

THREE SONGS.

A post in the rosy prime And blithe and dewy morn of time, Whose song was natural as breath, Three songs sent forth to fight with death.

And one he made to please the crowd, It pleased them, and his praise was loud; It pleased them greatly for a day, And then its music died away.

And one he made to please the few, It lived a century or two; 'Twas sung within the halls of kings, Then vanished with forgotten things.

And one he made to please himself, Without a thought of fame or self, But sent it forth with doubt and fears, And it outlasted all the years.

No other song has vital breath Through endless time to fight with death Than that the singer sings apart To please his solitary heart.

General Eagan's language is not fit to be published in a newspaper, but with all that, his remarks have to be published to show what class of men he belongs. To say that he said something not right, is not telling it right, to tell it right, is to tell what he said, that is the reason his blackguard utterance is published.

Aged Husband (after a domestic storm)—Well, you can do as you please about going to this ball, but if you go I shall call on my lawyer in the morning and after my own mind there. Young Wife—Oh, no, you won't! You seem to forget that when I married you I absorbed all the will power in the firm.—Chicago News.

Bloomfield Democrat.—Two of the most successful hunters in Perry county are H. V. and J. W. F. Hartzel, sons of the late Hartzel, of Wheatfield township. During the last hunting season they killed four wild turkeys, twenty-six pheasants, two hundred quail, four hundred rabbits and about twenty squirrels. This probably beats the record of any other two hunters in the county.

Complaints are coming from a number of counties in Pennsylvania, that horses are taken from barns and stables in the country, at night, and used and returned sometime before day light. The evidence that a horse has been out is plainly revealed by the appearance of the animal. Sometimes the horse is left at another barn miles away from the one from which it was taken. Some one will get hurt at this business.

Sheriff May, of Westmoreland county last September submitted to the appointment of his right arm above the wrist, and he is now contemplating another amputation of the same arm. His amputation of the same arm "in the fingers such excruciating pain" that he suffers of the amputated hand" that he cannot sit to it earned, and sold as canned rabbit meat. The fur will have been able to give but little attention to his office duties, and can obtain relief only, it is believed, by the cutting off of another section of the arm.

Chambersburg Repository, January 11.—Henry Struck, who says he lives in the South Mountain "beyond the furnace" in Greene township, brought forward 45 foxes, male, vixen and cube, to Squire Haulman on Thursday, and making affidavit that he had killed the former, thereof laid claim to the bounty of $1 per scalp. He said he had sent them to the happy hunting grounds in August, September and October last but lacking proof of the fact that he killed them in this county the Commissioners have not yet paid him the $45 for exterminated Reynards.

Henry Sulouff died at his home about 4 miles north of Mifflintown, at 2 p. m., January 14, 1899, aged 78 years less 1 month and 1 week. He was born in Tuscarora Valley, and lived most of his days in Juniata county. He was a soldier in the Mexican war. He owned a farm on the foot hills of Shade mountain where he lived in comfort and enjoyed himself with his family up to the time when gangrene set in one of his feet, and from that time on it was but the beginning of the end, which came as stated above. Interment in Union cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

Hard on General Eagan's beef. J. Harvey Scott, of Pittsburg, was connected with Battery B, Pennsylvania Volunteers at Porto Rico, says the beef sent to Porto Rico was bad. "I only ate the beef for three days, as it turned my stomach, but from what I saw of it I don't think it was very good. I saw the cook throw a piece of it his dog and the dog took one to his dog and then threw up its head and ran away. I remember one day I was detained to help bury a mule which we had to shoot, and at the same time we buried a lot of beef, and I must say that the beef smell was more offensive than the dead mule."

Captain A. Wilson Norris, Assistant Adjutant General, of General Gobin's brigade, died unexpectedly about 5 p. m., on the 13th inst., after eating dinner at the Harrisburg club house. He had come the day before from the camp of the 2nd Army Corps at Augusta, Ga., to attend the Governor Stone's inauguration. Immediately after dinner he was taken sick. One doctor after another was summoned, but all were of no avail. He was a son of Dr. John C. Norris, of Clinton county. When his parents died, he was adopted by his uncle the late Colonel A. Wilson Norris. He was a lawyer by profession, but when the war with Spain broke out he dropped his law books and became a soldier. He was an able public speaker. He was 28 years old. He died of heart failure, caused by acute indigestion.

Howard Smith, of Sellinggrove, Snyder county, is in the 10th United States Infantry in Havana, Cuba. The young soldier wrote home to his father in Sellinggrove about their arrival in Havana the day before Christmas. Among other things he said in the Sellinggrove Tribune was this.—We had to march through Havana in order to reach our camp and such a reception as we got, I never seen before, the streets were almost covered with flowers which the pretty girls threw at us.

Such a class of people I never seen before, the aristocrats are dressed in silks and the streets are full of poor naked children.

I wish you could see this place at mess-time, the poor Cubans come by the scores, to gather up the refuse.—At dinner time to-day a small boy was standing by my side watching me eat, he did not have a stitch of clothes on. I gave him a few hard-tacks.

Bloomfield Times, January 12.—One night this week, Dr. E. E. Moore, of this place, was startled about 11 o'clock by the jangling of an electric burglar alarm, which connects the doctor's house with the stable. He hastened out to investigate, and saw to his alarm that the stable was a blaze of light. He immediately concluded that the building was on fire, and that one of the back doors had fallen from its hinges thus springing the alarm. He rushed to the barn, only to find everything quiet. The electric light, however, was twisted entirely off and was lying on the floor. This was rather remarkable. The doctor began an investigation, his dog assisting. "Tip" sprang into the hay-mow and soon caught on to the situation. The situation evidently didn't like it—you could tell that from the general trend of its remarks. The doctor seized a pitchfork and got up on the mow. He found a man there. The fellow wore rather good clothes, and a dog on one of his legs. He must have been a lover of animals for the dog and he were already strongly attached to each other. The doctor suggested that he come out of that. The man objected. The doctor backed up his suggestion with the fork.

The man saw the point of argument, and came down. The doctor persuaded the dog pulled and the man swore and at last they all got out in the open air. "You can go and sleep in the jail," said the doctor. "Or come back and sleep on the pitchfork." He left, and whether he went to jail or not, "he never came back."

CALIFORNIA.

Extraordinary Tour via Pennsylvania Railroad.

America is a great country. In variety and grandeur of natural scenery it is unrivaled. To traverse it, to behold its diversities and its wonders, is a liberal education and a revelation to the immured metropolitan citizen. The Personally-Conducted Tour to California under the direction of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which leaves on February 9, affords a most excellent opportunity to view the vast variety of boundless scenery in this marvelous land. The party will travel over the entire route in the model Pullman train of smoking, dining, sleeping, and observation cars, exhibited at the World's Fair, Chicago, and subsequently at Atlanta, Nashville, and Omaha. This train will be placed in service for the first time on this occasion, and will be in charge of a Tourist Agent and Chaperao, who will look after the individual welfare of members of the party. Stops will be made at Mammoth Cave, New Orleans during Mardi Gras Carnival, El Paso, Los Angeles, San Diego, Riverside, Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Monterey, Del Monte, Santa Cruz, Mount Hamilton, Menlo Park, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Glenwood Springs, Colorado Springs, Manitow and Garden of the Gods, Denver, and Chicago. Nine days will be spent in California. Round-trip rate, including all necessary expenses during entire trip, $400 from all points on the Pennsylvania Railroad System east of Pittsburg; $395 from Pittsburg. WE HAVE HEARD OF THE BOY WHO WANTED TO EAT HIS CAKE AND KEEP IT TOO, BUT NEVER BEFORE OF A BUSINESS MAN WHO SOLD HIS GOODS AND THEN GAVE THE PURCHASER CREDIT FOR THE AMOUNT PAID. To learn about this send to JAMES VICKS SONS, of Rochester, N. Y., who agree to do this in their Golden Wedding Edition of Vicks' Garden and Floral Guide is certainly an artistic work, with its twenty-four pages lithographed in colors, and nearly one hundred more pages filled with handsome half-tone illustrations, photographed from Flowers, Fruits, Vegetables and homes.

While this Guide is really too expensive to give away, they give it with a Due Bill for 25 cents worth of seeds for only 15 cents. Another new feature is the doing away with the old packet of Vegetable Seeds and stating the quantity in each case, the buyer getting more for his money.

VERY SMART HORSES.

"Big Jack" is not the only intelligent New York horse that Mrs. Gabriella E. Jackson tells about in the article, under that title, in the January 12 issue. There are, she says, a great many very clever and very beautiful horses in our big city. Indeed, Wee Winkles and I know several ourselves. "Billy Borden," for instance, who knows his milk route so well that his driver has only to say, "88 West Sixty-sixth, Billy," or "89 West Sixty-sixth, Billy," to have him go at once to these addresses, or any other with which he is familiar. Again, he will say: "No milk here to-day, Billy," and Billy jogs on. Then there is "Dan Sorrel," who draws the milk wagon that takes the milk to Central Park Dairy every morning. His driver often amuses the children that gather about his pet by saying: "Now, Dan, I believe you are a Democrat."

"No," shakes the head. "What is a Republican?" "Yes, yes, yes!" and a stamping of both front feet, while the tail is slashed about like a banner to emphasize his sentiments. Dan is great fun. Nor must we forget our old pet "Jingo," of the mounted policemen's horses; for he was truly wonderful, and I might go on almost endlessly telling of his remarkable sagacity and cleverness.

Jingo and Wee Winkles were warm friends, for Winkles spent two winters in a home very near the West Seventy-second street entrance to the park, and each sunny day carried her lump of sugar to Jingo, who would perform all sorts of tricks in order to win his reward. He would walk, go down upon his knees, shake hands, fetch a pocket-handkerchief that she made believe she had dropped, whisper in his rider's ear, and do many things besides.

Letter from a Woman

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy frequently cures several members of a family. While it is considered by many to be a Kidney and Bladder Medicine, it is just as certain to cure Dyspepsia, Constipation, Rheumatism, Scrofula and Eczema. This is because it first puts the Kidneys in a healthy condition, so they can sift all impurities from the blood. Healthy blood practically means a completely healthy body. Here is a letter from Mrs. Capt. Peter Rice, of N. Y.: "My husband was troubled with his kidneys, and suffered from shooting pains through his back. He took Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and is now well and strong. Although seventy years of age, he is as hearty as a man many years younger. I was so troubled with Dyspepsia that it was painful for me to walk. My food did me no good, as my stomach could not digest it. Somebody recommended Favorite Remedy to me, and after taking two bottles of it I was completely cured, and am feeling splendid now. We both attribute our good health to Favorite Remedy."

It is prescribed with unfailing success for Nerve Troubles, and for the Liver and Blood it is a specific. It has cured many that were beyond the aid of other medicine. Ask your druggist for it, and insist upon getting it. Don't take a substitute. It will cost you $1.00 for a regular full-sized bottle.

Sample Bottle Free

If you want to try Favorite Remedy before buying, send your full post-office address to the Dr. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, Rondout, N. Y., and mention this paper. They will send you a free trial bottle, all charges prepaid. This genuine offer is made to prove to everybody that a wonderful medicine it is.
