He will support republican measures. On questions involving the general good he will vote for the general good. He will vote for a republican for United States Senator, fifst, last and all the time. There was no reason why the libra rian should not have refused at once and peremptorily to appoint him, but he chose to follow another course. "I never have, but I'd like to see it." replied the politician.

"It will give me much pleasure to so with you," said Mr. Putnam. Mr. Putnam took him behind the counters and through the building from top to bottom, explaining the character and the magnitude of the work in detail. He further pointed out, without seeming to do so, the varied duties of the employees and the attainments they must possess to do the work. When the tour was ended, Mr.

Putnam said: "I'm pleased to have had a chance to show the library to you, and if your friend will fill out an application blank and send it, and if he passes the neces-sary examination, I think there will be no difficulty in placing his name on the waiting list."
