

In and Household.

ing Home the Cows.

ALLIE WELLINGTON.

Old Brindle stands at the pasture bars. Chewing demure her cud— Patiently though she solemnly peers, And whisking her tail at the troublesome flies.

Be Sociable with Your Cattle.

Said a farmer to me last spring: "When we were drawing out manure; I let the boys drive to the lot and I stayed in the yard, because I could put on better loads."

Cement for Glass.

Out three parts of good Indian rubber into small shreds; dissolve it by heat and agitation in thirty-four parts of cold naphtha.

Kerosene and powdered lime, whitening or wood ashes, will scour tins with the least trouble.

September and October butter is the best for winter use.

Pressed Beef.

Procure a piece brisket of beef, cut off the bones and salt as is directed below, but adding a little extra salt prunella to the brine, and a little pepper; let the beef remain in pickle rather better than a week; when ready to cook roll it round tie it in a cloth and let it simmer gently, in plenty of water about seven hours if a whole one, but four hours if only the thin end; when done, take it up, remove the string, and tie the cloth at each end, put it upon a dish with another dish over upon which place half a hundred weight, leaving it until quite cold, then take the meat from the cloth, trim and glaze it lightly, and serve, garnished with a few sprigs of fresh parsley.

Spiced Beef.

Procure a piece of thin flank of beef about ten pounds in weight, which salt as the last for about a week; when ready split it open with a knife and lay it out flat upon a dresser, having previous prepared six onions, chopped very fine with about ten sprigs of parsley and the leaves of ten sprigs of thyme, the same of marjoram two ounces of mixed spice (without cinnamon), and half an ounce of black pepper; mix altogether spread half upon the beef as it lays before you then fold it over to its original shape, lay on the remainder of the preparation, roof it up tightly in a cloth boil, press, and serve as directed.

German Sauce for Puddings.

Boil very gently together half a pint of new milk, or milk and cream mixed, a very thin strip or two of fresh lemon-rind, a bit of cinnamon half an inch of a vanilla bean, and an ounce and a half of two ounces of sugar, until the milk is strongly flavored; then strain and pour it, by slow degrees to the well-beaten yolks of three eggs, smoothly mixed with about half a teaspoonful of flour, a grain or two of salt and a tablespoonful of cold milk; and stir these very quickly round as the milk is added. Put the sauce again into the stew-pan, and whisk or stir it rapidly until it thickens and looks creamy. It must not be placed upon the fire, but should be held over it when this is done.

Barley Sugar.

Put some common or clarified syrup into a saucepan with a spout, such as for melting butter if little is wanting to be made, and boil it till it comes to a thickish consistence, carefully taking off whatever scum may arise; and having prepared a marble stone either with butter or oil, just to prevent sticking, pour the syrup gently along the marble in long sticks of whatever thickness may be desired; twist it, while hot at each end and let it remain till cool, when it will be fit for immediate use. The rasped rind of lemon boiled with the syrup, gives a very agreeable flavor to barley sugar; and, indeed the best is commonly so prepared.

Force Meats.

Take six ounces of bread-crumbs, two ounces of lean ham, two ounces of butter, six ounces of finely shred beef suet, a little thyme parsley, and mace, a dessert spoonful of salt, a pinch of cayenne and the yolks of three eggs; well mixed and add three teaspoonfuls of milk, and twelve drops of essence of lemon, or a teaspoonful of lemon pickle; mix again and form into balls, which are to be fried in lard, or used for stuffing.

Scotch Broth.

Take four pounds of mutton—part of the leg is best—add one gallon of water, one teacupful of pearl barley, two carrots, grated, the white part of a large cabbage, chopped very small, and a small quantity of parsley. Season with pepper and salt. Let this boil very gently for three hours and a half; and at the dinner table it will most likely, by all who are fond of soups, be pronounced excellent.

Ham Toast.

Mix with one tablespoonful of finely chopped or grated ham, the beaten-up yolk of an egg, and a little cream and pepper; heat over the fire, and then spread the mixture either on hot butter toast, or on slices of bread fried quite crisp in butter. Serve very hot.

Molasses Cake.

Put in a coffee cup one tablespoonful of lard or butter and one tablespoonful of soda; put on four tablespoonfuls of boiling water, and fill the cup with molasses; stir well, and bake in warm gem pans in a modern oven. Good, either hot or cold.

Cream Pie.

One tablespoonful of white sugar, one egg, one tablespoonful of flour, one tablespoonful of melted butter; add sweet milk enough to fill your pie plate, and lemon, if preferred. This should be baked with but one crust.

INSURANCE NOTICE.—On or about the 10th of Nov. A. D. 1875, came into my office Mr. Wm. Mair, special-agent of the National Board of Underwriters, claiming authority to inspect all my Fire Insurance Registers. I then demanded to see the registers belonging to the National Board Companies, for his inspection. He then demanded to see the registers belonging to the non-board Companies, which I positively declined to assent to, as there was no law of the National Board giving him such authority. He then telegraphed to the Hartford Fire Ins. Co., of Hartford Conn.—a Board Company—of my action in the matter. I soon received a dispatch from the President of the Hartford, Geo. L. Chase, esq, that the honor of his Company demand an inspection of all my Registers. I immediately replied, by letter, that I should decline to accede to their demands and that the books and papers belonging to them were subject to their orders. I now understand that they have succeeded in finding an agent here to represent them in my stead. I give this notice to put my customers on Feb. 12, 1874.
