people of this age have gone fashion and money mad. If the dandy bank clerk who pays one half his income for board and the other half for clothes cannot improve his condition he will not marry. The shop girl who pays good wages and cannot be distinguished by her dress from the banker's daughter certainly will not plunge into matrimone, unless she can better ber condition in life. If a man is fortunate enough to possess money, it matters not how old or ugly he may be, hundreds of intelligent handsome young women can be found only too willing to become his wife. Love is an after consideration. They marry to be supported and dressed extravagantly. How often do we hear the remark, "Better to be an old man's darling than a poor man's slave." Alas li too many of them are not satisfied to be darlings. They persist in loving men after they are mar-

It cannot be denied that a great number of the unmarried men are adventurers looking for wives who can keep them without working for a living. The peace and contentment of a happy home is not taken into consideration. They are willing to suffer a hell upon earth if they can be kept in idleness. If our young people do not abanden this extravagance of dress and greed for money our country will be filled with old bachelors and old maids. We must have genuine courtships and marriages to have prosperity and happiness in this world! Too many marry for money only, to be disappointed and unnappy the rest of their lives.

APPEALS FROM ASSESSMENTS.—An important bill has passed the legislature relating to appeals from assessments to the court of common please. ELEGANT HAIR is woman's crowning beau-When it fades, she fades as well. While it is kept bright, her personal at ractions are still through many years. Those who grieve over their fading hair turning gray too early should know that Ayer's Hair Vigor prevents it, and restores gray or faded hair to its natural color. MELHUISH-In Montrose, April 22d, Fannie Melhuish, aged 21 years.

Fannie was the only daughter of a large family. As such it was very natural she should be dearly loved both by parents and brothers.

Yet even this could not dissuade relentless consumption nor defer death.

"They loved her but she left them, Like some sweet vision nigh, The Golden Gates were opened. A gentle voice said "come." And with larewells unspoken

She calmly entered home," The aged parents and brothers may flad consolation in the utterance of Jesus, "What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know HEWETT-In Brooklyn, Pa., April 10th, Re-

As she heared the world to come her testimony for Jesus was freely given and was very clear, from which her family and friends dea crown of life shall wear," and other pieces indicative of a triumphant death in Jesus

Her remains lie in the family grounds at Stark's Church on Tunkhannock Creek, but her spirit has gone to "a house not made with hands eternal in the beavens." J. H. WESTON.

Mrs. White, being in poor health, did not become extensively known here, but the few who met with her at the home directly saw she was a woman of estimable worth, very kind and affectionate as a mother and wife. Early on the morning of the 20th, quite a large number of neighbors convened at the house of the bereaved, where brief service of song and prayer was engaged in, thus away from friends, though somewhat remote from the more intimate associates of years gone by. Tokens of sympathy and remembrance came to the home in the form of flowers presented, which were arranged in and on the burial casket. The fuller obsequies were attended in the church at "Jersey Hill," Auburn township, and the body was entonebed in the yard | YARD WIDE FACTORY, from 7% cents per yard adjoining.
