Quay in favor of a Vote by the People.

If the people had their way, officers of high and low degree would be elected by a popular vote. It seems a good deal like a burlesque on a popular system of Government to elect some of the officers by a popular vote, and put other men in office by appointment or delegate their election to a second hand body of men. For example a United States Senator is elected by the Legislature, which may be called a second hand body of men for election purposes. That is, first the Legislature is elected by the people, and then the Legislature elects the Senator. So a President is elected by a second body of men or electors instead of being voted for directly by the people. It is strange that just as soon as a man is elected to a high office, he turns directly against the election of high officers by a direct vote of the people. Is it because they all get big heads? Senator Quay is an exception to that rule, and is an exception to that rule in favor of enlarging the field of popular Government to comprehend the election of all officers by a vote of the people. He should command almost the entire Republican vote in his favor in the great contest in which he is now engaged. He desires to be elected Chairman of the Republican State Committee. The Hastings Administration under the corporation, traction Democrat and lobby combine influence, say no, he shall not have that place, we want the place; we want the place for our six thousand dollar a year bank Commissioner, or B. F. Gilkeson, and when Senator Quay proposed to submit the question to a vote of the people, the Hastings Administration said, No! No! which clearly shows that they expect to pick the voters of the Republican Party at the primary election or they are afraid that their six thousand dollar candidate will be beaten or they are not in favor of letting the people of the party vote their choice for a Chairman. Senator Quay's challenge to leave the question to a vote by the people has been met by No! No! from the Hastings combine leaders. Lobbyists, C. M. O'Brien, Pittsburg, one of Hastings' leaders put his foot down on the proposal, and so all over the State the combine leaders did likewise. There are, however, a few honorable exceptions. For example in Millin county, at the primary election to be held on the 17th day of August, the question of the State Chairmanship will be determined by a direct vote of the people, and if Senator Quay has a majority of the votes cast in his favor, the Millin county delegate to the State Convention will vote for Quay for State Chairman. If on the other hand, B. F. Gilkeson the Hastings combine candidate receives a majority of the votes cast at the primary election in Millin county, then the Millin county delegate shall vote for Gilkeson for State Chairman. Senator Quay should be made Chairman of the State Committee. His merits and usefulness are well known, but if he had only common merit, and if his usefulness could be put into question, the fact that he stands before the people of Pennsylvania and before the nation as the champion of advanced grounds for the popular election of higher officers of Government, should cause the Republicans to vote for him en-mass. The delegates to the State Convention in Quay, the State Convention is Uriah Shuman, and all R-Republicans in Juniata who favor Senator Quay for Chairman of the Republican State Committee will vote for Uriah Shuman at the primary election on the 10th of August.

Everywhere We Go we find someone who has been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and people on all hands are praising this great medicine for what it has done for them and their friends. Taken in time Hood's Sarsaparilla prevents serious illness by keeping the blood pure and all the organs in a healthy condition. It is the great blood purifier.

Hood's Pills become the favorite cathartic with every one who tries them. 25c per box.

Just what's Needed Exclaims thousands of people who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at this season of the year, and who have noted the success of the medicine in giving them relief from that tired feeling, waning appetite and state of extreme exhaustion after the close confinement of a long winter season, the busy time attendant upon a large and pressing business during the winter months, and the vacation time yet some weeks distant. It is then that the building up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are fully appreciated. It seems perfectly adapted to overcome that prostration caused by change of season, climate or life, and while it tones and sustains the system, it purifies and vitalizes the blood. Aug. 22, 1895.

Farmers Hold Him Responsible for Extravagant Legislation. $600,000 EXTRA IN ONE BILL. The Governor Dictated the Passage of Acts Which Take Millions Out of the State Treasury—An Increase of $600,000 to the Banking Department for the Benefit of Corporal Gilkeson—All of These Perpetrated Acts Signed by Hastings.

WHENEVER Center county develops a man who can make a speech, and who becomes troubled with political ambition, he strikes out for State politics, and if he succeeds in his ambition, he will hit some high mark. That is the way Hastings got out of Center county into State politics and that is the way he expects to get out of State politics into National politics. He is aiming at the Presidency, the highest political Sun in the United States. In his shooting match for the Presidency, he has so far forgotten himself or so clouded his judgment by over-vaunting ambition, that he will brook no one in sight that fails to take off his hat to shout for his shots at the Sun. He is straining every point to make Gilkeson Chairman of the State Committee with the object of having Gilkeson to use the State political machinery in his interest to boom him for the Presidency. To help Gilkeson, so that he can help him in his plans, he has driven the Governor to call the most astounding dish of crow. It will be remembered that when the Legislature was convened the Governor delivered a sugar-coated speech on the question of expenditures, and how he enjoined that body to exercise the most rigid economy to tide the State finances through the great Democratic financial and industrial panic. That speech took like hot cakes, but alas, before the people had time to realize the speech or message, he had down and gorged on a dish of crow, and signed the extravagant bill to put his pet Gilkeson into a fat office. An office that formerly was a four thousand dollar office, now under Hastings' reform speech, raised to six thousand dollars. If the Governor had made another reform speech to the Legislature, there is no telling where Gilkeson's salary would have gone to, and there is no telling how many more factory inspectors and other little or nothing to do officers would have been appointed to drive around in the State to boom Hastings' shooting match at the Sun. If it was not a sickening dish of crow to the Governor, it has a sickening odor to thousands of Republicans and proved what a jingle of words

THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

There is no material increase of expenditures provided in the succeeding year, but the state department is authorized to pay out over $7,000 more than in 1894; the auditor general's department nearly $15,000; the state treasury nearly $5,000; the department of internal affairs about $25,000; the banking department $68,000, making its total possible disbursements $121,000; department of public instruction, $6,000; adjutant general's department, $6,000; factory inspector's department, over $67,000, making its total disbursements $282,000; harbor commissioner's office of Philadelphia, over $6,000; department of public buildings and grounds, about $23,000, making its total this year $77,000.

The large increase in the department of banking is due to larger salaries, more clerks and additional bank examiners. The amount appropriated to the department of agriculture is $83,000, of which $18,000 are payable to the secretary and other officers, including the deputy, dairy and food commissioners, and state veterinarian. The department is provided with $100,000 for the expenses of the state, and $25,000 for the expenses of the dairy and food commissioners. Forty-eight thousand dollars are to be expended in the twenty deputy factory inspectors authorized to be appointed under a new law providing for a more rigid inspection of sweat shops, and $20,000 to pay their traveling expenses.

EXPENSES OF THE JUDICIARY. Bills passed by the last legislature and approved by the governor, increased the expenses of the judiciary from $1,730,000 to $1,824,000. Of the increase of $94,000, $100,000 are due to the creation of the superior courts in connection with the new judicial system for their services for two years $68,000. The number of common pleas judges was increased from 64 to 66, and the number of judges of the common pleas from 12 to 14. An additional orphans' court judge in Schuylkill county added $8,000 more to the judiciary expense.

THE STATE MUST NOT FALL INTO THE HANDS OF A CORRUPT COMBINE. The affairs of our commonwealth simply must not fall completely into the hands of a single party, and the order of the day is to have a government controlled by Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and should the voracious combine be successful in this fight, the result would be a government controlled by Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and should the voracious combine be successful in this fight, the result would be a government controlled by Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and should the voracious combine be successful in this fight, the result would be a government controlled by Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

QUAY'S SWEEPING VICTORIES. Returns from the Counties Show That the People Are for the Senator. PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Dispatches from Columbia, Greene, Potter, Monroe and Dauphin show that Quay will get the delegates from all of those counties. The counties were badly beaten in Green. The Hastings papers that have placed Monroe's delegates in their column are deceiving only themselves in their estimate. Delegate McNeal, who was elected long ago to the legislature, refuses at this time to announce his preferences, but says that he will vote as his constituents wish, and that Monroe county has always stood with Senator Quay.

QUAY IS A WINNER. Governor Hastings Must Realize That This is the Issue. The tide has turned, but the public is aware of it, and Senator Quay can drop his own, hold his seat and speed away in his motor car. The combine that has been hatched against the junior senator has miscarried. It was responsible for any bitterness which may have crept into the campaign, and it has resulted in electing Quay more firmly than ever in state politics. The governor has made a grave mistake by becoming a party to the contract the object of which was to down Quay, and occupying as he does the office of chief executive of the state he should have turned a deaf ear to Martin, Monroe and Porter, and left these politicians to fight their own battles. The governorship should be divorced from politics. When a man takes the office he should devote his time to looking out for the interests of the people. If political schemes are afoot he should express himself in the dignity of his office. He cannot take part in the election of politicians, the object being to defeat the acknowledged leader, and consequently approve or veto bills in which his name is prominent. The discovery has cemented the friends of Quay, and hence we see that Delaware county alone, taking it for an illustration, which gave him 5,600 majority, is solid for Quay—Chester "Wim."

"GILKESON THE INFLATED." He Really Ours He Figures in the Present Contest. Gilkeson is really no figure in the present fight. He is merely what he always has been, the piglet fool of shrewd manipulators. The game, Martin and Hastings

THE FIGHT AT A GLANCE.

Extracts from the State Newspapers All Point to a Quay Victory. It is no exaggeration to say that 80 per cent of the state newspapers are for Senator Quay in the fight now going on between the junior senator and the combine of Philadelphia and Pittsburg. Quay Has Taken the Wind from the Sails of His Opponents. The public opinion of the State is for Quay, and he is making it his campaign which he is making. His frank and open avowal that he was for either McKinley or Tom Rees for the presidency, whereas would be the most available, has completely captured the stronghold of the Hastings combine and thrown down the only protective wall which they had raised about them. It has been a rag-bag sort of an issue all along, and Mr. Quay has taken the wind from the combine's sails, spiked their guns and left them without so much as a cartridge shell for ammunition.—Erie News.

He Calls the Ground Completely Under the Under the Combine Apeologues. When Mr. Quay says he is in favor of the nomination of either Reed or McKinley, whichever may be deemed most available by the convention, and that he is not in favor of the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, he cuts the ground completely from under those combine advocates and apostles who have been proffering such ground to the Hastings combine. He is in favor of the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, he cuts the ground completely from under those combine advocates and apostles who have been proffering such ground to the Hastings combine. The Beaver Herald of July 27 says:—While Ammon May was repairing a fence on William H. Reigle's farm, west of town, one day last week, a large copperhead snake struck its fangs three times into his right leg above the knee, and through two pairs of heavy pants. He tied a handkerchief around his leg and not considering the wound serious kept at work for nearly two hours, when the poison had so penetrated his system that he became very sick. He went home and Dr. Wagner was hastily summoned, who administered the proper antidotes. The victim had already been attacked with convulsions and his body greatly swollen. At present he is rapidly recovering. Had he delayed much longer in giving the wound attention a swift and terrible death would have resulted.

HASTINGS, MARTIN AND MAGEE THE PLEDGED FRIENDS OF CAMERON. If Cameron desires to remain in the senate he will do his best to secure the support of the friends of Martin and Magee, who have always hitherto been his most faithful servants.—Pittston Gazette.

INGS—lobbyist, professional politician and governor, what a combination for gods and men!—are the real factors in the Hastings combine. The combine that has been hatched against the junior senator has miscarried. It was responsible for any bitterness which may have crept into the campaign, and it has resulted in electing Quay more firmly than ever in state politics.

THE FOLLOWERS OF MARTIN IN THE EASTERN CITY and of those of Magee in the western city, who are interested in the Hastings combine, they will deliver at the state convention at Harrisburg, next month, so many delegates, as if they owned, body and soul, 5,600 majority, is solid for Quay.—Chester Times.

Nervousness

Is only another name for impure blood, for no person is weak and nervous whose blood is perfectly pure. When the blood is full of the germs of disease, and lacking in the red corpuscles which give it vitality, when it fails to properly nourish the organs and tissues of the body, what can you expect but that tired feeling and nervousness? Of course Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Catarrh and Rheumatism are universal and recognized as blood diseases, for which Hood's Sarsaparilla, as the best blood purifier, is everywhere acknowledged as the greatest remedy. Therefore, as Hood's Sarsaparilla cures all blood diseases, it is the best remedy for that condition of the blood which causes Nervousness.

It is a false idea to think you are curing your nervousness when you are taking a preparation which only "drowns" your sorrows in the flowing bowl. They are sure to return. We wish to make most impressive, then, this truth:—You cannot purify your blood by DEADENING or QUIETING your nerves with opiate, narcotic or nerve compounds. If you take such articles you are only TRIFLING with your troubles. There is SUM to be made, and which will leave you worse than you were before.

Why not then, take the true course, follow the bee-line to the state of health, purify your blood and cure your Nervousness by taking HOOD'S Sarsaparilla.
