

The Lancaster Convention.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 22.—The Democratic state convention met in Fulton hall at twelve o'clock, m. Hon. Hendrick B. Wright, chairman of the state central committee, called the convention to order. He counseled order and decorum. Hon. Wm. H. Playford, of Fayette was elected temporary chairman of the convention by an almost unanimous vote. Mr. Playford returned thanks for the compliment. He advised harmony and advised the exposure of corruption wherever it existed and said there should be no hesitancy in declaring for right principles. Corruption should be investigated even if it implicated the President of the United States.

By the adoption of a resolution the usual committees were appointed; an organization on credentials and on resolutions. H. W. Tyler, of this county, was made a member of the committee on organization. Adjourned.

The convention reassembled at half past four o'clock. Robert E. Monaghan, of West Chester, was elected permanent chairman by a unanimous vote. Fifty vice presidents and numerous secretaries were elected.

Mr. Monaghan delivered an address after which Mr. Wallace, chairman of the committee on resolutions, reported the following platform which was adopted:

The democracy of Pennsylvania, in convention met, reasserts its oft repeated declarations of devotion to all of the provisions of the federal constitution and to a perpetual union of the states pledges itself to rigid fidelity to public trusts, to a pure and economical administration of the federal state and municipal governments, to local self-government in every section to honest payment of the public debt, and to sound preservation of the public faith.

They see with humiliation and alarm, the evidences of bribery, fraud and speculation in high places, the distress that prevails and the wide spread of financial ruin that impends over the people of the state, and they charge that these evils are the direct result of the present government, the unwise legislation, vicious financial policy, extravagance and corruption of the republican party and its officials, and inviting all of every shade of political opinion who believe in official purity and fidelity, in the adjustment of financial questions upon a sound basis, having regard for the interests of the whole people and not of a class, in the recognition of the final settlement of all questions submitted to the arbitration of the sword, and in a policy which under the constitution keeps abreast of the progress and civilization of the age to unite with them, they declare.

First. That the civil service of the government has become corrupt and is made the object of personal gain, and infidelity to public trust has become the rule and not the exception. We believe that honesty capacity and fidelity are the only tests of fitness for public station, and that the wholesome penalties of the law should be used with vigor to enforce official accountability.

Second. That the recent and repeated exposures of fraud and corruption in the administration of public affairs call for a searching and thorough investigation of the conduct and condition of every branch of the public service to the end that all corrupt practices may be brought to light and that all who have abused and betrayed their public trusts, whatever may be their station, may be exposed and punished; and we urge those in charge of the subject at Washington to prompt thorough and exhaustive examination of their respective fields of labor.

Third. That retrenchment and economy are indispensable in federal state and municipal administration as an essential means toward lessening the burdens of the people, and we commend the efforts of the house of representatives for the reduction of the expenditures of the federal government to a just standard and their determination to lessen the number of useless officials.

Fourth. That general amnesty to all persons implicated in the late rebellion against the government of the United States who have not already been relieved from disabilities by the action of congress and by the President would be an allowable and proper exercise of governmental power in the year of the centennial celebration of American independence, and that the recommendation of such a measure by President Grant in a public message and its endorsement and passage by a republican house of representatives at former session, constitute full proof that such a measure is fit, judicious and timely.

Fifth. That the democracy of Pennsylvania cordially approved of those provisions of the state constitution to wit: The eighteenth section of the third article and the second section of the tenth article which protect not only school funds but other public moneys from appropriation to sectarian uses, and that they fitly illustrate that doctrine of the separation of church and state which has always been a cardinal one with the democratic party.

Sixth. That the statute for the resumption of specie payments on the 1st day of January 1875, is impossible to execute, and it is a deliberate proclamation that at that date the United States will go into bankruptcy. It paralyzes industry, creates distrust of the future, turns the laborer and producer out of employment is a standing threat upon the business man and ought to be forthwith repealed.

Seventh. That gold and silver are the only true basis for the currency of the republic and that congress should take such steps for the resumption of specie payments as will most surely and speedily reach that result without destroying the business interests of the people.

Eighth. That the present depression of all our national industries which checks the wholesome flow of capital through the channels of enterprise and denies to honest labor a decent livelihood is the direct inevitable fruit of extravagance and of reckless and dishonest republican tampering with the finances of the country and we denounce the authors of that legislation as officials who have unsettled the foundations of the state and of the home. We call upon the people to aid us to halt them in this fatal career, and to set their faces in the direction of practical measures which shall eventually enable the treasury of the United States to keep its pledged faith with rich and poor alike. We demand legislation through the power of the federal government which shall give us performance for premises, and restore solvency to the nation by restoring prosperity to the people.

Resolved, That in common with the people of our sister states, we rejoice in the opportunity to celebrate the centennial of the proclamation of our emancipation from the government of the British crown, marking as it did the epoch of modern history and feel a just pride that its celebration should be upon the soil of our own commonwealth and in the city where independence was declared.

Wm. A. Wallace, of Clearfield, Heister Clymer, of Berks, A. H. Dill, of Union, and H. M. North, of Lancaster, were elected delegates at large to the National Convention.

This Congressional district will be represented in the National Convention by R. A. Packer, of Bradford county, and Wm. H. Dimock, of Wayne county. J. B. McCollum was made presidential elector for this congressional district.

On account of sickness, Mr. E. M. Tiffany, one of our Representative delegates, was unable to attend the convention.

"Ralston" Caught at Last.

THE SHARPEST THIEF IN THE COUNTRY COMES TO MEET EIGHTY-TWO INDICTMENTS.

The New York World says: On Wednesday evening an arrest was made in this city which it is believed will prove one of the most important ever made, and which will go far towards completely breaking up the gang of bond forgers whose skillful manipulations have disquieted Wall street at intervals for the last four years. The four chief originators of these series of forgeries, which embraced counterfeiters on the bonds of the New York, Buffalo and Erie, New York Central, Central railroad of New Jersey, Central Pacific, Chicago and Northwest and Union Pacific railroads, were Andrew Roberts, Gleason, Spencer Pettus, and Walter Sheridan, the last of whom is the individual who, after a chase of over three years, was captured at eleven o'clock Wednesday night at the foot of Deebross street, while landing from the Pennsylvania railroad ferry boat.

Walter Sheridan, alias Walter Stewart, alias Charles Ralston, is a native of New Orleans, La. He was well educated, and was esteemed a lad of great promise. His first appearance as a public character was in 1860, in Missouri when he turned up as a horse thief. He was then about thirty years of age. Soon after, Sheridan and Joe Morgan were arrested for robbing a hotel in Chicago, Ill. Sheridan was sentenced to five years imprisonment at Alton penitentiary. He served his time out, and so conducted himself as to be known as one of the smartest sneak bank thieves in the country and as a first-class "confidence man." He was concerned in the Blatchford robbery some years ago. Before this, in 1868, he was concerned with Charles Hicks in the robbery of the First National Bank of Springfield, Ill., by which the bank lost $30,000. Sheridan was afterwards arrested and taken to Springfield for trial, but escaped, it is alleged, through a "packed jury." At the time he was arrested for this robbery he had over $22,000 on his person. Sheridan was also a partner in the sneak robbery of the Maryland fire insurance company, of Baltimore, when $120,000 was taken; and with George Curson as his "pal," he stole $37,000 worth of bonds from Hanley's bank, at Scranton, Pa. Sheridan, with Gleason and Roberts, put up the original capital for the great Bank of England forgeries; but all of them withdrew from the partnership with McDonald, considering him "unsafe," he was so fond of women. Sheridan was afterwards engaged in the $40,000 robbery at Cleveland, O. (for which "Jesse" Allen, "The" brother, and Griffin were convicted); but escaped arrest, as on numerous other occasions. In 1872 and 1873 he came to live here, having his headquarters at No. 60 Broadway where he kept an office ostensibly for the sale of fancy stone work. At this time he was known as Ralston. He bought a membership in the produce exchange which it is said he still holds. Sheridan took $102,000 worth of forged New York and Buffalo and Erie bonds to the New York Guaranty and Indemnity company, and so well was the work done that he obtained a loan of $70,000. He also got a loan of $30,000 from the National Trust company on the same security. He was hunted vigorously, but until Wednesday night without success, though the police force of the United States was watching for him. His time has been spent partly in Europe and partly in this country.

During his visits here he was traced to

Salt Lake City, Omaha, and in almost every place of note, east or west, he left a memento of his visit in some skillful robbery. His final return from Europe was made about three months ago, since which time he has been west earning a somewhat scanty living, as appears from the emptiness of his purse at the time of his arrest. He is married, and has one child and relatives living at Sandusky, Ohio, and Hudson, Michigan. He is a man of good address and scrupulous deportment. He dresses with great plainness, avoiding all flashy appearance, and is considered, by reason of his talents and education, one of the most dangerous men in the profession. After his arrest on a bench warrant, issued two years before, Sheridan was taken to the Church street police station, and was put on his examination. He pled not guilty to eighty-two indictments, and was remanded to the Tombs to await trial.
