

'The Campbells Are Coming'

GOOD WORK AT ST. LOUIS
TILDEN AND HENDRICKS—HONESTY AND REFORM.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—The convention reassembled at 5 25. The committee on credentials reported all the States represented and no contested seats. The report was adopted with amendments admitting delegations from the District of Columbia and territories, without votes.

The report of the committee on permanent organization was read commending Gen. John A. McClernand, of Ill. for permanent president, with a vice president for each state. The report was adopted.

After a short address by the president, Mr. Belmont, of New York, read a series of resolutions, arraigning the Republican party and appealing to the American people to forget the civil war after eleven years of peace and put an end to sectional strife. He accompanied them with some earnest remarks. The resolutions were referred. Adjourned until 11 to-morrow.

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—The committee on platform sat until 1 o'clock in the morning, and then adjourned without coming to any conclusion. After some discussion as to making nominations before the platform was adopted the Chair announced that the committee on resolutions was ready to report. The Chair recognized Mr. Meredith, chairman of the committee on platform, who said they had agreed on the resolutions, but had referred it to a committee on revision and are to meet again at one o'clock p. m. Mr. Kernan moved a recess until two p. m. Carried.

During the recess some speeches were made. B. Gratz Brown was called out, at the suggestion of Mr. Doolittle, to give the views of the Liberals in the present campaign. He said he sympathized entirely and cordially in the efforts to adjust all minor differences and to agree upon a winning ticket for the Liberals. He protested that they should be found in the front of the coming fight [Applause.] They want reform and relief, and he hoped the convention would put out a platform and candidate that would unmistakably embrace those ideas.

Mr. Wallace, of Pennsylvania, followed with a caustic criticism of the Republican party, which, he said, had made a ticket born of the defeat of the only strong candidate hated and denounced by the administration of Grant—men nominated for negative character alone. He exhorted tolerance, forbearance and harmony in the convention.

The convention met at two p. m. The platform was adopted by a vote 651 yeas to 83 nays. The roll of States was called to present their nominees for President. When Delaware was called Mr. Whitely nominated Thomas Francis Bayard, whom he eulogized in glowing terms as a Democratic statesman and gentleman. [Applause.]

Mr. Williams of Indiana, presented the name of Governor Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana. [Great Applause.] There was no fire in his rear. With him they would carry Indiana by 20,000. Mr. Fuller of Illinois, seconded Hendrick's nomination eloquently and forcibly. Mr. Campbell of Tennessee, by instruction of its convention, also seconded Hendricks, under whose lead Tennessee felt more confident of success than any other.

Mr. Abbott of New Jersey, presented Joel Parker's name in a ringing speech. When New York was called there was great excitement, cheers and waving of fans. Senator Kernan expressed his sympathy with all that had been said of the gentlemen already presented here, but proceeded to urge the nomination of Mr. Tilden. Tilden, he said, assures a guarantee of success in the coming contest. Tilden's name was received with great cheers.

John Kelly of New York, next took the platform. An attempt was made to hiss him down. A delegate—there seems to be some guess in the hall. [Cries of "Clear the galleries!"] that with Kelly's first sentence complete order was restored, until some one made the point that he was out of order, unless he intended to second Tilden's nomination, when ensued a scene of confusion and hisses, and cries for "Kelly!" "Kelly!"

Mr. Hutchins, of Missouri, insisted upon order, he expected to vote for Tilden, but Kelly was entitled to be heard. A delegate from Kansas demanded the "scolding of the vipers who hiss." [Applause.] Mr. Kernan (N. Y.) urged the respectful hearing of Kelly, and finally cries for Kelly were overwhelming, and he proceeded, urging that the nomination of a Western candidate for President will cure Indiana and Ohio in October, but if we lose those states then it would be impossible to give New York in November.

Some one on the platform interrupting proposed three cheers for Tilden. A delegate demanded his ejection, and the sergeant-at-arms proceeded to eject him from his seat. Mr. Kelly persisted in his right to the floor until he had finished, despite the efforts to interrupt him by calls for time, and the failure of the Chair to enforce order.

Mr. Flourney, of Va., seconded Tilden's nomination. Mr. Ewings, of Ohio, presented the name of the familiar statesman, William Allen. Mr. Clymer, of Penna., presented General Winfield S. Hancock in glowing terms. General Brent, of La., seconded Hancock's nomination.

Mr. Doolittle urged prudence, and said he did not believe they could carry even New York in November unless they carried Indiana in October. For this reason he favored Hendricks, who could carry Indiana, and he feared Tilden could not.

FIRST BALLOT. The ballot, being called for the clerk suddenly commenced calling the roll, which resulted as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Votes. Includes Tilden (535), Hendricks (60), Allen (54), Parker (18), Hancock (59), Bayard (11), Thurman (22).

SECOND BALLOT. Before the vote was announced Missouri asked if it was in order for her to change her vote before the result was announced. The Chair ruled it was.

Missouri asked for five minutes for consultation. The tally clerks were faithfully ten minutes comparing their figures. Meantime Missouri changed its vote to 16 for Tilden and 14 for Hendricks. Six of the New Jersey delegates claimed their right to cast their individual ballots for Tilden, urging that the resolution under which they acted did not bind them beyond the first vote. The New Jersey chairman contended that he alone had the right to announce the vote. Another New Jersey delegate asked the convention for leave to retire, insisting the right of individual voting Mr. Abbott, of New Jersey, said he hoped the state would consider Parker's abandonment as treachery. The vote was announced as 18 for Parker.

Before the vote was announced Iowa changed its vote to 24 for Tilden and 18 for Hendricks. A Virginia delegate complained that he had been deprived of his right to his individual vote by the announcement of the vote by the chairman of the delegation. Twenty delegates were on the floor at once, all striving to be heard. North Carolina changed its vote to 19 for Tilden and 1 for Hancock.

Without waiting for the announcement from the chair, the convention arose and gave long, tumultuous cheers. For ten minutes the noise and excitement almost drowned the music by the band. Various other states announced changes amid great confusion, including Delaware, which went solid for Tilden. Pennsylvania moved to make it unanimous. Indiana seconded Pennsylvania's motion to make the nomination unanimous, and it was adopted. A motion to adjourn until ten to-morrow and was carried at twenty minutes past eight.

ST. LOUIS, June 29.—The convention was called to order at 10 a. m. After the reading of some telegrams and some unimportant business, the convention proceeded to ballot for Vice President.

The following is the vote for Hendricks for Vice President. The vote by states: Connecticut, 12; New York, 70; Delaware, 6; Ohio, 36; Blank 8, Rhode Island 8, Pennsylvania 50, Tennessee 24, South Carolina 14, North Carolina 20, Colorado 6, New Jersey 18, California 12, Vermont 10, Virginia 22, West Virginia 10, Nebraska 9, Arkansas 12, Wisconsin 20, Nevada 6, Mississippi 16, Maryland 16, Maine 14, Kansas 10, Illinois 42, Massachusetts 25, Florida 8, Georgia 25, Iowa 22, Louisiana 16, Kentucky 24, New Hampshire 16, Alabama 20, Missouri 30, Minnesota 10, Michigan 22.

The total vote was 738—Hendricks 730 blank 8. Mr. Hendricks was therefore declared the nominee.

After the nomination of Hendricks John Kelly took the platform. He said there was no man here who had worked more strenuously than himself against the nomination of Tilden, because it was his earnest belief that we could not carry the election with an Eastern candidate. The convention having decided otherwise, he bowed to the decision of the convention, and none would work harder than he for his election. He expressed his great admiration for Hendricks, and confidence in his pure character. He counseled the burial of all personal opinions, and the concentration of every effort for a common victory. He proceeded with some comments on the necessity for a change in the National Administration through Democratic success, and was frequently greeted with applause.

Next in order was calling of the roll of the states.

The following is the National Committee: Arkansas, John J. Sumpter; California, Frank McCapen; Colorado, B. M. Hughes; Connecticut, Wm. A. Barnum; Delaware, Robinson Hickman; Florida, W. G. Mr. Webber of Michigan, offered a resolution recommending to future National Democratic Conventions to abolish the two-thirds rule as unwise and unnecessary; and that the States be requested to instruct their future delegates on this question, and that attention be called to this suggestion for the next convention. Mr. Taylor, of Leavenworth, briefly opposed the resolution. A Tennessee delegate moved to table it. A vote was taken and resulted, yeas, 359; nays, 370. A resolution of thanks was moved to President McClernand. At 12:30 p. m. the convention adjourned.
