Despatches from large towns and cities throughout the country indicate that for a great many men are over anxious for a war with Spain, but the American people are not thoughtless hot heads. The great majority feel that American interests shall be properly protected in Cuba no matter how the troubles between the island people and Spain may be adjusted, but such a feeling and such a purpose does not imply that this people desire to rush into battle like an unthinking horse. War is not to be thought of excepting as a last resort for the protection of National interests and National honor.

The great little island of England was shaken violently by an earth quake last week. In some parts of the island buildings were partly tumbled down. People were terrified. It is not probable that the sea is about to swallow England. The sea has every once in awhile within the history of man evinced a swallowing appetite and should it some of these days swallow the island it would be a surprise, but would be an act perfectly in keeping with earthquake precedents. We are told that long, long ago, the great Atlantis stretching from Gibraltar to America was swallowed within the period of a day and a half.

The funeral of Fred Stone son of Dr. D. D. Stone of Washington, D. C. took place from the National House on Monday. The deceased had been long out of health and late last summer as a last resort determined to go to Arizona with the hope that a change of climate might restore his health. His sister, Ellie Stone accompanied him, but alas, there was no cure for Fred and on Sunday, December 13, he sank to the better state of rest that knows no awakening till the dawn of a brighter and better life on resurrection morn. Mr. and Mrs. Stone and the other members of the family came from Washington to attend the funeral and to see the body that loved one placed in the family burial lot in the Presbyterian cemetery in this place.

John P. Leach of Patterson, telegraph lineman, was severely hurt on a telegraph pole near York, Pa., on Tuesday morning. He was adjusting a wire on an upper cross piece when an insulator sprang loose and upwards striking him on the right side of the nose, completely covering the eye. The end of a wire wrapped around the insulator penetrated his nose at the corner of the eye. The blow knocked him senseless and he sank limp and seemingly lifeless across one of the arms of the pole, and there hung a startling and terrifying sight to the group of linemen at work on the ground. Two men speedily climbed the pole and brought him from his perilous position. He appeared like a dead man for the period of about two hours when he revived and consciousness was restored. He was brought to his home in Patterson the afternoon of the same day, and is doing as well as can be expected.

All the past autumn some wild animal that had its hiding place on the ridge north west of Patterson was chasing the chickens of people living along the ridge. Some said it was a panther; some said it was a wild cat, a catamount, and some came down among the domestic animals and pronounced it a common house cat, but the number of chickens disposed of and the terrific catervault gotton off occasionally disposed of the tame cat theory. Some people who had not been disturbed pronounced the tales fresh of imagination. The animal seemed to have a preference for the chickens of Charles Rowe and Ephraim Shores, and last week the thing made bold enough to take up quarters about Shores' stable, and that was the beginning of the end of the beast. Shores was on the lookout for it. Neighbors armed themselves to get a pop at it. It fell however to the lot of North Sulzoff to bring the career of the festive beast to an end. Just at nightfall last Sunday evening he shouldered his double-barreled shot gun and walked to Shores' fencer. He was going around a corn fodder stack, when down from the top of the stack pounced the animal just in front of him. He quickly aimed and shot, wounding the animal sufficiently to cause it to leap at him, at the same time screaming loud enough to bring the people out of the houses in that neighborhood. Another leap and the beast would have been on him, but he was too quick for it and gave it the contents of the second barrel of his gun, and that stretched it on the ground. It was a wild cat. Its length was 29 inches. It weighed 9 pounds.

To Potato Growers. I have a limited quantity of extra varieties of potatoes raised from seed costing $6.00 from regular seedmen, which I will sell to persons wishing to improve their seed at a much less price, if applied for soon. B. F. BURKHFIELD, Mifflintown, Pa., Dec. 22nd, 1896

Santa Claus Candy. The time of "peace upon earth and good will to man," is not only for spiritual refreshment, and a consecration to the teachings that came with the babe in the manger, but it is a time when people look well to supplying the inner man and inner children with the good appetizing things that were made for people to eat. Jesse Hove has been moving right along with the advancing column by furnishing people old and young with the 1896 Santa Claus candy. Candy of all kinds and colors, red white and blue and all intermediate shades, and with flavors to suit all tastes. Some of his candies are so finely flavored that sick people are almost tempted to eat them. His place is just the room to drop into to secure a choice assortment of the best candy going in these days of improved candy making. Be certain to give him a call. When you come to town ask for his place. Everyone knows that his place is opposite Court House square on Main street. Don't miss the place. Ask if you can't find it. It will pay to buy at his place. 2t.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla has over and over again proved by its cures, when all other preparations failed, that it is the One True BLOOD Purifier.

The Crop Outlook for South Dakota in 1897. It requires but a small amount of rain-fall in South Dakota to mature the crop. During 1896 South Dakota had up to September 30th, three and seven tenths inches more of rainfall than for any of the previous six years. Since September 30th there has been added at least three or four inches to the excess, making a gain of nearly eight inches more than the average. Early in November there were heavy rains, depositing over two inches, and since then there have been heavy snows, and about a foot of snow covered the ground on November 25th. Dakota farmers have abundance of hay and great supplies of oats, barley and corn. Wheat has advanced to about seventy cents a bushel in the local market, and prospects for further advance are good. The ground will come out in the spring better soaked than ever before. The prospect for better prices next year is good. There are thousands of people in the east who could do no better than to go to South Dakota now and buy their seed and feed for next year and move out in the spring. First class farming land in South Dakota along the lines of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, can now be bought for $10 to $15 an acre. The creamery industry and stock-raising in South Dakota will greatly increase during 1896. For further information address W. E. Powell, General Immigration Agent, 410 Old Colony Building, Chicago or H. F. Hunter, Immigration Agent for South Dakota, 295 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill. Dec. 9, 2t.
