HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—Governor

Hastings issued a writ to the Sheriff of Allegheny county this evening authorizing him to hold a special election

Twenty-third Congressional district, created by the resignation of Governor-elect William A. Stone, who tendered his resignation the day after his election.

The famous Professor Koch says that women withstand exposure to malarial climates far better than men. During the appalling mortality on the Gold coast within the past four years there was hardly a death among the women while every kind of man was dying—men men to the tropics, men born in tropical, men who had been accustomed to them for years.

Rev. John Wilbur Langley, of the M. E. Church, died at his parsonage in Philadelphia on the 1st inst., of paralysis aged 67 years. He was a Virginian.

Before the civil war he preached for the Methodists of Mifflintown, and was considered an eloquent man.

To-day there are people living here who believe that he was the most eloquent preacher they have ever listened to.

When out hunting, always be certain you know what you are shooting at; by so doing you'll never shoot a thing you don't want to shoot. Don't stand resting your arm or hand or body against the muzzle of your gun. Don't pull your gun with the muzzle toward you. Don't walk carelessly with the muzzle of your gun pointing front, unless you have the muzzle elevated or depressed so that no harm can come if the gun is discharged. When on the alert to shoot game that runs or takes to the wing the gun of course is muzzle front, but the sportsman then is on the alert and it is not then that accidents happen unless the sportsman shoots at an object he does not know what it is.

By carrying a gun stock forward, drawing a gun stock forward, and keeping from resting hands or arms on the muzzle, one is almost beyond the reach of accident from gun shots.

Bloomfield Democrat November 8.—

A traveler recently stopped over night at the residence of Rev. Isaac Ely, in Toboyne township, and after he had left the next morning it was discovered he had stolen $40 from the vest pocket of Henry Ely, a son. The vest was hanging in the room where the stranger slept. As soon as the loss was discovered the man was pursued, but could not be found.

The residents of Toboyne township are greatly annoyed by petty thieves, who steal corn, chickens, etc., continually.

Recently, Michael H. Shearer, who resides above New Germantown, discovered a man in his corn field helping successful farmer and business man.

He was one of the best of citizens and in his death the community loses one who was a substantial supporter of all of the best interests of society generally.

His funeral is to take place at 1:30 o'clock p. m., this Wednesday. Interment in the Presbyterian cemetery.

THE EVIL EYE

How Its Curse in One Case

Was Removed.

From Gentle Woman.

I was rather surprised to see the other day a paragraph from a well known London paper, apropos of popular superstitions, stating that the belief in the evil eye had now almost completely died out.

Why, if the writer had only cared to inquire of the village people of the enlightened county of Norfolk he, or she, as the case may be, would have called down quite a shower of well-authenticated (?) tales of this occult power for evil on his devoted head!

Only a few years ago, in a village which I know well, a strong, healthy, middle-aged laborer suddenly refused to leave it, because he had said, "been overlooked by a man popularly credited with the evil eye."

In vain were remonstrances of doctor and parson. No, he was "a doomed man;" nothing could save him unless he could "happen o' her" with her back turned; if he could see her back without seeing her face, she could "take it off, in coose," he asserted ("it" being the curse); but the question was how it was to be accomplished.

Weeks went by and at last an expedient was hit upon, and Giles consented to get out of bed; he also allowed that if the squire would let him "set along o' his coachman, on 'is' coach-box, when he drove into 'is' town," she would never think of looking for him up there, and he might catch a glimpse of her before she could "clap her eyes" on him.

The squire's coachman, who was a kind-hearted man, took him up several times when he happened to be passing with the empty brougham; till one day the carriage pulled up, and the muffled

his cottage a saved man!

He had "happened o' her" in his little slip of a garden, hanging on the linen she had been washing and she had "never as much as tarned her hid" to look at him!

SHE IS FOR MCKINLEY.

He was arguing with his wife.

He wanted his wife to point out to him benefits derived from the election of McKinley.

"Tell me," he cried, pointing his finger scornfully at his wife,

"Tell me, if you can, what McKinley has to do for the prosperity of the farmers; point out, if you know how, where the tolling masses on the farms get one direct benefit from him and his Protective Tariff policy."

"Oh, husband," and she stamped her foot lightly, betraying the impatience which she felt, "how can you be so inconsistent? Where did you get the money to buy the few hundred dollars' worth of Government bonds, which made you feel so good? What did you sell?"

"Sheep," and he flinched before the argument which he knew was coming.

"Yes, sheep. Your business sense was better than your political sense, thank goodness. When McKinley's election was assured didn't you buy sheep? Didn't you think they would go up? What made you think that? Was it because you thought that more wool or less wool would improve under the laws he would give us?

Didn't you know that his Tariff law, his Protective Tariff law, on wool would shut out most of the cheap wool that was coming from the four corners of the earth, and that the law would enable our home farmers to raise wool at a profit? Hasn't that made sheep go up in price? Isn't that where you get your profit? Answer me."

But he answered not.

"Now, think of this," she proceeded. "Taking the average of all our people, the country over, it takes the wool of one sheep to supply the needs of each person, possibly a trifle more. In 1897 it took about 81 pounds to reach person, while the average weight of a fleece of wool was about 61 pounds. Yet on a basis of the amount used in 1894, 1895 and 1896 that quantity would have very nearly supplied each person. Then we have it, one person, one sheep needed.

We have over 72,000,000 inhabitants, but how many sheep? Look up the Government records and you will find that in 1893 we had about 47,000,000 in the entire country, enough to supply a little over half our wool. Did the Tariff reform party that was in power then try to help you and me by saving our home market for us?

You know as well as I do that they put wool on the free list, so that it could come from everywhere; and in four years our flocks dwindled down so that in 1897 there were only about 36,000,000 sheep in the country, not enough to supply half our wool.

"Why this decline? It was because the American farmer could

Letter from a Woman

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy frequently cures several members of a family. While it is considered by many to be a Kidney and Bladder Medicine, it is just as certain to cure Dyspepsia, Constipation, Rheumatism, Scrofula and Eczema. This is because it first puts the Kidneys in a healthy condition, so they can sift all impurities from the blood. Healthy blood practically means a completely healthy body.

Here is a letter from Mrs. Capt. FETTER RACE, of N. Y.: "My husband was troubled with his kidneys, fearfully with shooting pains through his back. He took Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and is now well and strong. Although seventy years of age, he is as hearty as a man many years younger. I was so troubled with Dyspepsia that it was painful for me to walk. My food did me no good, as my stomach could not digest it. Somebody recommended Favorite Remedy to me, and after taking two bottles of it I was completely cured, and am feeling splendid now. We both attribute our good health to Favorite Remedy."

It is prescribed with unfailing success for Nerve Troubles, and for the Liver and Blood it is a specific. It has cured many that were beyond the aid of other medicine. Ask your druggist for it, and insist upon getting it. Don't take a substitute. It will cost you $1.00 for a regular full-sized bottle.
