A few patients presented themselves at the clinic and were prescribed for.

On motion it was resolved that the discussion of "Cerebro-Spinal meningitis" be continued. On motion of Dr. Wilmot it was resolved that "quinine and diffusive stimulants in febrile diseases be a subject of discussion at the next meeting.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Harford Grange for the use of their Hall, and also to Drs. Blakeslee and Pennypacker for their entertainment.

Society adjourned to meet at Montrose, on the first Wednesday of January, 1877. W. R. BLAKESLEE, Sec. pro tem.

NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

LUZERNE COUNTY, PA. The Scranton Republican says there are several cases of black fever in the Polish settlement between Penn and Franklin Avenues in this city.

In the county the Republicans have elected A. P. Barber, Prothonotary; Chas. E. Rice, District Attorney; Robert J. James, Clerk of the Courts; Wadhams and Seamans State Senators; and seven Assemblymen. The Democrats have elected, Col. Wright, and W. H. Stanton, to Congress, and the Assemblymen in the 4th and 5th districts.

An old man named Patrick Corcoran was killed by being run over by the cars at the rolling mills in Scranton on Saturday, November 4th.

The shopmen of the D. L. & W. Co. who have been on a strike for upwards of a month are still as determined as ever not to resume work at the reduced rates offered by the company. They received $350 in subscriptions on Saturday.—Journal.

A young man named Smith, of Dalton, accidentally shot himself on Monday, while carelessly handling a loaded revolver. The ball entered his side and passed into his lung, producing a dangerous and perhaps fatal wound.

There are now eighty-six prisoners in the Wilkesbarre jail. It is stated that the chime of bells which have been heard by thousands of people on the Centennial grounds are to be purchased by a wealthy gentleman and presented to a church in Wilkesbarre.

BROOME COUNTY, N. Y. Brother Carl, send us a good Leader, for variety. "Printers" are getting monotonous. The habit of throwing stones prevails in Vestal Centre. A boy was seriously injured, there, recently. Joseph Kimball, of Vestal, had his horses frightened while attending a Democratic meeting at Tracy Creek, recently, and they ran away, throwing him out on his head and shoulders. He was very badly injured, and for a time it was feared he would not recover. He was taken to his home in Vestal, and we since learn that he is improving.

HINTS WORTH REMEMBERING.—Yellow stains, commonly called iron mould, are removed from linen by hydrochloric acid or hot solution of oxalic acid.

A small piece of paper or linen, moistened with spirits of turpentine, and put into a bureau or wardrobe for a single day, two or three times, is said to be a sufficient preservative against moths.

The best way to admit pure air in the night (where the windows are the only mode of ventilation) is to open the sleeping room into a hall where there is an open window, to avoid the draught. A window with a small opening at the top and bottom ventilates more than one opening only.

Never use anything but light blankets as a covering for the sick. The heavy impervious counterpane is bad, for the reason that it keeps in the exhalations from the pores of the sick person, while the blanket allows them to pass through. Weak persons are invariably distressed by a great weight of bed clothes, which often prevents their getting any sound sleep whatever.

A child's bed should slope a little from the head to the foot so that the head may be a little higher than the feet; but never bend the neck to get the head on the pillow, this makes the child round shouldered, cramps the veins and arteries and interferes with the free circulation of the blood. Even when the child is several years old the pillow should be thin.

GOOD MORNING.—Don't forget to say "good morning!" Say it to your parents, your brothers and sisters, your schoolmates, your teachers—and say it cheerfully with a smile, it would do you good and your friends good. There's a kind of inspiration in every "good morning," it is also true of all kinds of heartsome greeting, they cheer the discouraged, rests the tired ones, and somehow make the wheels of time run more smoothly. Be liberal with them, then, and let no morning pass, however dark and gloomy it may be, that you do not help, at least, to brighten by your smiles and cheerful words.

How TO PUSH BUSINESS.—One of our exchanges very pertinently remarks that there are a great many old fogies—notably too many—who entertain unsound ideas of how to push business. Rather than invest a few dollars in making their business known through the public prints, they sit on their haunches and wait for people to find them out. When approached upon the subject of advertising, they will reply that it does not pay to advertise, and yet this very declaration is disproved by every article that is placed in their show windows or that is hung up in front of their stores. The man that says it does not pay to advertise is doing it in some way all the time. If a merchant hangs a few of his goods outside the door—what is that but advertising? If a cabinet maker bangs a chair or other article of furniture at his shop door, he is advertising. If a man loses a horse or cow and tells everybody he meets, he is advertising his loss. The doctor who has a boy run in church and call him out in haste is advertising. The minister who announces next Sunday's text from his pulpit, is advertising. The street parades of circus establishments are nothing but advertisements.

The truth is a man cannot do business without advertising, and the only question should be, the way to do it. If you have a lot of personal property to sell, which is best, to write out a few notices that not one in fifty will stop to read, or go to the printers and have a lot of well displayed posters in addition to an advertisement in the papers, if you are in need of help, don't ask your neighbor's wife, if she knows of a girl, but make your want known through the newspapers, and you will have plenty of customers next morning to fill the place. If you are in business of any kind, it is not better to keep yourself before the public eye in your home paper by an advertisement that will start your friends and customers every day, rather than the old foggy idea of "Oh, they all know me?"

But, says Mr. Closefast, advertising costs money. Very true and so does everything else; and it is a good thing for you that advertising does cost something. If it did not, every little worthless concern would stand as good a chance of being known as the very best and most useful. If you want the people to know that you have anything to sell, advertise in your home paper first, then in your neighboring papers. The man who has a reputable business and spends the most in a liberal system of advertising, is the one who makes the most money. This is a truth well verified by those who have tried it. Those who don't believe it have just to cast about in their own town, and they will find that the most prosperous business men are they who advertise liberally and judiciously.

The fall of a most important year is now opening to the business world. People have wants now just as many as they have in prosperous times. They will buy, and will be sure to go to those who offer the best bargains. And the way to make these most widely known, is frequent announcement through the papers.—Try the experiment.

A YOUNG GIRL DIES IN THE WOODS.—On the afternoon of October 14th, Sophia Valentine, daughter of David Valentine, residing on Indian Hill, north of Jefferson Valley, near Peekskill, went from her father's dwelling, strayed away in the darkness, and was not heard of any more until discovered on Friday last, lying dead just at the edge of Stillwater swamp. She had been after milk in the afternoon, and it was getting quite late, her mother and sisters growing anxious, proceeded across lots to meet her. She returned another way, and did not of course meet them, and upon reaching home found them gone in quest of her. She immediately divested herself of her bonnet, shoes and stockings, and went after them by the way of the road. She was seen coming down Indian Hill by the main road, running between Jefferson Valley and Scrub Oak, and after reaching that, she came down the main road as far as the residence of Mr.

John Darrow. Then went up the North road or Nelson street as it is called, and was seen and spoken to in that road, by Mr. Odell and Mr. Allen, who both bade her turn round and go home as fast as possible. It was then getting quite late, and that was the last seen or heard of her.

Her mother and sister finding their search fruitless, returned home with the hope of finding her there, and then learned of her return, and that she had gone to look for them. They immediately went out again by the way of the road, but neither heard nor saw anything of her.

That Saturday night was one of the worst nights of the season, so dark one could not see a hand ahead of them, and exceedingly cold, and much could not be done in the search for her, but with the morning light the whole country was astir, and they have been searching ever since, but fruitless until, by accident, she was discovered last Friday morning after being gone thirteen days.

Mr. Harrison Kirkham was out hunting in Stillwater in a swamp, belonging to Alfred Dingle, and was led to the spot by the means of his dog. She was found lying on her back just in the edge of the swamp—dead. Her clothes had been almost entirely torn off her in her fight, doubtless through briars, and stones—Her flesh was bruised and torn terribly, and her bare feet cut nearly to pieces.

Word was immediately taken to her parents, and later in the day an inquest was held over the body; verdict, death resulting from cold and exposure.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS will be found to possess those qualities necessary to the total eradication of all bilious attacks, prompt to start the secretions of the liver, and give a healthy tone to the entire system. Indeed, it is no ordinary discovery in medical science, to have invented a remedy for these stubborn complaints, which develop all the results produced by a heretofore free use of calomel, a mineral justly dreaded by mankind, and acknowledged to be destructive in the extreme to the human system. These properties of certain vegetables comprise all the virtues of calomel without its injurious tendencies, is now an admitted fact, rendered indisputable by scientific researches; and those who use the Mandrake Pills will be fully satisfied that the best medicines are those provided by nature in the common herbs and roots of the field.

These Pills open the bowels and correct all bilious derangements without salivation or any of the injurious effects of calomel or other poisons. The secretion of bile is promoted by these pills as will be seen by the altered color of the stools, and disappearing of the sallow complexion and cleansing of the tongue. Ample directions for use accompany each box of pills. Prepared only by J. H. Schenck & Son, at their principal office, corner of Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, and for sale by all druggists and dealers. 47w6
