SENATOR QUAY'S case is to be voted on or before April 15. The track has been cleared for that date Al speeches on the subject will have been delivered by that time and the Senate will act up to its privilege o being the judge of the qualification of its own members. Governor Stone and Colonel Quay's friends con tend that a state is entitled all the time to its full representation in the United States Senate so that the state may have a voice in voting or the important questions that from time to time come before the body. and therefore he should be admitted and should long ago have been seated. They contend that when a Leg islature fails to elect a Senator a vacancy is created and it becomes the duty of the Governor to fill the vacancy till the next meeting of the Legislature. The opponents of that contention argue that a Governor of a state has no right to appoint a Senator unless a Senatorial seat becomes acant during the vacancy of the Legislature. Around these two poin debate has been going on all winter
