MUTILATED MONEY.

SAVE THE FRAGMENTS AND UNCLE SAM WILL REDEEM THEM.

One of the most interesting departments in the United States treasury is that devoted to the redemption of mutilated currency. To it are sent all varieties of bills la every conceivable stage of mutilation. It is seidom that the experts cannot decipher the burned crisps or piece together the myrlad fragments. The collection is a curious one, changing every day with kaleidoscople rapidity. The burning of a note usually brings out its design in a sort of metallic relief upon its surface, and by means of a glass and other implements and also a full and complete knowledge of the intricate designs, no two denominations being alike, on every note issued their face value is learned with incredible dexterity.

Some arrive in fairly good condition. some shrunken and water senked, others searched black and twisted out of shape; many are merely thin, tiny black flakes, and in one case now under consideration the evidence consists of a small bandful of black powder, which the affiant swears was $65, accidentally blown into the fire.

Often the mischief has been done by mice, handfuls of the tiniest of pieces attesting the evil ways of the rodent. Babies are another source of trouble, manines, victims of drunken frenzy, plowsbares, sawmills-in fact, the strangest and most unheard of accidents are occurring all the time. But in a great majority of cases the money tice among people who are their own bankers seems to be the keeping of their funds in unused stoves. A cold day comes, the fire is lighted by some unsuspecting person who "didn't know It was loaded," and the owner suddenly finds that he had money to burn in splte of himself.

In one instance a man having $7,000 parlor stove. While he was plowing his fields company arrived, his wife nite term except in one meaning as had a fire kindled, and shortly he made the unpleasant discovery that his riches had taken wings. Had he sent the money just as it came from the stove, wrapped in cotton, it might have been saved, but in endeavoring to separate it it became so churned and ground up that the department was able to identi fy only about $2,000 for him.

An old woman who had accumulated about $600 was one night at her devotions, when the candle in some myste rious manner was overturned in the midst of the money. Now, history does not relate why it was there or whether she was returning thanks or paying a of her friends picked them out again An exchange says: - Lumber has there was only enough left to return But much more fortunate were an

Of course the greatest precaution is necessary, and the affidavits must leave no doubt as to the utter and en tire destruction of the missing parts of the notes. In one case of this kind a farmer sent from Kansas some green. backs amounting to $50, only half of ner, but on consulting the books it was found that one-half the sum had al-

Thereupon the cashler who had transacted the business for the farmer wrote such an indignant letter, saying the government had impugned the honesty of the claimant and that he would prove him in the right, that the affair was put into the hands of the secret service, the proofs exhibited and the imprudent farmer fined $1,000 for false swearing .- New York Tribune.

Christening Florida. As to why Ponce de Leon gave the name Florida to the territory now known by that name, the Florida Farmer and Fruit Grower quotes from an old book published in 1763: "Gave it the name of Florida because it was first seen in Easter, called Pasqua de flores in the language of his country. or as Herrera alleges, because it was covered with flowers and the most beautiful blossoms." And The Farmer adds: "Those who have seen the wealth of flowers which still commemorate and adorn its return car well believe that both these reasons influenced the giving of its name."

Players Who Are Forced to Quit Be-"Few realize how many musicians are obliged to go out of the business on account of deafness," said an old musician to a reporter. "Only a few of the thousands of players in the country become famous. The great mass of them plod along day after day in the same old path. When one of us drops out, no one cares to inquire why, but many times the reason is deafness and nothing else. "Loss of hearing is particularly the affliction of those who play brass instruments. A cornetist who has played in Kansas City orchestras for many years has stopped playing now be ing. SAVING AN OLD PAINTING.

Ingenious Method by Which It Was Transferred to New Canvas. "Did you ever hear of transferring an old oll painting to a new canvas?" said a well known art connoisseur of this city. "One would declare at first blush that the thing was absolutely impossible, but I saw it done with a picture over eight feet square, and the operation was a perfect success. The painting to which I refer had been a fine example of the early Italian school, but it had lain forgotten in a garret for many years and had become so incrusted with dirt and grime that it was impossible to distinguish any of the details. Ordinarily it could have been cleaned without trouble, but the damp and mold of two centuries had rotted the canvas until it was ready to fall apart at a touch, and scrubbing was, of course, out of the question. That was the condition of things when it was taken in hand by an expert restorer from Belgium who happened to be in the city. The first thing he did was to give a huge sheet of thick manila paper firmly to the face of the picture. Then he turned it over carefully and picked off every particle of the old decaying canvas, revealing the rear surface of the paint itself. It was a big job and required no end of ly removed, and nothing was left but the fragile shell of pigment. That he covered with the strongest fish glue, and a new sheet of canvas was spread over it and pressed down.

"In a few hours it was perfectly dry, and the painting was as firmly attached to its new foundation as if it had been there from the start. Nothing then remained but to take off the manila paper, which was readily done with hot water. After that the surface was thoroughly cleaned, and the pleture is now almost as bright and clear as it was when it left the painter's -New Orleans Times-Democrat.

England's Boy Choirs.

Julian Ralph, writing of "The Choir Boys of England," in The Ladies' ne Journal, says: "Small boys are much preferred, for the reason that they develop into manhood later than big, stalwart children, for it is at the coming of manhood that their voices break and they are obliged to stop singing until their adult tones are reached-a matter of years. A boyish treble is as delicate as the bloom on a peach, and its possessor must lead an orderly and innocent life, which is why so many choirs are made up of boys taken from their homes and boarded and taught in church institutions These, sometimes, are able to sing until they are 17 or 18 years of age though between 14 and 15 is the usual period when their voices break."
