

er preparations had failed.
Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, biliousness, jaundice, indigestion, sick headache.

The Care of the Aged

When a man or woman passes seventy years of age, great care should be given to the conditions surrounding him or her for the prolonging of life. The vital forces are greatly enfeebled at that period of life, and the powers of resistance in consequence of age are the weakest. A man of three score years and ten, and over, is like an old machine that by proper care given to its condition has been kept running many years, and is still able to do work, but its wheels and axles and pinions are much worn and are rickety, and if it should be pushed, even to a small extent, in excess of its diminished powers, it breaks down and cannot be repaired. But if every part of it is shattered. But if worked carefully and intelligently by a person who understands its condition and knows its capabilities, it can be kept in action a much longer time than would be possible, if a careless engineer controlled it. In these fast times, however, it is generally not profitable to husband the resources of an old man. But this is not true as regards our old men and women. It is desirable to hold on to them as long as possible, and if we can succeed in prolonging their lives five or ten years, or more, it will greatly enhance our happiness.

ILLINOIS FARMERS MOVING

BRADSTREET Journal of Trade of the 7th inst., says: "Another exodus of Livingston county agriculturists to points in Iowa, South Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska, Missouri, and northern Indiana took place this week. Special trains for Iowa, composed of freight cars laden with the emigrants' machinery, stock and household goods, and coaches containing the families of the movers, have departed all week over the Illinois Central Railroad. Fully two thirds of the movers go to Iowa, while the remainder are equally distributed among the other states. Nearly one hundred families will leave this county alone. Their reasons for moving away from this section, which lies in the great corn belt, are that lands have risen greatly in price in ten years, and rents have gone up accordingly, from two thirds grain rent ten years ago to one-half in most cases now."

HER BARN STORMING TOUR.

Mary Anderson de Navarro recounts an incident of her early stage career. Mary Anderson de Navarro took with her a small Kentucky town, where she and her little band of actors played for a week. Mrs. de Navarro writes in "The Ladies' Home Journal": "I was a tall, slender Juliet and my Romeo proved to be a plump, pleasant fellow, who probably had the name of several women as Romes and Juliets. The moon she (Romeo) swore by we found to be the headlight of a railway engine hired for the occasion. This was held by a small negro boy perched upon the head of a bald man who had been called to be laughed until he shook over the most tragic scenes. His mirth, as may be imagined, was not conducive to the moon's steadiness. At one time she was shoving in an upper box, at another on the head of a bald man, and at another blinding the unfortunate in the front seats, here, there, everywhere save on the face of her (Verona's) lovely flower!" she had been especially hired to illuminate the conductor of the orchestra with a candle, and she had carried away as lastly during the day at the boards he was converting into profile statues of "Evadne's" noble ancestors as he saved upon his violin at night."

Lecture.

Rev. A. N. Raven will deliver a lecture in the Evangelical Lutheran church in McAllisterville on Thursday evening, March 26th. Subject: "Neglected Life Lessons."

Admission.—Adults 15c; children under 15 years, 10c.

The proceeds of the lecture are for the benefit of the Y. P. S. C. E. Society.

The Time for Building up the system is at this season. The cold weather has made unusual drains upon the vital forces. The blood has become impoverished and impure, and all the functions of the body suffer in consequence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, because it is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

Correction of False Statement

To the Republicans of Juniata County.—A rumor has gained circulation regarding the candidacy of Philip Harlow, that he is a man of about 85; too far advanced in years to properly fill the office of Commissioner. This is a mistake that will reflect no credit on the author. Mr. Harlow is about 63 or 64 years of age of good physical health and active, capable mind. While the time has been too short for a public canvass, every person concerned should be assured that his assistance, and continues to make as many personal calls as the time and weather will allow.

A. BRADFORD EVANS.

A wealthy resident of York county lost his wife a few weeks ago. Her illness was prolonged and no doubts excessive. But that was the poor woman's misfortune, not her fault. However, her thrifty husband cheered the final weeks of her life by regularly sitting down by her bed each day and detailing to her the various ailments which were afflicting her. Her sickness was costing him a trial balance of a "Coke" and suffering his wife's benefit every day. At last she died—the doctor, who knew of the husband's singular methods of cheering a sickbed, said there was no doubt about it—and while she lay in her coffin the husband, who had been thought, picked up one of the dead wife's shoes and carefully figured on its sole with a bit of chalk the sum total of what the sad affair had cost him. This grievous statement of facts is solemnly made by the Bangor Commercial, which congratulates the woman on being dead. How about the man—could he be any sadder?—Lewiston Journal.

She Show Best.

Visitor.—Tell me now, professor, are you suffering much from your headache? Professor (to his wife).—Say, Amelia, I suffer much from my headache!—Fleeting Blatler.

For Wheelmen.

A certain lawyer's face was a puzzle to the other day as he pored over a pamphlet. Finally he broke out with: "What the deuce they call this The Law Bulletin for I can't see it." His companion showed with laughter. "It's The L. A. W. Bulletin, you say?" he cried, and then he chorled in his glee.—Worcester Gazette.

Useless Question.

"Disting' got to go 'roun'?" said one to the committee meeting. "Dere's money in it." "Far de city?" asked a member of the council. And the only reply he got was the glassy stare.—Chicago Tribune.

Results Tell the Story.

A vast mass of direct, unimpeachable testimony proves beyond any possibility of doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually does perfectly and permanently cure diseases caused by impure blood. Its record of cures is unequalled and these cures have often been accomplished after all other

ECCLESIASTICAL ROMES.

An Always Present Force That Gives the City Its Importance.
"Ecclesiastic" Rome is the stronghold of a most tremendous fact from whatever point of view Christianity may be considered. If one could in imagination detach the head of the Catholic church from the church, one would be obliged to admit that no single living man possesses the far-reaching and lasting power which in each succeeding papal reign belongs to the pope. Behind the pope stands the fact which confers, maintains and extends that power from century to century—a power which is one of the largest elements of the world's most active, both in its own direct action and in the counteraction and antagonism which it calls forth continually.

It is the all-prevailing presence of this greatest fact, literally, in Christendom which has carried on Rome's importance from the days of the Caesars across the chasm of the dark ages to the days of modern power, and it is this really enormous importance, which continually forces forward into cruel relief the peculiarities and inhumanities of the daily outward world. It is the consciousness of that importance which makes old Roman society what it is, with its virtues, its vices, its prejudices and its strange, old-fashioned, yet fixed kindliness, which makes the contrast between the saturnalia of Shrove Tuesday night and the cross signed with ashes upon the forehead of Ash Wednesday morning, between the joyous laughter of the Roman beauty in carnival and the tragic earnestness of the same lovely face when the great lady kneels in Lent before the professional to receive upon her breast and the hands of the penitentiary's hands taking her turn perhaps with a score of women of the people. It is the knowledge of an always present power, active throughout the whole world, which throws deep, straight shadows, as it were, through the Roman character, just as in certain ancient families there is a secret that makes grave the lives of those who know it.—Marion Crawford in Century.

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE.

Business in Which It Has Been Used to the Delight of Home Seekers.
A good many stories are told of the strange events that followed the telephone. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

W. M. ALLISON.

Editor JUNIATA Herald.
Editor SEYMOUR and REPUBLICAN.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE.

Business in Which It Has Been Used to the Delight of Home Seekers.
A good many stories are told of the strange events that followed the telephone. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

Gyp was a setter, a great family pet, which had been left behind in an accident which rendered it lame. Gyp was called to the telephone, and he stood on a chair, his fore feet on the hook and his mistress held the transmitter to his ear.

"Hello, Gyp!" called the master from Merrill. And long distance telephoned. The day the line was opened to Merrill, Wis., a Chicago man, hunting in the northern woods, came into town and learned of the "soundproof" booths and had himself put into communication with his family. As they had a telephone in the house, the task was a small one. He chatted with his wife, told her a fish story at which she might smile without embarrassing him, since he could not see the signs of incredulity; talked with his boy and girl, and then called for Gyp.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The following scale of prices for announcements has been mutually agreed upon by the undersigned, and no deviation from the same will be made.
Congress, $25; Senator $10; Legislator, $7; Associate Judge, Prothonotary and Treasurer, each $6; District Attorney, County Commissioner, Representative Delegate and Chairman of County Committee, each $5; Auditor, $4.50; and all additional communications "recommended" candidates will be charged 10 cents a line. Money in all cases to be paid in advance.

W. M. ALLISON,
Editor JUNIATA Herald.
Editor SEYMOUR and REPUBLICAN.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules and usages of the Republican party of Juniata.

Respectfully,
W. M. ALLISON.

I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for nomination for the office of Representative, to represent the thirty-first district in the Legislature of Pennsylvania