MONASTERIES OF METEORA.

An Extraordinary Scene on the Maced nian Frontier. Between the curve of the Mace nian frontier of the mountains of Khassia and the open town of Kalabaka, which terminates the long western plain of Thessaly, lie the monasteries of Meteora. A casual glance gives the idea of the whole space being occupied by lines of bare hills, but on a nearer inspection a curious amphitheater is found, carved out among the mountains, and this is occupied by a most extraordinary collection of rocks, on which are perched, like storks' nests or the turban on a Turkish tombstone, the aerial monasteries of Meteora. In one place a large monolith is found literally crowned with buildings, as in the Pulp Fiber Is Found to Make a Very
