the case.

A special to the Times from Versailles, says:

"The coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. The testimony at the inquest seems to show that his suicide was superinduced by a plethora of infelicitous matrimonial experiences. He had a wife and three children, and his wife had been despondent ever since, and threatened to kill himself several days ago. He was a total abstainer prior to his Louisville trip."

SPRING MILLINERY.

The introduction of spring millinery at Mrs. Diehl's place on Front street, is of the latest styles. Bonnets as well as other novelties pertaining to millinery are here for inspection and sale to ladies.

HANDLE GUNS CAREFULLY.

The Lewistown Free Press, of April 10 says:—We have the sad intelligence from Atchison, Three Mills, of the accidental death of William, the adopted son of Jacob Miller, of that place.

William and his father went to Houtzdale on Tuesday last week to visit his brothers. They had been amusing themselves with a gun, and when returning to the house the lock of the gun struck the side of the door, discharging the piece, passing through and severing his lower jaw from the upper. It was not long until death relieved him of all suffering.

Cure the Grip and Measles.

Now, when the grip is so common, it may be well to give this little remedy for hoarseness, a trial, which several persons tell us they have tried effectually. Bake a lemon or sour orange for twenty minutes in a moderate oven, then open the fruit at one end and dig out the inside, sweetening with sugar or molasses. It is said that this will not only cure hoarseness, but will remove pressure from the lungs.

SENATOR MORGAN'S ADVICE.

Washington, April 11.—Senator Morgan, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was asked to-day how he regarded the situation in Venezuela, and replied by saying: "I have no doubts that Great Britain's ultimate purpose is to press her frontier sufficiently far into the interior to encompass a rich gold field of that section."

It is most probable that instead of injustice would be inaugurated such a reign of terror as existed in France a hundred years ago. It would put every good citizen at the mercy of the criminal classes. North American.

Restored Speech and Hearing.

T. H. Meninger and wife of P.asant View attended the Annual meeting of the Survivors' Association, Third Division, Ninth Corps, Army of the Potomac, Major General Jo in F. Hartranft's division, at Harrisburg on the 9th inst.

The men who are groaning under the burden of caring for a family of 8 or 10 children may take courage from the example of Mr. James Harper, of Hat Creek, Virginia. He was left a widower with seven children, and feeling lonely he has just married a widow with fourteen children. He says he feels proud of his family of 21 children.

Monday evening two carriage loads of young people of this town, visited the family of David Shroyer, about two miles west of Fort Royal. On their return trip the first carriage was upset near Squire Groninger's place and the second carriage ran in the wreck of the first. The occupants of the carriage all escaped injured except Miss Kate Ferre, who had an arm broken.

The Liverpool Sun of the 10th inst. says:—"The body of Charles Zerby, who had been missing from his home at Lykens since March 22, was found on Monday afternoon in the Wisconsin creek a short distance below the dam bridge. He had been suffering with grip, and was last seen at the Mountain Brook hotel on the night he disappeared. On Sunday his hat was found in the creek, and scores of people from Lykens and Wisconsin went to work in search of his body. The stream was dragged on Sunday and Monday when the body was finally found. He was a bachelor, aged 45 years. It is supposed that he fell from the embankment or bridge into the creek and drowned. Coroner Krause held an inquest, and the jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

Johnstown Tribune: During the past week a trial was held in the city called on the farmers of Upper Yoder township and offered them forty cakes of soap, a set of dishes of 150 pieces, a table cloth and several towels for $2 cash. If any of the parties approached hesitated for a moment accepting this generous offer, a Brussels carpet or some household article of like value was unceremoniously thrown in the bargain. He had a good many takers, and, after handing over the soap, informed each of them that the articles would be delivered in a day or two. As they have not arrived, the victims have trembled to the fact that they have been swindled taken in, and that the quality of the soap they have purchased retails at the lowest prices. Prices lower than ever before known.

Railroad Officers Elected.

At the annual election of a president and directors for the Tuscarora Valley Railroad company, held on the 7th inst. in the office of the company at Fort Royal, the following officers were elected: President, T. S. Moorehead; vice-president, Wilberforce Schwyer; secretary and treasurer, J. C. Moorehead; directors, T. S. Moorehead, Wilberforce Schwyer, J. C. Moorehead, J. M. Blair, J. M. Caldwell, W. A. Milliken, H. G. Cobhill.

A True Guess.

Lancaster, April 12.—Samuel F. Kame, a well known young farmer of East Donegal township, was driving along a road in that place last evening when his horse became fractious, and he got out of the vehicle to get a switch from a cherry tree. He was accompanied by W. Fackler, and remarked, as he climbed up the tree, that he guessed he would fall down and break his neck. When he had ascended about fifteen feet he slipped and fell, striking upon his head, and literally falling off his prophecies of a few moments before. His neck was broken, and he was instantly killed.

In the Hog's Favor.

An exchange notes this rather striking discrimination: Railroads will carry a pig from New York to San Francisco for $90. They will carry a hog, weighing the same as the man does for the same distance, for only $6. Advantage in favor of being a hog, $74.

A Girl Collecting Experiences.

Some Kansas girls are business-like. One of them with four married sisters, received a proposal of marriage last week and asked a week to think it over. She went to see all her married sisters. One who used to be a belle had three children, did all her own work, and had not been to the theatre or out riding since she was married.

Another, whose husband was a promising young man at the time she married, was supporting him. A third didn't dare say her life was her own when her husband was around, and the fourth was divorced. After visiting them and hearing their woes, the heroine of this narrative went home, got pen, ink and paper and wrote an answer to the young man. It would only be natural to suppose that it was a refusal, but it wasn't. She accepted the young man, and said she would be ready for the ceremony within a month.
