BLAINE'S $64,000 SWAG.

The following is the first boil that headed properly on the rotten political carcass of James G. Blaine; bloody-shirt shaker and would be President. For years he has had a touchyness when people were talking about honesty and many suspected that underneath his rhinoceros hide and hidden behind his bombastic loyalty there was a rottenness that only meeded to- be pricked to let enough of political corruption out of him to make the public gaze in astonishment. The following is the first inkling of the facts, as given by the Indianapolis Sentinel, of the 11th instant:

BEAUTIES OF THE SPY SYSTEM No one who had followed the course of the "political scandal" literature of the past few months can fail to have been struck with the prominent part played by the detectives or so called "special agent," in all the operations of the government. No affair of importance appears to be transacted without their intervention. They turn up constantly in the most anexpected places. They appear before the investigation committees as sharing the confidence and enjoying the intimacy of persons in the highest station. The whole system of government, in fact, appears to be as completely honey-combed with these creatures as that of Russia under the suspicious and absolute or of Czars, or of France under the administra-
