

BETWEEN TWO LOVES

CHAPTER III.—(Continued.)
These were the girls in the room. Martin Ray grew pale. The girls looked startled and surprised. The silence was not broken.

CHAPTER IV.
Gen. Sir Arthur Hutton and his wife were soon settled in their new and magnificent home. To Leah it seemed almost a miracle that she was in the whirl of a life so full of interest and excitement.

CHAPTER V.
During the next three years Leah Hutton was the very queen of fashion. She was more popular, more sought after, more admired, more beloved, more envied than any other woman of her day.

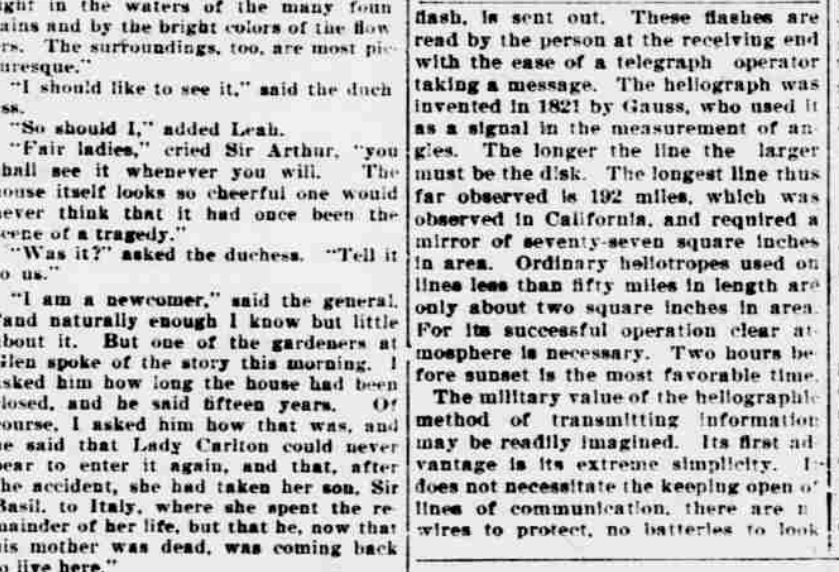

CHAPTER VI.
The Duke and Duchess of Rosedale were dazzling ones. The young Earl of Barbary was handsome, talented and passionately fond of her. No, she would not be Countess of Barbary. There was a Duke of Lincoln, who had country seats, a town mansion and untold wealth.

CHAPTER VII.
The Duke and Duchess of Rosedale were the highest compliment a man can pay to the woman he loves is, "The thought of you is home."

Not So Much of an Angel as a Sympathetic, All-Forgiving Human.
"Man has a number of fixed, old-fashioned notions about the ideal woman which are quite apart from questions of complexion and dress."

HELIOGRAPH IN WAR.
The heliograph, or heliograph, has played an important part in the South African War. With this little instrument the light of the sun is used to convey intelligence to points far distant.

Parley Neutralizes Onion Odor.
Parley should always garnish a dish containing onions, as it takes away the odor most people object to. It even prevents the after taste if eaten by the individual who loves onions and must have them.

How It Happened.
"Be the man who has evidently been sex at large." Never try to sign a street-car conductor when there is a pretty girl on the opposite side of the track, unless you are a pretty girl yourself. It's hopeless.

SERMON BY Rev. Dr. Calmidge

Subject: The Needle's Haven—An Appeal for Mercy for Oppressed Women Who Let Her Have an Equal Chance With Man in the Work of Life.
WASHINGTON, D. C.—This discourse of Dr. Calmidge is an appeal for mercy in behalf of the oppressed women who are struggling for a livelihood; text, Ecclesiastes, iv, 1, "Behold the tears of women who are oppressed, and they have no comfort."

Very long ago the needle was busy. It was considered honorable for women to sit in olden times. Alexander the Great stood in his palace showing garments made by his own mother, the queen of Macedonia.
