Confession has from time out date been deemed proper on the part of those who have done something that is not right. It is one way of breaking the force of a wrong act. To confess and ask pardon has saved many a man from the vigorous enforcement of the extreme penalties of the law. Judge Bell of Blair county understands the far reaching nfluence of confession, and recently promised Blair county offenders light sentences if they would confess, and twenty-two prisoners immediately acknowledged their guilt.

Lightning Kills a Lover-

The one shall be taken and the other left, finds an illustration in the work of a stroke of lightning on Sunday, June 27, in an orchard at Thib bet's Brook lane, Kingbridge, N. Y., in which a young man and woman who were lovers were struck by lightning. He was killed and she was severely injured. The man's name was Charles Fennelly aged 33; The woman's name was Louisa Castelloaged 22. They had quarreled, but that Sunday morning met at church and made up the quarrel and walked to the above named orchard and sat down under a cherry tree, and having a great deal to say to each other, neither noticed the flight of time nor the dark bank of clouds, which had gathered in the western

There was finally a muttering of distant thunder, and when a few drops of rain fell the lovers started up and walked out of the orchard, intending to go home. Louisa took off her hat and Fennelly threw his coat over her head. When they reached the road the rain began to fall heavily, and the lovers, thinking that the storm would soon blow over, determined to return to the shelter of the

Starving amid plenty is a hard fate, yet such was the case of a diffident bridal couple that staid for a week at the Hotel Netherland recently. They came up from the south, and the period of reconstruction did not seem to have left a mark upon their open and genial characters. The trip was made, and in the course of a few hours' fishing a dozen or more trout were caught. As the Ellsworth storged to pick up his fish he no-them that was breathing his last. In unison with the opening and the closing of the gills something having the appearance of legs was stretched out from the fish's body. He called to his companion to see what manner of fish he had caught, but that individual calmly remarked: "Oh, that's one of those trout with legs I was telling you about. They're all that way in this pond."

Examination proved this to be the fact. Each fish was supplied with six legs-three on each side-which folded so closely to the body as to be hardly noticeable except on close inspection. But they were legs sure enough. The pond where these remarkable fish were caught is situated on Saddleback mountain. It is a small pond, covering only about 20 acres, and has neither inlet nor outlet. It is said that there is a similar pond on Mount Katabdin where the six legged trout are caught. The fish caught by the Ellsworth man were exhibited at Bangor. He will not say that the trout may still be caught. Possibly they have taken to the land and walked off.-Ellsworth (Me.) Ameri-
