

SENTINEL & REPUBLICAN

WEDNESDAY, SEP. 30, 1896.

B. F. SCHWEIKER,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL
TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM McKINLEY,
of Ohio.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
GARRET A. HOBART,
of New Jersey.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE,
GALUSHA A. GROW, of Susquehanna.

FOR ELECTORS-AT-LARGE,
JOSEPH VANDERGRIFT, of Philadelphia.
ALEXANDER E. PATTON, of Clearfield.
WILLIAM WITHERSON, of Allegheny.
PETER L. KIMBLEY, of Mercer.

District Electors.
1 Dr. J. S. Pearson, 15 Henry C. Prevost 2 Allen B. Horke, 16 J. B. Brown, 3 Frank B. Hendler, 17 Fred H. Eaton, 4 Leon L. Meyer, 18 G. H. Miller, 5 Wm. M. Taggart, 19 R. H. Shidell, 6 Jos. H. Huddell, 20 Geo. T. Swank, 7 Wm. F. Soley, 21 A. C. White, 8 John F. Fries, 22 W. N. Randolph, 9 Ren. L. Johnson, 23 E. Wertheimer, 10 John M. Landis, 24 Joseph Speer, 11 Everett Warren, 25 Ed. E. Abrams, 12 W. W. White, 26 W. N. Randolph, 13 Harrison Bell, 27 William Schuur, 14 D. W. Miller, 28 Jos. C. Campbell.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY
TICKET.

Congress, THAD. M. MAHON of Franklin Co.
Senate, WILLIAM HERTZLER, Legislature, CARL F. ESPENHAGEN, Associate Judges, W. NORTH STERNETT, LAWYERS, MAJOR.

Prothonotary, W. H. ZEDLER.
District Attorney, WILHELM SCHWETZ.
Co. Commissioners, MICHAEL R. BASHORE, J. LUDWIGSEN,
Co. Treasurers, W. H. LARSEN, Co. Assessors, T. K. BAKER,
H. H. HARTMAN.

"MAJOR McKINLEY was nominated by the republican party, not because of his view on the currency question, but because he is the typical representative of the policy of Protection.

It was the desire for the re-establishment of Protection that compelled the Major's unanimous nomination, and the democratic candidate must not be allowed to dodge that issue."

This Bryan wing of the brawny democrats have a banner swinging across Bridge street, dedicated to Bryan and Sallow, but alas for forgetfulness or intended slight, they omitted to put the name of the second vice Presidential fall on the banner. They failed to put the name of vice-presidential candidate Watson on the banner. So the glorious banner is minus one tail.

Bryan's shadow on the dial plate of coming events is having a depressing influence in every department of life.
It effects even the schools as may be learned from an article that we published in another column taken from the Chambersburg Repository. Read the article. If Bryan's shadow is so depressing what will be the effect when the man himself appears upon the stage of Government action.

"The Vermont farmers know that there was no chance of their getting hold of any silver or gold either—no matter how free and unlimited the coining, so long as there were no wage earners to buy their eggs, hay, butter and vegetables. And American workmen have not been earning wages with which to buy the farmers' products since the Wilson law started in on its task of destroying American industries, of shutting down American factories, and of giving to the cheap labor of Europe the work which should have been done by American workmen."

"Lumber producers in the United States are a unit in demanding the restoration of the duty on imported lumber. The free admission of Canadian lumber has played havoc with the saw-mill industry here, and the mischievous will increase in volume every year till there is a Tariff placed on lumber. The Canadian competition has cut down market values here so far that the Canadians themselves freely admit that they are making nothing on their sales in our markets, although they can produce more cheaply than our own lumbermen can. Free lumber is a free trade in our producers, and what is true in the case of lumber is quite as true in the case of other important products."
"Lumber World," Buffalo, N. Y., September, 1896.

At the time of the passage of the Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wilson stated that the march toward Free-Trade had just begun, the first step taken, some of our friends, making the mistake of procedure to that of a certain man who set out to cut off the poor animals tail at one stroke, but cut off an inch or two each day until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained, but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did not go far enough." His policy would be to give only one stroke and that one just behind the ears. Mr. Wilson had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid to touch upon the subject. But voters will give a final stroke to his ambitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with some of the habitues over the amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the cabbage and the young men went to work. Conn ate six pounds and French five and a half pounds. Both became violently ill and died after a few days' illness, having suffered great agony.

McKINLEY AND MINERS.

Fine Record of the Next President of the United States.

REPRESENTS THE TOILERS

In the Great Cause of Protection to American Industries.

COMPARED WITH BRYAN.

McKinley Was His First Public Recognition as the Defender of the Coal Miners.

While Mr. Bryan Was His First Public Recognition in a Speech in Favor of Free Trade and Equal Opportunity for European Industries in American Markets.

The Democratic managers are seeking to represent Mr. Bryan as the especial representative of the toiling masses. But Major McKinley is, in fact, a better representative of the men who toil on the farms and in the shops than is Mr. Bryan. He represents the cause of protection to American industries, while Mr. Bryan represents the cause of free trade and labor America's cause.

Major McKinley came by his present position not only through brilliancy of intellectual achievement, but through fidelity to a fixed principle. His record in the past is a public office was a record of laboring men who were on trial for burning the works of a coal mining company at Massillon, O. The miners were on strike, and during the strike some one fired the works. More than a score of miners were indicted and placed on trial, charged with incendiarism. Major Mc-Kinley was a young attorney at Canton.
He had never been thought of for public office and had no ambition for any other success than that of a lawyer. He was engaged to defend them. Public opinion condemned the men without trial, but William McKinley took up their cause with such earnestness and made such a defense that the majority of the men were acquitted. McKinley is, in fact, a better representative of the men who toil on the farms
and in the shops than is Mr. Bryan. He
represents the cause of protection to Ameri-
can industries, while Mr. Bryan represents the cause of free trade and labor America's cause.

Old lawyers in Ohio who heard McKin-ley's defense of these men predicted a brilliant future for him at the bar, and the element of Protection that compelled the Major's unanimous nomination, and the democratic candidate must not be allowed to dodge that issue."

This Bryan wing of the brawny democrats have a banner swinging across
Bridge street, dedicated to Bryan
and Sallow, but alas for forgetfulness
or intended slight, they omitted to
put the name of the second vice Presidential fall on the banner. They failed
to put the name of vice-presidential
candidate Watson on the banner. So
the glorious banner is minus one tail.

Bryan's shadow on the dial plate of
coming events is having a depressing
influence in every department of life.
It effects even the schools as may be
learned from an article that we published in another column taken from
the Chambersburg Repository. Read
the article. If Bryan's shadow is so
depressing what will be the effect
when the man himself appears upon
the stage of Government action.

"The Vermont farmers know that
there was no chance of their getting
hold of any silver or gold either—
no matter how free and unlimited the
coining, so long as there were no
wage earners to buy their eggs, hay,
butter and vegetables. And Ameri-
can workmen have not been earning
wages with which to buy the farmers' products since the Wilson law
started in on its task of destroying
American industries, of shutting
down American factories, and of giving to the cheap labor of Europe
the work which should have been
done by American workmen."

"Lumber producers in the United States are a unit in demanding the
restoration of the duty on imported
lumber. The free admission of Canadian lumber has played havoc with
the saw-mill industry here, and the
mischievous will increase in volume
every year till there is a Tariff placed
on lumber. The Canadian competi-
tion has cut down market values here
so far that the Canadians themselves
freely admit that they are making
nothing on their sales in our markets,
although they can produce more
cheaply than our own lumbermen
can. Free lumber is a free trade in
our producers, and what is true in
the case of lumber is quite as true in
the case of other important products."
"Lumber World," Buffalo, N. Y., September, 1896.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

At the time of the passage of the
Wilson bill, when Free Trader Wil-
son stated that the march toward Free-
Trade had just begun, the first
step taken, some of our friends, mak-
ing the mistake of procedure to that
of a certain man who set out to cut
off the poor animals tail at one stroke,
but cut off an inch or two each day
until the whole was gone. Free Trade
Bryan agrees with Free-Trade
Wilson as to the result to be obtained,
but differs with him as to the method
to be employed. He was not satisfied with the Wilson bill, because,
according to his own words, it "did
not go far enough." His policy would
be to give only one stroke and that
one just behind the ears. Mr. Wil-
son had his first inch, while Mr.
Bryan wanted a chance to give a
final stroke. But now Bryan is afraid
to touch upon the subject. But vot-
ers will give a final stroke to his am-
bitions on the third day of next November when they vote for McKinley
and Protection.—American Economist.

An Eating Match.

A story from near Youngs, Some-
set county, says two young men named
Conn and French got into a discussion in a country store there with
some of the habitues over the
amount of raw cabbage each could
eat. French beat he could eat more
than Conn and the wagers were put
up. The store-keeper furnished the
cabbage and the young men went to
work. Conn ate six pounds and
French five and a half pounds. Both
became violently ill and died after a
few days' illness, having suffered
great agony.

THE STATE COMMITTEE.

Splendid Reports Received from Every County.

DEMOCRATS FOR McKINLEY

An Encouraging Meeting of the Republican State Committee.

BIG MAJORITIES ARE PROMISED.

An Interesting Gathering of the Leaders of the Party Held at the Headquarters in Philadelphia—A Detailed Report of the Condition of Affairs in Every Part of the Keystone State—Literature Is Being Sent Out in Wholesale Quantities.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—The meeting of the Republican state committee at the Thirteenth and Walnut streets headquarters last Tuesday was attended by about thirty members of the committee. The Philadelphia present were Messrs C. H.
Heustis, Harry Hunter, H. S. Moore, P.
Laubach, J. L. Baxter, E. A. Abrams and Thomas J. Powers.

Chairman Elkins, in opening the proceedings, made a neat and appropriate speech, in which he said it was expected that the Keystone state would, in November next, give the high water mark majority for McKinley and Hobart. He described the character of work that the committee had done, and said that in the last eight weeks 8,000,000 documents had been distributed among the voters of the state. He stated that these documents were three hundred and sixty thousand voters had been addressed, and 70,000,000 stamp used. There had also been distributed 160,000 photographs of McKinley and Hobart and 100,000 campaign buttons.

Representatives from various counties were then heard from. Allegheny promised through Mr. Johnson, 40,000 majority; and Mr. Stevens and hundreds of Democrats in the western part of the country were willing and ready to vote the Republican ticket.

A "16 to 1" Vote.
S. B. Cochran, of Armstrong, said that although his county reported an agricultural district there would be about "16 Democrat to 1 going the other way." E. M.
Pennell, of Bedford, also made a gratifying report, while Mr. Plank, of Berks, said the "Gibraltar of Democracy" was swinging into the count money column, and the bulk of the Democracy would be found voting the Republican ticket.

Mr. Hamilton, of Blair, stated that the mechanics of the Altoona shops, who were now idle, would show why they were idle by voting for McKinley and Hobart in November, and there would be a Republican majority in the county of 6,000. Mr.
Dodge, of Bradford, also promised an increased majority from that county.

Mr. Black, representing Butler county, admitted that there were few Republicans tainted with the free silver craze, but this would be more than offset by the number of Democrats who would vote the Republican ticket. Mr. Mahlon, of Centre,
admitted that there were few Republicans
tainted with the free silver craze, but this
would be more than offset by the number
of Democrats who would vote the Republi-
can ticket. Mr. Mahlon, of Centre,
admitted that there were few Republicans
tainted with the free silver craze, but this
would be more than offset by the number
of Democrats who would vote the Republican ticket.

Mr. Shaw, who spoke for Clearfield, complimented Congressman Arnold in that district, and said that what the Democrats were principally doing was attempting to steal the congressional district, but that they would not be able to defeat Arnold.

Mr. McGee, of Clinton, said his county became Republican three years ago. In the farming district there was some free silver sentiment owing to the industry of the free laborers, but he was hopeful that the Republicans, but he was hopeful that McKinley would carry the county by from 600 to 700 majority. Mr. Brown, representing Columbia, described dissensions among the Democrats there which the Republicans were taking advantage of.
Mr. Hudkins, of Luzerne, reported that the county would be carried by fully 500 for the entire Republican ticket. Mr. Graham, of Clarion, predicted that his county would be taken from the Democracy and placed in the Republican column.

Mr. Shaw, who spoke for Clearfield, complimented Congressman Arnold in that
district, and said that what the Democrats were principally doing was attempt-
ing to steal the congressional district, but
that they would not be able to defeat Arnold.

Mr. McGee, of Clinton, said his county became Republican three years ago. In
the farming district there was some free
silver sentiment owing to the industry of
the free laborers, but he was hopeful that
the Republicans, but he was hopeful that
McKinley would carry the county by from
600 to 700 majority. Mr. Brown, representing Columbia, described dissen-
sions among the Democrats there which the Republicans were taking advantage of.
Mr. Hudkins, of Luzerne, reported that
the county would be carried by fully 500
for the entire Republican ticket. Mr. Graham, of Clarion, predicted that his county
would be taken from the Democracy and
placed in the Republican column.

Mr. Shaw, who spoke for Clearfield, complimented Congressman Arnold in that
district, and said that what the Democrats were principally doing was attempt-
ing to steal the congressional district, but
that they would not be able to defeat Arnold.

Mr. McGee, of Clinton, said his county became Republican three years ago. In
the farming district there was some free
silver sentiment owing to the industry of
the free laborers, but he was hopeful that
the Republicans, but he was hopeful that
McKinley would carry the county by from
600 to 700 majority. Mr. Brown, representing Columbia, described dissen-
sions among the Democrats there which the Republicans were taking advantage of.
Mr. Hudkins, of Luzerne, reported that
the county would be carried by fully 500
for the entire Republican ticket. Mr. Graham, of Clarion, predicted that his county
would be taken from the Democracy and
placed in the Republican column.

Mr. Shaw, who spoke for Clearfield, complimented Congressman Arnold in that
district, and said that what the Democrats were principally doing was attempt-
ing to steal the congressional district, but
that they would not be able to defeat Arnold.

Mr. McGee, of Clinton, said his county became Republican three years ago. In
the farming district there was some free
silver sentiment owing to the industry of
the free laborers, but he was hopeful that
the Republicans, but he was hopeful that
McKinley would carry the county by from
600 to 700 majority. Mr. Brown, representing Columbia, described dissen-
sions among the Democrats there which the Republicans were taking advantage of.
Mr. Hudkins, of Luzerne, reported that
the county would be carried by fully 500
for the entire Republican ticket. Mr. Graham, of Clarion, predicted that his county
would be taken from the Democracy and
placed in the Republican column.

Mr. Shaw, who spoke for Clearfield, complimented Congressman Arnold in that
district, and said that what the Democrats were principally doing was attempt-
ing to steal the congressional district, but
that they would not be able to defeat Arnold.

Mr. McGee, of Clinton, said his county became Republican three years ago. In
the farming district there was some free
silver sentiment owing to the industry of
the free laborers, but he was hopeful that
the Republicans, but he was hopeful that
McKinley would carry the county by from
600 to 700 majority. Mr. Brown, representing Columbia, described dissen-
sions among the Democrats there which the Republicans were