R., from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia and from Erie to Baltimore. A heavy verdict was rendered in Judge Gordon's Court against the Philadelphia Times in favor of ex-Mayor William B. Smith, on the 17th inst. The jury was out only half an hour. The verdict is for $45,000 for publishing libelous articles against Smith in his management of public funds.

Pennsylvania troops were the first to appear at Washington in April 1861 to defend the National Capitol against the slave-holder's rebellion. The first defenders are they are called, consisted of five companies—Ringgold Light Artillery, from Reading, Pa.; Allen Rifles, Altoona; National Light Infantry and Washington Artillery, Potsville, and the Logan Guards, Lewistown. It was 34 years and last week since they went to Washington, and the survivors celebrated the thirty-fourth anniversary at Lewistown by a grand reunion on the 18th of April, 1895. The First Defenders numbered 67 men. There were many civic organizations in line to honor the old soldiers and the occasion of their reunion, and a glorious camp-fire was held in the Opera House in the evening.

A Mifflin county jury last week found a verdict against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in favor of merchant Goodhart of Lewistown, for injury to his person while in a passenger car that was run into by a following train near Van Dyke Station.

The Newport News of the 18th inst., says:—While two Juniata Co. gentlemen were driving along the river road at this place on Monday afternoon, a wheel of their buggy broke, throwing the whole outfit in the river, 25 feet below. The men were slightly hurt, but the horse escaped injury. It seems, The buggy was badly damaged and was left in the river.

Some one writing upon the subject of industrial schools, says the establishment of Industrial Schools by the State is not right. The State should assume to do nothing except to protect the citizen in the exercise of his rights. When the State opens the door to every opportunity in life, it is doing all it should do. When a State assumes to do more it leaves the domain of the freeman and steps into the territory of a stronger government.

The trout fisher comes in with an assortment of fish stories these days, and gets off one that tells how the stream had been fished before law. Law fishing days were ushered in, and some of the fishers are not backward about charging it on Fayette township people that they fished on Sunday. They can't name the people who violate the Sabbath day in that way, but they say cuts in McAllisterville on a certain Monday were going about with trout heads in their mouths.

A large percentage of the people of Mexico, this county, were called to Bloomfield, Perry county last week as witnesses in the Willard case against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for damages for the loss of life by Rev. Myers and Mr. Samuel Sprout, McAllisterville, were here on Good Friday to attend the three hour service in the Episcopal church.

"Every once in a while" within the past quarter of a century, the question of the enlargement of the Presbyterian graveyard became a question of agitation. The question is now on. A former town council passed an ordinance against the enlargement of grave yards within the borough limits, which check mated the enlargement plan of the cemetery board, and brought the question quietly into the spring election, and it is alleged elected some men and defeated others. Within the past two weeks the question has broken out in a new form by the cemetery people getting out a petition to the town council, praying them to revoke the ordinance against the enlargement of grave-yards. People against the enlargement plan, have gotten out a petition, asking the town council, to influence the town council not to revoke or repeal the ordinance.

During the past week there has been an advance in the price of oil, wheat, beef and flour. John Zook has sold his farm in Fernmeach township to Ephraim Bashor of Kansas, for $8,000.

Easter Sunday in New York. Before saying anything on this subject, I desire with the permission of the editor, to make a correction to the date on which Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton fought their duel, as told in the article over my signature under date of Jan. 9th. In this letter the date read July 17, 1804, which should have read July 11th, 1804. Also the word Weehawk is spelled with the "w" omitted. It is desired to have this date correct for it is a historical one of importance. The editor will pardon his correspondent for making the correction.

It was Easter morning. The clouds soon passed away. The sun shone out brightly, and the morning had on the appearance of delightful spring. The morning being so lovely, the Easter bonnet that had been selected with the greatest care was put out on exhibition. Your correspondent took a stroll up town where many people have sought to do, but look up the latest fashions and robe themselves in "fine linen." St. Patrick's Cathedral at 51st and 5th avenue was visited. This is the largest and most popular Cathedral in the city. Close by is the mansion of Wm. K. Vanderbilt with his many millions. Also the elegant residence of the late Jay Gould.

This Cathedral occupied an entire block. It is built of white marble with two steeples towering to the height of 330 feet. In the steeples, 100 feet from the ground, hangs, it is said, the finest chime of bells in America. The length of this Cathedral is 306 feet. No admission was given to the 10-30 mass, except by ticket, but it was a sort of comfort to me when hundreds more like me stood outside unable to gain admission. At 11 o'clock general admission was given, and there was a general rush at the entrances. It did not seem like entering a place of worship.

The seating capacity of the church is 4200. What 63 to 65; Oats 36 to 37; Corn 50 to 51; spring chickens 20 to 25 a piece; last year's hens 11 cents a lb; butter 10 to 27c a lb; eggs 12 to 13c; potatoes 65c to 25 cents a bushel; Southern Asparagus 20 to 21 cents a bunch; Lettuce $3 to $4 a barrel; cabbage $4 a crate; radishes 25 to 75 cents for 100 bunches; peas per crate $2 to $2.50; apples $2.50 to $4 a barrel; Florida straw berries per quart, $2.25 to 40; Timothy seed $6 a bushel; cloverseed 9 to 10c per lb; Timothy hay 75c to $1 per 100 pounds; straw 70 to 75 cents per 100 pounds.

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS, April 20, 1895.—Wheat 63 to 65c; Oats 36 to 37c; Corn 50 to 51c; spring chickens 20 to 25 a piece; last year's hens 11 cents a lb; butter 10 to 27c a lb; eggs 12 to 13c; potatoes 65c to 25 cents a bushel; Southern Asparagus 20 to 21 cents a bunch; Lettuce $3 to $4 a barrel; cabbage $4 a crate; radishes 25 to 75 cents for 100 bunches; peas per crate $2 to $2.50; apples $2.50 to $4 a barrel; Florida straw berries per quart, $2.25 to 40; Timothy seed $6 a bushel; cloverseed 9 to 10c per lb; Timothy hay 75c to $1 per 100 pounds; straw 70 to 75 cents per 100 pounds.

EAST LIBERTY, Pa., April 19.—Cattle.—Prime $5.75 to $6.25; pool, $5.10 to $5.60; good butchers, $4.60 to $5.10; rough fat $3.50 to $3.80. Hogs $5.25 to $5.50 mixed $5.15 to $5.20; best Yorkers, $5.10 to $5.15; common to fair $4.90 to $5; roughs, $3.45 to $5. Sheep—supply light; extra, $2.25 to $4; good, $2 to $2.25; fair $1.50 to $2; common $1.50 to $2.25; best lambs $5.50 to $6; lambs, $4.50 to $5.75; fair lambs $2.50 to $4.

er flowers and then pass out. The decoration was elegant, consisting chiefly of lilies. It is probable that these cost at least $1,000. I am sure that had I all the money that was spent in New York City for the flowers for Easter, I could buy two or three of the nicest farms in Walker township, and have sufficient left to alleviate the misery of many a poor family, and give comfort to many a weary and widowed mother. 'Tis now eventide, and the reader is invited in his imagination to a little Meravian church at 32nd St., and Lexington Ave., where Master service is being held by the Sunday School. The church is not large, but one of the comeliest and neatest we have seen for many a day. While sitting perusing the hymn book which the good pastor gave me at the door, before the service began, it recalled some of the incidents we find in old histories about the Moravian missionaries among the Indians in the early days of our beloved Old Keystone State. They have their publishing house at Bethlehem, Pa. Their worship was solemn, and indeed seemed like "praising God." My article is getting too long, but I will detain you for a moment. In looking over the list of Moravian church or Unitarian Fratrum as they are found in the fore part of their hymn book, two dates seem of peculiar ordinance June 4th is set apart as a "Day of prayer and Covenant for the older Girls," and May 19th as a Day of prayer and Covenant for the unmarried brethren." In this latter case, the writer would be a subject for Special prayer. But I must drop my pen. Best Nov.
