Such distinguished women of the time as Madame D'Arblay and Mrs. are ashamed to wear clothes before Montagu were Mrs. Hunter's friends. She wrote poetry, and her lyric, "My mother bids me bind my hair," is immortalized by the musical setting given to it by Haydn. ## My Mother Had Consumption

"My mother was troubled with consumption for many years. At last she was given up to die. A neighbor told her not to give up but try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. She did so and was speedily cured, and is now in the enjoyment of good health." D. P. Jolly, Feb. 2, 1899. Avoca, N. Y.

Cures Hard Coughs

No matter how hard your ough is or how long you have had it, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best thing you could possibly take. But it's too risky to wait until you have consumption, for sometimes it's impossible to cure this disease. If you are coughing today, don't wait until tomorrow, but get a bottle of Cherry Pectoral at once and be relieved. It strengthens weak lungs.

ARION GREY was the child of wealthy parents, having been brought up in luxury and een brought up in luxury and given a good education. Her mother fied when she was 12 years of age, leaving her father to rear his motherless child as best he could.

His business did not prosper after his wife's death, and through the dishonesty of his partner he became almost reduced to bankruptcy. He went to work with the men that he had formerly employed, working night and day, straining his eyes to their uttermost, and finally causing total blindness. At this he sold his property and Marion was obliged to go to work. She engaged a small tenement and searched daily for work, but to no avail. On returning home one day, tired and disheartened, her father said to her: "Marion, Mrs. Young called here to-day, and is going abroad with her husband, and would like to find a trustworthy person to take the care of her little boy, Harold. She heard of our circumstances, and thought that you might take this position as governess, and yet be near your old father.

What do you think about it, my dear?" "Well, father," said Marion in a cheerful tone, for she never allowed Book in the purchase of "Red Cross" and her father to see her downhearted, "do you think that you could stand the annoyance of this child, for he is but 5 years of age and has been indulged

"Marion, I have loved you from first sight, my dear," said Reginald. "But, Reginald, what of my father? I love you, but I cannot leave him." "You and your father shall never be separated," he answered. After spending some time in making promises and endearing words, he bade her a fond good-by. That evening Marion told her father the whole story.

A little later on she received letters from Reginald, and often wondered why he did not speak about his people in them, but, thinking that the year would soon pass, and having her time taken up with Harold and her father she decided that on his return she would ask him about them. As time passed away rapidly, Mr. and Mrs. Young returned from abroad and took Harold home, paving Marion well, On her next visit to Marion and her father Mrs. Young stated that she wished her to come with her a few days to help prepare for her older son's home-com-

KNOWLEDGE OF BELF.

Dr. Sully remarks that children begin to acquire a knowledge of "self" when they are a few months old, and may be served grasping, striking, and biting their own hands or feet. A boy, whose feet were stained with new stockings, cried to his mother. "These ain't the feet I had this morning." The trunk is first recognized as part of self; then the head is regarded as the seat of intelligence. A child will "make believe" that it is more than one self, and personify its members. He had been at work scarcely five minutes yesterday when one of his fellow workmen gave a cry which directed the attention of the entire forcest work to the awful situation into which Connor had got himself. Bending over the molten liquid, his head and chest completely immersed in its depths, he was holding by his hands to the edge and trying, apparently, to draw back from the terrible position into which he had fallen. It was at once evident that onnor had somehow missed his footing and fallen partially into the boiling

Everyone expected to find his face and chest a hideously charred mass and some of the men had already turned away their eyes rather than gaze on the terrible sight they expected would be presented. But to the amazement of s rescuers, save for the loss of his hair, Connor was absolutely uninjured. Not a disfigurement, not a burn, not even a blister was to be seen. The workmen were badly scared by the seeming marvel. Later the puddling manager explained the matter to the men. A combustible body may be preserved from ignition when in contact with a source of heat by being surrounded by an atmosphere of vapor. In the case of Connor the man had be gun to perspire and on contact with the nolten metal this perspiration formed a gaseous covering that protected his skin.
