1898. Quite a number of farmers and others attended the first session, the institute was duly organized by electing the following efficers, for Edwin Davis; Vice President, S. opened by prayer by Rev. Ga thrie. The address of Welcome was delivered by Mr. Gu thrie, in an able and intelligent manner. One of the leading thoughts in his remarks was "How to protect the country church," that this was one of the great problems, the gentleman spoke highly of temperance, of a higer standard in agriculture, and that the men do ing the work were in a senso under bondage, even down to the last cen tury, but that now things have changed, and that men avail themselves of the opportunities accessible to all Response by Col. A. S. Shellenberger, "How to purchase fertilizers," said there was a mended farmers to do so.

"The feeding and management of dairy cows," by Dr. Martin, who had 27 years experience, was a lesson for every farmer. "Lime and its constituent elements," by Dr. Armsby from State College, showing the difference of value in limestone, said that much that is called time is really not lime. "The bright side of life," by

Dr. Martin. "Possil ilities of the country home" by Miss Emma Sieber, was a master ful production, the subject matter of the paper proved to the satisfaction of every intelligent mind that great care and deep thought was exercised to depict before the mind, that the the possibilities of a country home, far exceed those of a city home, taking into consideration the surround-

A few comments in reference to these farmers institutes may possibly be in order, the prejudice existing with some of our people that these meetings are purely grange gatherings is simply a mistake, those who wish any information in reference to this matter, will find that there was an urgent demand for higher attainments for those follow ing the pursuit of agriculture, both in a social and intellectual point of view, and in order to aid them in the Root, the great kidney, and bladder attainment of this much needed remedy is soon reslized.
