THE CHALICE OF TEARS.

His small hands bore a heavy cup Along the garden way: It was so brimmed with tears, he could Not set it down and play.

'Oh, come with us!" his comrades cried; "Ob, come! The flowers are sweet, And other little angels wait The coming of our feet."

He slowly shook his drooping head. And said in piteous tone, "I cannot play; my mother weeps ecause she is alone."

Their gentle, loving eyes grew dim; They passed along the From one to one, until at last A great white angel heard.

And, soon commissioned, he took flight, Past cloud and moon and star: Swiftly he winged his way to earth, ere grievous troubles are.

And in the midnight hour to one Whose check still bore a tear, While breath came sobbingly, he caused A vision to appear.

She saw her baby, tired and sad, His fingers clasping tight Her cup of tears, which he had borne or many a day and night.

"He cannot rest," the angel said, "Nor run along the way. He cannot smile till you have smiled, And bade him sing and play.

BEMS FOR LEAN POOKETBOOKS fait Stones as Good as Any. Manufacturers of imitation jewelry aave lately met with such great success that it is said the sale of genuine lewelry in this city is less than even before, and it is also said on good authority that large amounts of capital are soon to be invested in the manufacture of imitation jeweiry. For some time past it has been possible to obtain imitation jewelry in France and Enrland which is difficult of detection by experts, but the business has never be fore been taken up in this country to any great extent. The principal manufacturers expect to deal in jewels of their own manufacture which are said to be extraordi narily fine imitations of the real stones and will have a guaranteed life o twenty years. The "diamonds" are a composition of glass, lead and carbon tipped with platinum, which is harden than gold. Every real stone, except i liamond, is transparent; without the lip of platinum these "diamonds" would also be transparent, but with it they tre given an undetectable resemblance to the genuine stone. These goods are mounted in 14-carat gold and so artislically that, when worn, the platinum upping cannot be seen. An infinite vatiety of designs, copied from the bes ceal models, are shown and at a price which is about 80 per cent. less than the genuine. All the colored stones-rubles, sap phires, emeralds and turquoises are ilso manufactured in a like way and tre similar, with the exception of the urquoise, to the doublet, except that they are much harder and are made of real stone (garnet) and crystal. They tre so hard that the surface can be filed and no blemish made on the stone. As genuine pearls are the most costly of gems, so do the imitation pearls take the lead in price. They are made of ishskin and a secret composition. The manufacture of some especially good

On the road he was joined by a fellow be Devereux. They put up one night at a roadside tavern, occupying the same room. Next morning the treasurer was found dead in bed, his throat cut from ear to ear. His companion had disappeared, and the saddlebags, with their contents, were also missing. The country side was aroused, bloodhounds were brought out, and a fierce chase of some hours resulted in Devereux being run down and captured. There was no question but that he had been the murdered man's companion the night before, but none of the missing money or papers were found upon him.

These were the facts in the case, When the news passed from traveler to traveler along the country roads, and there was a tremendous sensation, further heightened when the damning circumstances of his businessaffairs came to light and made clear the motive of the crime.

Nevertheless, many of his friends were still loyal, strong family influence was exerted in his behalf, the best lawyers were employed, and every effort was made to free him from the consequences of his awful crime. All without avail. He was tried, found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. The higher courts decided against him on appeal. The Governor refused to interfere, and Devereux occupied a cell in the fail at the little town of St. Stephens, closely guarded, within a few days of the date appointed for his execution, with all prospects of escape seemingly cut off.

In spite of the enormity of his crime, thère began to be a great deal of sympathy for the man who lay in jail awaiting death. His youth, his handsome face, his graceful, dignified bearing, his calm courage, his perfect manner and his unfailing persistence in the declaration of his innocence all comblaed to produce this effect. He expressed no an most y toward with esed, judge, jury or prosecutor, simply stat was an unfortunate victim ing that he or remarkable circumstances, from which he could blame no one for drawing the mistaken inference of his guilt. Not many days before the one fata lay the sheriff found the prisoner visbly agitated, and in an excited state, noticeably different from his usual a'mness. In answer to the officer's question as to the reason, Devereur gave the following explanation:

"I have had," he said, "a most extra ordinary experience. It came to me last night in the form of a dream, so real, distinct and different from the usual hazy dimeess of ordinary visions that I believe it to be the premonition of an

There is more Catarra in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to ours with local treatment, pronounced it in-curable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in dones from the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred deliars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and test-monials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Draggists, 76.
