The Wind Engine.

There seems to be no question as to the practical utility of the new though crade wind engine which is now coming into use in some parts of the west. According to the description, it resembles the paddle wheel of a stern wheel boat, with a shaft 12 to 14 feet long, 12 to 16 feet across, with six or eight arms. The lower half of the wheel is shielded from the wind, so that the air acts only upon the upper vanes. A crank upon one end of the shaft connects with the pump. Power can be indefinitely increased at any time by simply increasing the length. The wind acts upon this sort of paddle wheel from all points of the compass except two, and it seems to require no governor, but simply pumps more during a storm. No tower is provided for, and it is placed so that the radial arms will be clear of the ground. One of these wheels now running in Kansas is stated to be 21 feet in diameter, 27 feet long, and has eight faus. The largest water wheel in the world is said to be an overshot wheel in the isle of Man. It is 721/2 feet in diameter, 6 feet in breadth, with a crank stroke of 10 feet, and gives 200 horsepower.-New York Sun.
