THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

It is the general remark among people who attend Teachers' Institutes, that in no past time did Teachers give as close attendance upon the sessions of an Institute as upon the one that closed last week under the management of D. M. Marshall, Superintendent of common schools.

Mr. Marshall's Superintendency has been so satisfactory, that many of his numerous friends are desirous of his re-election next spring. The Institute work was kept well in hand, and teachers were constantly on the alert for the points presented by the instructors, and ready in every way to assist by taking part in the exercises of the sessions. Mr. McMeen's address of welcome and Mr. Mayo's response were well received. Dr. Rothrock's Monday evening lecture, "Illustrated Forestry," opened the eyes of all present to the beauty and usefulness of the forests of Pennsylvania, and the ignorance, carelessness and crime of the people who set the woods on fire. Emmett's "Appeal to Clear," on Tuesday evening, was an eloquent appeal to the people of the United States whom he styles "Citizens," opened the eyes of all present to the beauty and usefulness of the forests of Pennsylvania, and the ignorance, carelessness and crime of the people who set the woods on fire. Emmett's "Appeal to Clear," on Tuesday evening, was an eloquent appeal to the people of the United States whom he styles "Citizens," opened the eyes of all present to the beauty and usefulness of the forests of Pennsylvania, and the ignorance, carelessness and crime of the people who set the woods on fire.

But Mr. Marshall was not to blame, he having taken the troupe on the recommendation of people whose love of gain exceeded their judgment or knowledge of the quality of the talent they were recommending to others at an exorbitant price. Mr. Howard on Friday evening was good. There was a vein of patriotic and moral advice woven into his lecture that gives it great worth.

Democratic Prices for Potatoes.

From the Wyoming Republican.

Potatoes are generally considered a profitable crop for the farmer to raise. Although in years when the crop yields heavy the price is down, still the price to the farmer who raises potatoes every year averages from 35 to 40¢ per bushel, thus making a profitable business. When the crop is short and the price ranges from 75 cents to $1.25 per bushel, there is always a ready home market for this crop, and it should be the same in years when the yield is large and the price is low. It is the destruction of the farmer's pocket-book, and not the lower prices. This year potatoes are plenty and the price is down to 25¢ and 30¢ per bushel. The Wyoming County farmer has a home market for his crop—or thinks he has—but on going to the usual market (Scranton) he finds the railroad yards filled with cars loaded with potatoes. He naturally inquires where these potatoes came from, and is told they are fresh from Canada. What encouragement can the farmer gain from such a state of affairs? Who is responsible for it? The Republican Congress passed a tariff law placing a tariff of 25 cents per bushel of sixty pounds on potatoes. Were there any potatoes from Canada in the Scranton market during the life of that law? The Democrats came in to power, and the result was a very low tariff law—in fact, free trade. The result placed on potatoes was "thirty per centum ad valorem." This would bring the tariff on that product down to 7½¢ per bushel this year, thus allowing the farmers of Canada to compete with our farmers, and flood our home market with potatoes. What does the Wyoming county farmer get in return in the way of market, or otherwise, from Canada? It is plain to see that the Democratic party should shoulder the responsibility for this deplorable state of affairs. What farmer in Wyoming can afford to give his whole potato crop toward the support of the Democratic party. This is only one of the farm products which has been affected. We might mention wool and grain, but this is nothing new to the farmer, and we simply wish him to put on his "thinking cap," and we will then have no fear for the result.
