The pension office has made public the fact that out of eight volunteer regiments serving in the Spanish war there has been sent in 3,588 applications for pensions. This government can hold the Philippine Islands that came into its possession in the most unexpected way. When the war with Spain broke out the number of American people was small who had knowledge of an American fleet and a Spanish fleet near the Philippine Islands, and when the telegraph announced the destruction of the Spanish fleet and the capture of Manila, it was a revelation that could scarcely be believed.

Now the democrats want to run Bryan for the Presidency on the condemnation of the McKinley government, because it did not call off the American navy after the destruction of the Spanish fleet. They say call off the American navy and army and let the Philippines do with Manila and the islands as they please.

Easter morning was bright and when the Presbyterian church bell on Sunday morning summoned the devotees of Easter sun-rise service to worship, the sun was showing itself grandly to Mifflintown people over the top of Stouffer's ridge east of town. It was a bright sight and awakened a train of resurrection day thoughts with the ding, dong of the church bell as the summons of "arise ye dead, come to judgment." A good many that heard the bell at that early hour never thought of resurrection day and judgment hour, but wished the bell in the bottom of the sea for having disturbed their slumbers on the only morning of the week when they can supplement the night's sleep with a long nap in the morning.

In the Banks drug store there is a Canada lynx. You desire to know how it got there, they will tell you, if you ask. It is a nice specimen of an aged lynx, perfectly harmless for it is stuffed. It is a mere semblance of its former self, but yet sufficiently lifelike to look formidable as is evidenced by the fright it gave the other day. A dog belonging to the place was not there when the stuffed animal was brought in and stood on the floor under a table. After awhile the dog came in and in a familiar way just as he had done a thousand times before sauntered leisurely to the back part of the room. When opposite to the table under which the lynx is, his eyes caught sight of the lynx, his eyes caught sight of the dog, and he turned tail and ran for the door, and it was some time before he could be made to understand that it is not dangerous now.

Sheets and a man named Weller murdered Glessner for money. Weller confessed and was sentenced to the penitentiary for a period of 10 years. He said he was induced by Sheets to help in the murder. Glessner had drawn a large sum of money and drank till he was a good deal intoxicated. They followed him out of the little town of Berlin, struck him from behind with a fence piling and killed him. Sheets took the murdered man's money. The escaped convicts had not been caught last accounts.
