The heaviest rain in this section of the country since the June flood of 1889, fell on Sunday evening, June 30. It was a terror while it lasted, and if it had lasted as long as the June flood rain, that great flood would have been a mild affair in comparison.

The restless patriots who rang bells, blew engine whistles and discharged fire arms when the morning of the fourth was ushered in, were less blessed than blamed by the hundreds of people whose sweet sleep they disturbed, but patriots will be patriots on the 4th of July.

Washing day was instituted on Monday by the Pilgrim Fathers. It was a custom that in all probability they learned in Holland where they lived 10 years before they came to Plymouth Rock. Monday is now generally observed as wash day by the families in the United States.

Boys if you don't want to propose, take care where you put your arm, for an Alabama Judge has just made a decision, that is causing a great deal of consternation among the unmarried men of the State. He holds that if a man puts his arm around the waist of a marriageable woman, it is prima facie evidence that he has proposed to her.—New York Tribune.

During the great rain of several days ago, Samuel Stoner was driving home in a buggy, when he came to the Beasler farm east of town, he found the water higher than the bridge. He did not know whether the bridge had gone. To be on the safe side he got out of the buggy, and waded in and with his feet felt for the floor, found it and drove over. There was about 26 inches of water running over the floor of the bridge.

The Kansas way of paying a preacher when the new dominie called on farmer Tom Wilson, of Rock Creek, Jefferson county, a week or so since for a donation towards his salary, Mr. Wilson said he had no money, but would give two rows of potatoes, each twenty rods long. "If the Lord wants you to get $20 from me," said the farmer, "He will water the potatoes well, and I will be mighty glad to have you get it; if he doesn't water them, I'm afraid you'll not get much.

"Do you find your religious work to your liking?" a Montana minister was asked.

"Well," returned the divine, slowly: "I can't say that I do. For instance last Sunday, a newly converted member of the church, who sits near the door said he'd fill me full of holes, if I didn't speak louder."

Patterson has been a good deal startled by lightning recently. First by a bolt that fired a shock of wheat near the town on the Parker farm. Second by a bolt that killed John Wise's horse in front of the Patterson house. People in that vicinity are satisfied that lightning does not always select high objects such as trees and houses to strike.

Huffman Beasler, of Fermanagh, had his right hand seriously hurt the other day. Some one said, the little German band, that was in town last Friday, is under pay of a rich German, who has a runaway daughter in America, and the band's mission is to travel from town to town with the object of finding her. A detective or two are said to be helping the band. It is hoped that when the band plays air of the Fatherland, the young woman may be sufficiently attracted by the music of her native land to come to a window or door, and her whereabouts be thus discovered.

Eighteen town bloods rode to McAlisterville for breakfast on Tuesday morning. They were back in four hours, the distance traveled was 16 miles. They were bloods whose occupations do not give them exercise enough to keep their digestion in proper condition. If they were farmer bloods they would have little need of such recreation, but it will not do for every one to be farming, that would soon create such an overproduction that grain and farm products would be a drug on the market.

A large pile of ashes at the intersection of Bridge and Main streets, on the morning of the 4th, at the instigation of the patriots to celebrate the advent of Independence Day. Where the patriots collected all the fuel to make such a large pile of ashes, they alone can tell. Boxes were taken wherever found and consigned to the Patriotic flame. Several days before Independence Day, J. H. Simons had a wagon load of boxes hauled from his business place to his residence lot. On the night of the 3rd, the patriots broke open the gate in the alley, loaded the boxes on a wagon, and hauled them to the square and sacrificed them on the altar of freedom.
