Cotton Planters' Troubles.

It may seem all very well perhaps for the cotton planter to get the benefit which he bopes to derive from "free" cotton bagging by placing his neighbor's flax on the bee list, but he will have the poor comfort of knowing that if he secures any advan-tage it will be at the expense of farmers engaged in agricultural avocations as honorable and honest as his own.

The cotton planter's trouble lies beyond cheaper cotton bagging. It lies in over-production, failure to rotate his crops for better yields and the poor balling of his pro-duct, entailing reductions in price all along line until the cotton reaches the manufacturer.

Carpet Trade Lost.

The boon of free wool very nearly doub-led our imports of carpets in May, as compared with May, 1804. An increase from 37,008 square yards up to 67,842 square yards imported, and a decrease from 42,487 yards experted in May, 1891, down to 28,151 yards exported in May, 1855, shows such peculiarities of free raw material benefits that we should like the New York Times to explain. An increase in imports and a decrease in exports seem, somehow, contrary to all the free trade theories that we have read about.

The increase (of wages) coming without re-resert to strikes mark a new and phenomenal epoch in the history of American manufactures. - New York Herald.

Not at all. During and after the war, when the Morrill tariff was in force, wages were increased "without strikes," because protection enabled our manufacturers to pay high wages and work was so abundant that was sarrans and the wage enriers could dictate, in a measure, their own terms.
