

Town, County, and Variety.

An Elmira girl, who is anxious to get rid of a lover, has promised to marry him when Hayes is elected president.

Some of "the boys" of our town went on a buckleying excursion to Meshoppen, some of them returning with nine quarts.

The members of Montrose Fire Co. No. 2 are requested to meet at their parlor on Wednesday evening, Aug. 9 1876, at 7 P. M.

An egg measuring 8 1/4 inches by 6 1/2 inches, and weighing 4 1/2 ounces, was left on our table on Monday, by Mr. J. Hickox of Bridgewater.

Rev. F. A. Dony, of Rush, whose horse was recently killed by lightning has had the loss made good by his friends. Mr. D. is duly grateful for this expression of kindness.

It is rumored that a felonious assault was attempted one day last week on a lady in this vicinity. "Burglars" are getting so bold that it is dangerous for a lady to venture outside of her parental enclosure.

The following is a list of officers elected for the ensuing term, in Montrose Fire Co. No. 2, July 14, 1876: Foreman, Otis McCracken; 1st Ass't, C. C. Leet; 2nd Ass't, David Little; Sec'y, J. C. Harrington; Treas., A. R. Whipple; 1st Pipeman, Lant' Hine; 2nd Pipeman, John Dillon.

A very convenient enterprise, for the people of Montrose and vicinity, is the gun shop just opened, in the basement of B. C. Stryer's store, (under the Democrat office) by Mr. J. W. Clark. See advertisement on second page of this paper.

Montrose Fire Company, No. 2, will hold an ice-cream and peach festival on Friday evening of this week, (it being August 11) at the Engine House. Preparations are being made to exceed anything of the season. All are cordially invited to attend.

We give our space this week to the very interesting letters of acceptance of Tilden and Hendricks. As we firmly believe that these remarkably interesting documents come from the next President and Vice President of these United States, we think that no matter of more interest could be laid before our readers.

Mr. Paul A. Queen is spending his vacation interested in the sale of the new work entitled "Our First Century" soliciting orders and agents for this county. The work is superior to any we have seen. A more extended review of it will be given next week. We notice that some of the leading men of this place have already subscribe.

A severe rain storm accompanied by high winds and hail, visited this section on Monday afternoon last. No extensive damage was done in the borough more than the blowing down of trees, etc., and the unroofing of two barns on Wm. H. Jessup's farm. In south Bridgewater the storm was much more severe. The oat, corn, and buckwheat crops were completely devastated. Fences in every direction were leveled. A tree was blown down near H. Tewksbury's house, striking the roof and crushing it in. Many buildings were unroofed. The orchards were badly damaged. Rows of trees were blown down, and the fruit shaken off from those left standing.

We notice that it is officially announced that the Montrose Republican has been sold to Mr. J. P. Taylor of Wilkesbarre. The Republican ought to be and we presume is an excellent paying property but it will require considerable effort to keep it up to the mark where it was left by the late Mr. Frazier. A circulation of 5,000 copies for a paper in a county containing about 4,000 republican voters is a very large one and in these specially hard times is very likely to fall off. The Montrose Democrat has also been greatly improved of late and this will not tend to increase the circulation of its rival. We hope Mr. Taylor will have the success he anticipates but in the newspaper world it is not all gold that glitters.

The residence of Mr. F. F. Badger, west of the city limits, at the corner of Main street and Glenwood avenue, was entered by burglars at about 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. After ransacking the first floor of the house, the thieves encountered the proprietor, and escaped, taking with them a small amount of clothing, and valuables to the amount of about $25. The manner in which the affair occurred was as follows: Mr. Badger had been busy at work during the afternoon near his residence. His wife was absent and the house was empty. Between 4 and 5 o'clock he was engaged at his barn on another portion of the farm.

He returned to the house about 5 o'clock and unlocked and entered a back kitchen. He heard a noise, as if some one walking, and stepped into the next room east, which was the dining-room. On account of the heat he left all the doors open behind him. This room opens on the east into Mr. Badger's sleeping room, and on the south into a sitting room, the latter also extending beyond and opening into the bedroom. The steps were still heard, and Mr. Badger, supposing that his wife must have returned, passed into the sitting room. As he reached the centre of the room he heard the steps again, and more distinctly, and turning saw through the open door of the bedroom two men, one engaged in rummaging through the drawers of a bureau, and the other assorting different articles of clothing upon the bed, among which were a number of shirts, and Mr. Badger's best clothes. —Binghamton Times.

Henry Freeman, a wealthy butter merchant of Rahway, N. J., while sleeping on a sofa in his house, about 4 o'clock last Friday afternoon, was bound and robbed by masked burglars. Mr. Freeman's residence is at No. 65 Milton street, the principle street in the city. The house stands a short distance from the street, in a yard surrounded by trees. Mr. Freeman stated to a reporter last night that he was first aroused by feeling something forced into his mouth, and found that four masked men were tying him. A young man put a bag over his head, while a boy wearing a pair of goggles made of blue glass, with wire sides, tied his arms with a rope. Another put a slip-noose around his neck and drew the rope over a clothes hook, almost strangling him. His throat and neck were badly bruised and discolored by the rope. He was struck several violent blows on the chest, and seriously injured while struggling to escape. The family were absent at the time, and he was bound for half an hour before he was released. His sister returning to the house saw the doors open and all in confusion, and found her brother hanging as the robbers had left him. The burglars ransacked the whole house, but failed to find several gold watches and other articles of jewelry and the family silver plate. While the men were in the upper part of the house Mr. Freeman thought he was alone and made a desperate effort to free himself. He heard a gruff voice call down stairs to those who were below. "Put an end to that fellow, or he will spoil all." This was followed by a severe blow which had the desired effect. Mr. Freeman did not move again. The robbers were in the house about 20 minutes. They secured $310, which they took from Mr. Freeman's person.

THE FIRST OF THE SEASON.—Mr. George Harvey, of Rush, left two varieties of fine ripe apples at our office last week for "the boys," for which they return their thanks.

3. He shall have resided in the district where he intends to vote two months immediately preceding the election, instead of ten days, as formerly.

LIBERTY.—The potato bugs are doing a fair business in spite of the determined opposition of the farmers. Dea. W. Truesdell of New Milford, formerly of this place, is very much out of health, but his physician gives hope of his recovery. Little Lulu Stanford had three of her fingers cut off last Sunday morning by the accidental blow of an ax. Mr. E. Lockwood has lost two valuable cows within a few days, and a man in Franklin lost eight head of cattle by the same disease. The lovers of music meet every Thursday evening at the house of Russel Southworth. Miss Eliza having a splendid instrument and being an accomplished player makes it just the place for these entertainments. Elder Brewster has preached in the Baptist church several sabbaths; the people must indeed be hard to please if they look farther for a pastor. His next appointment is one week from to-morrow which will be Aug. 13th. If there is any one not particularly opposed to capital punishment and would have no serious compunctions of conscience would they please hang the gates to the P. church yard. Our burying ground is sadly out of repair. It is finely located and might with a little labor be made a grateful retreat where we might visit the home of our dead without feeling that we were really in "Golgotha." The first sabbath after the 4th of July the two Presbyterian societies held a centennial communion on Franklin hill. The Rev. J. H. Doremus gave one of his best discourses and altogether it was a time long to be remembered. Quarterly meeting in the M. E. church one week from to-morrow at the brick chapel. The ordinance of baptism will be administered the sabbath previous. Last Saturday evening, as Mr. S. Stanford was leaving the store, his horse became frightened and ran down into Mr. Handrick's carriage way and by the aid of maples made shipwreck of the buggy.

HARFORD PIC-NIC.—The most enjoyable occasion ever our privilege to attend, was that held on the beautiful grounds of the Harford Agricultural Society, Thursday, July 17th.

It being the eighth anniversary of Live Oak Lodge, of I. O. of O. F., No. 835, of Harford, the members resolved to honor the day with a public celebration, including exercises that would afford rational pleasure to themselves and bring the public generally into a more intimate acquaintance with the principles and objects of an order whose professions and inspirations are mysteriously blended and briefly expressed by "Friendship," "Love" and "Truth." The day was charming; clear and cool, a rare combination of all that makes mid-summer inviting. At an early hour the people were gathering in—childhood, youth, and manhood—animated with pleasant anticipations of a "good time coming." Sister Lodges of adjoining townships were well represented. A generous supply of excellent music was furnished by the Gibson Cornet Band who elicited most enthusiastic praise for the creditable manner in which their part of the programme was performed. Several appropriate selections of vocal music were finely executed by the Harford choir, led by J. A. Sophia.

A bountiful repast was prepared in the Agricultural dining room and under the shade of the grand old maple grove near at hand. This part of the entertainment was mainly provided and arranged by the "Daughters of Rebekah" and the excellent manner in which they sustained the part assigned them by their "Isaacs" is most surely a convincing proof that the teachings and influence of this most beautiful Degree does not detract from domestic abilities.

The refreshments having been fully enjoyed, the fraternity and friends assembled around the "Speaker's stand," and were entertained by able addresses delivered by Bro. J. H. Weston and Moore, of Brooklyn, Pa., Rev. G. T. Price, of Harford, Rev. Lowber of Luzerne co., and Pr. F. O. C. Tiffany, of Schuylkill co. The eloquent address of Bro. Price was prepared for the occasion and was a masterly effort in favor of the principles and influence of the Order. All the speakers were listened to with marked attention, the dispassionate, candid manner in which able arguments were deduced showing the inseparable connections of the principles of Old Fellowship with the best interests of humanity, could not fail to receive favorable consideration from hearers united by friendship, actuated by love and earnestly seeking the truth.

Live Oak Lodge may be congratulated upon this happy occasion; everything combined to make it a success and the pleasure enjoyed by all present invoked kindly regards for the future of No. 835.

Republican County Convention.

PART RING AND PART OTHER DOG.

The Republican county convention met on Monday, and was called to order by E. C. Fordham—chairman county committee. E. C. Fordham was elected President and E. P. Howe, N. O. Ainy and C. O. Vedder were elected Secretaries. After the roll of delegates was called nominations at once proceeded.

G. A. Grow, the "Texas Ranger," was nominated for congress over James E. Carnall, of Chocouton, Susquehanna co., by a small majority on the first ballot. It was announced by the chair that there was an error or disagreement among the secretaries, but the discrepancy was of no particular account as Mr. G. would probably be nominated any way, if another ballot was taken. Some one of "Texas" proclivities arose and moved that "The Ranger" be nominated unanimously which was seconded and received the endorsement of perhaps a little more than one half the delegates and the chair declared it unanimous.

For State Senator A. P. Stephens, of Great Bend, and W. W. Watson, of Montrose, were named. On first ballot the chairman announced that the secretaries had disagreed but unlike the course he took in the case of the "Ranger" he declared the ballot void and ordered a new ballot. On the second ballot Watson was declared nominated by a vote of 40 to 32. The tally as kept by one of the secretaries and by several outside the "Ring" on the first ballot gave A. P. Stephens 37 votes and Watson 35, which if the chairman had been as quick to announce that a little discrepancy "would make no difference" Mr. Stephens would have been declared nominated, but it seems the fates (or the Ring) had determined otherwise.

At this juncture the programme of the Ring appeared so very plain and their determination to cram it down the masses without grease was so manifest that the "music in the air" seemed to say "down with the Ring" and from that time out the convention ran wild, and the scrambling for further nominations was strictly a free fight, every man for himself, and the number of ears and noses taken up at the close was largely in favor of the Ring as they were severely punished. The nomination for Representative after eleven ballots resulted, first choice, in the nomination of Dr. E. P. Hines, of Friendsville, and on the 15th ballot the second choice gave it to M. J. Larrabee a popular young man of Susquehanna. During the balloting, however, we learned some new uses of figures. On one ballot the chair announced the tally for the different candidates and the sum total of the votes was 78. How this was done by 72 delegates will be as mysterious as the first ballot is on State Senator. But these little discrepancies seemed of no consequence in the general squabble. The Ring having suffered quite severely in the Representative contest, it came up to the scratch on Prothonotary rather weak but rallied finally with all its powers. The contest simmered down, however, after a few ballots to W. W. Simrell, of Great Bend, and Amos Nichols, of Montrose. Here the question of mathematics again came up, as the secretaries gave a tie vote of 37 and 37 out of 72 voters. But on a final rally the Ring lost more ears and noses and W. W. Simrell was nominated by a vote of 43 to 30.

Thus ended the last lesson in Ring politics of Susquehanna county for this centennial year of 1876. Since the old fashioned people's craft battered a leak in their old rotten hulk last fall, the Ring has been quarrelling as to who should be the acknowledged leader and as the fight grew hotter and hotter among them, the "Texas Ranger" came to their relief and agreed if they would accept him to look after the interests of Susquehanna county in Texas lands and railroads, as their Representative in congress, he would take the generalship of the Ring, and rally the people to its support. But it seems that after his own ax was ground by his own nomination and that of Watson, he left his army to skin their own skunks" and the Ring got "skinned." It is evident that the "Texas Ranger" cannot afford to lose a single eye or ear in minor contests in this district, if he expects to have his Texas interests "subsidized" at the polls in November.

But enough! Out of pure sympathy to the Ring we desist from further comment at this time. More anon.
