HONORING THE GALLANT DEAD.

The 30th of May was a beautiful and balmy day, well suited for the strewing of flowers on the graves of the gallant soldiers who served against rebellion. Here at Mifflin-town at the call of the Post, command Lieutenant David H. Wilson, No. 134, assembled in the head quarters at half past 5 o'clock, P. M., and with the Sunday School children of Patterson and Mifflintown headed by the post drum corps, all under the command of Captain McClellan, marched to the Lutheran cemetery and decorated four veteran graves. Then proceeded to the Presbyterian cemetery and there decorated thirtythree veteran graves; thence they marched to the Court Honse-yard and decorated the Soldiers' monument; thence they proceeded to the Court House where the Memorial service of the G. A. R. was held.

The address made by President Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg in 1863, was read by adjutant W. H. Rodgers, after which the G. A. R. memorial service was delivered by asked. commander A. H. Weidman and G. W. Wilson.

After which the Post returned to their head quarters and after a few remarks from the post commander the post was dismissed. A 3 o'clock P. M., a committee from Post 134 G. A. R., proceeded to the Union cemetery and decorated the graves of 35 veterans. The Post returns thanks to the Loyal League for the beautiful boquet sent them for each veteran's grave and also to the citizens for

THE MAN WITH A CLAIM.

Puthetle Figure Who Is Regularly

The most pathetic figure at a town eeting is the man with a claim. The man who has the claim or grievance goes to the selectmen each spring and has them out an article in the warrant bringing this matter up. Some years he goes into town meeting himself and urges his claim. In other years for he sake of variety he will hire some of the local lawyers to present the matter in the best manner possible. Usually the man is listened to, though the whole thing is horribly familiar to every voter in the town.

Then, when all the oratory has been spilled into their ears, some long cared man from the back districts will rise and will drawl with a grin:

"Move we pass over that article," and forthwith the article is passed over with a whoop. And the man is around next year as usual. It is a curlous thing, but the average town appears always ready to repudiate these matters of long standing. I have heard voters admit that certain claims against their town were perfectly legitimate and perhaps ought to be paid, but they are of the coterie that regularly votes against granting the appeal of the petitioners.

Why? Oh, well, it's "an old matter," and the town is irritated by the persistence of the man who keeps coming to claim his own. When a town gets set in that direction, there is no repudiation so 8 his finger on the spot I had located at heartless and so conscienceless as that which marks its action. You see, the blame is so equally divided. Refusing joke. Even the man who at last with awakened conscience gets up and urges his fellow citizens to do the right thing and pay the bill is smiled away as a chap that means well, but doesn't -know what he is talking about.-Lew Iston Journal.
