THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.—State Superintendent Wickersham says in his report touch ing the vexed question of reading the Bible in the public schools: "In 14,500 of our 17,000 schools it is now read without giving serious offense to anybody. In all the remainder, so far as can now be seen, it could be read with like acceptance by excusing any children from being present at the exercise whose parents, on the ground of conscientious scruples, desire it. If the work of the school be so arranged as to allow the Bible reading to take place at the close of the day, neither loss of time or disorder need result from a part of the pupils quietly leaving the school room at a given signal. Hundreds of teachers now adopt this plan, thus keeping the Bibles in the schools and at the same time doing no violence to the conscience of any one."

A SAD CASE -One of the officers of the police force was approached yesterday by a young strong, intelligent-looking man, very raggedly dressed, who said he was a tramp, and begged to be arrested and taken before the Recorder.-The officer smiled at this strange request, but offered to accompany him to the Recorder's office, and allow him to confess his offenses to that official. He was accordingly taken before Mr. Armstrong, and interrogated.

"He said that he had been employed upon the Erie Canal during the past summer, was thrown out of work at the end of the season, and had not been able to get anything to do since, and was now worn out with travel and fatigue, halfstarved, and in a wretched condition generally. This being the case he begged the Recorder to ish's. sentence him to some prison or penitentiary until the time arrived when he could be able to get work again upon the canal. The man was so evidently honest and sincere in his request and his condition was so unfortunate, that considerable interest was aroused in his behalf, but the only thing which the Recorder could the Poor, where he would be able to obtain a meal and lodging for the night.

Many of the tramps are evidently what aecessity has made them, and cases like the above arouse a sympathy for the class which nothing else can excite. - Binghamton Times.

PASONING CASE. There is considerable exitement in Pittston over a case of suspected vife poisoning. A man named Milburn employed by the Butler Coal Company as a miner and residing in one of the tenement houses on York avenue, was arrested January 4th, on complaint of the neighbors, for neglecting to provide for his family-a wife and five children His wife has since died, and it is generally believed her death was caused by poison administered to her by her husband while she was ill. Tuesday afternoon the Coroner, Dr. Pendegast accompanied by Dr. Gampert of Wilkes-Barre, held an inquest over the body. Several witnesses were examined, and all united in declaring the man a worthless, good for nothing tellow, who let his family depend on the charity of his neighbors, but for whose charity they would have starved. The daughter, a girl of thirteen or thereabouts, testified that she saw her father put a white powder into some chicken-broth he prepared for her mother, and he cautioned her not to touch it on any account. Afterwards, on learning that she had tasted it sell satisfactorily, he threw it all away and washed the bowl and spoon carefully, as he had been in the habit of doing after giving her medicines. Whenever Milburn gave her medicines, she became dreadfully ill, and also after eating the chicken broth he had prepared for her. She told the woman who attended her that she saw something white in the bottom of the dish, and refused to eat anything from him from that time forth,-That, in connection with the daughter's story, aroused their suspicion. The contents of the stomach have been sent to Dr. Ludwig, of Scranton, for examination, where they are at the present writing. When arrested, Milburn was found in an upstairs room in Mrs. Herriot's saloon on Main street. Officer Stetler, accompanied by James Baker, went there for the purpose of taking the man into custody, and were told by Mrs. Herriot that he had not been there since the Saturday previous. They refused to be satisfied without a thorough search, and demanded to be shown through the honse. She refused, giving trivial excuses about the rooms not being in order, &c., but the officers were firm, and she went up, with the request that they would remain below. This was also refused, but she was allowed to go into the first room alone. After some time they demanded an entrance, which, after some further objection; was granted. Here they found Milburn on a sofa, evidently having just arisen from sleep. They took him away and placed him in Wilkes-Barre jail, where he now is. Mrs. Herriot, it is reported authentically; visited himday before yesterday. The man has been in the habit of staying at Herriot's the greater part of his time; and never spent any of his wages for the support of his family. His wife | Van Loan Crank At the home of the was regarded as a very good respectable woman, and inclined to hide rather than parade her troubles. The children are in a destitute condition, and sadly need the ald of the charitably disposed.
