At this point Judge Lyons vacated the bench and Judge Bell, of Hollidaysburg, took charge of the Court to hear the argument in the case of Margaret and Mary Leonard vs. Samuel Leonard. This case was tried at the April term, 1898, before Judge Bell. A new trial was granted and the matter now before the Court is the disposition of the question of costs in that trial and the determining wheth er or not plaintiffs amended state-ment should not be stricken from the record. After argument the Court held the matter under consideration.

THE CRY OF THE DREAMER.

I see tired of planning and tolling in the crowded hiver of men. Heart werry of latiding and spoiling And spoiling and indiding again, And I long for the dear old river Where I dreamed my youth away, for a dreamer live forces. for a dreamer lives forever, And a toiler dies in a day.

I are sick of the diony spening, Of a life that is half a lig. Of the faces lined with scheming In the throng that lauries by, From the simpless thamples' endeaver I would go where the children play-For a dre mer lives forever, And a thinker dies in a day.

I can feel no pride, but pity.
For the burdens the rich endure;
There is nothing sweet in the city
But the patient lives of the poor.
Oh, the little hands too skillful.
And the cild mind choked with weeds,
The denvitor's heart grown willful. The daughter's heart grown willful, And the father's heart that bleeds! No. no; from the street's rude bustle,

From the trophics from mart and stage, I would fit to the wood's low ristle And the meadow's kindly page. Let us dream as of yore by the river, And be loved for the dream alway.

For the dreamer lives forever,
But the teller dies in a day.
