A RECENT writer says: - Acetylene gas was discovered accidentally That it is evolved by heating a mixture of coal and lime or charcoal and chalk in a furnace, and throwing the resulting compound into water.

Ir Cleveland's time had expired, & would not take long for the incoming Republican Congress to so re adjust the tariff laws, that government would get enough money to pay its running expenses. But Cleveland has the views of the importers of foreign goods, and that will cause him to obstruct all higher tariff laws.

Ir has always been the policy the Republican party to provide suf ficient means to pay for the running of the Government, and now that a Republican Congress goes into pow er, it will only be in their line to so change the tariff laws that the Government is certain of obtaining enough revenue to pay expenses. The trouble in the way will be President Cleveland, unless he has chang ed his views. His message will like ly tell whether he proposes to stand in the way of a readjustment by the Republican Congress.

THE Democracy should go into partnership with the Japanese for the introduction of cheap goods. Japan says she can make all kinds of goods cheaper than the Europeans can. It has been the ambition of the Clev. land Administration and Democratic leaders and Democratic newspapers to advocate a reduction of the tariff to let in cheap goods from Europe. but now Japan says she can furnish the people of the United States with goods at cheaper rates than Europe. The next ting Democratic leaders will do, will be calling European m in ufacturers, robber barron manufac turers, and declaring for a lower tariff to get the Japanese goods in.

STAGE GLINTS.

Nettie de Coursey will probably be the star of a big burlesque company next season.

Wilson Barrett will probably make next season. The music of De Wolf Hopper's next opera has been written by Sousa, the "March King." Moliere's "Sganarelle" is the only play ever written which may be properly presented without "properties." There is a greater demand for Shakespeare and the serious drama in the smaller cities this season than ever be-Henry Irving is reported to have been mortally offended by the adverse criticisms of his "Macbeth" in New York

Charles Klein is one of the young American dramatists who has enough orders for plays to keep him busy for several years. Boston's new stock company at the Grand Opesa House is meeting with great success. New plays only of great merit are presented. A prominent St. Louis capitalist is anxious to star 17-year-old Florence Rockwell as "Mary Anderson's succes or" in this country and England. Glen MacDonough has just completed a society comedy, which will be produced at the Lyceum theater, New York,

by Dopiel Frohman's stock company.

It is evident that not one of these would be flying machine men has ever seriously undertaken to solve the problem mentally. There is but one way of getting through the air by mechanical action, and that is by cleavage. There are really only two forms of cleavage, the one as represented by wing action as applied by insects and birds, the other a rotary action as represented by the screw of a steamer. To the application of the wing principle there is a limit set by natural law, just as in animal forms there is a limit set to either biped or quadrupedal construction. There is perhaps no form of cleavage that represents the expenditure of force more economically than wing action as manifested in the flight of a wild goose. Here is an exceptionally large avoirdupois for the wing area, but the bird cannot carry any additional weight. In the birds of prey the body is lighter in proportion to wing surface-a light, compact frame, but immense muscular action, capable of carrying for a short distance a load of from 8 to 12 pounds. But the limit is soon found, and there is not a winged creature on the earth weighing 50 pounds that can mount into the air and cleave as a true flier. Why do not the ostrich, the great auk, the emu and other congeners of these bird tribes properly fly, since they are equipped with cleavers as are other birds of flight? Walkers and swimmers, as well as fliers, are all, by natura law, limited within certain restrictions, and it is remarkable that these inventors have not learned this, as it is a fact of the utmost importance, and one which, in a careful analysis, must early disclose itself. -Pittsburg Dispatch.

If Turner Came Back.

If the shade of Turner could return to earth and "revisit the glimpses of the moon," probably it would be highly gratified to find how much he is appre ciated just now.
