SIGNIFICANT WORDS FROM A REPUBLI-CAN PAPER.

New York Nation, Nov. 16.

. Gradually, the errors and short comings of the Republican party in the treatment of the South are, in one form or another, "thronging to the bar, and crying, all guilty, guilty." We are learning, little by little, that "troops" cannot save us, nor vituperation, nor the negro vote, nor the "party record." There is, to us, considering the history of the federal administration in Louisiana, with its Packards and Caseys and Durells and Billingses, something absolutely solemn in the retribution which makes it possible for that wretched returning board-so sternly condemned last year for its fraud by Messrs. Wheeler, Frye and Hoar-to elect Hayes, and makes Hayes' best friends tremble at the thought of his entering the White House by such means. The time for settling this matter by the aid of old passions or memories is clearly has made the journey with much less fagone by. The situation is one which needs hard, manly thinking, and manly facing of unpleasant and disappointing been for two years. Although wearied

We trust most sincerely, too, that the crisis may not pass without fixing the public attention on the point that the conduct of the administration since his eyes flashed with the old flame, his Jackson's time and more particularly of General Grant's administration, in constituting itself a wing of the party in pow. er rather than the trustee of the nation and in employing the whole body of of- said, with a mixture of sadness and afficeholders, from the president down, ev. en to the law-officers with their semi judicial functions, as electioneering agents, deprives us, at a crisis like this, of the presence of any power capable of arbi- in the Sctipture-Though one should trating between the conflicting parties. or capable of preserving order without exciting suspicion of sinister designs .-This really constitutes the most serious that is so; there is a wonderful change aspect in the present situation. In short, this executive tinkering and meddling with elections and election returns, and sending troops hither and thither to watch canvassing boards, though it might be tolerated from a president and cabinet distinguished for their impartiality and abstinence from party strife, is objectionable on so many grounds of principle and precedent that it has had much to do with giving Tilden his popular majority and its continuance is helping to drown the Republican party, already seriously disabled, beyond all hope of recov-

Alex. Stephens Interviewed. THE SOUTH NOT NURSING THE SPIRIT OF A NEW REBELLION.

Washington, Nov. 24. Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Ceorgia, arrived here to day and has taken permanent quarters for the winter at the National. He has been on the road three days, having come by easy stages, but tigue than was to have been expected. He looks much emaciated, but his attendant reports him heavier than he has with his long journey he welcomed your correspondent cordially and talked freely of the political situation. His voice, though light, is clear, the tones firm and as he talked of the country's crisis words came with the old readiness, and the wan hand would occasionally sweep out with the old emphatic gesture. At first, when asked for his views on the sitnation for publication in the North, he fected gaiety: "I don't think my opinion would have much weight with them. They would not believe me." Then he added, with a light laugh, "They are in arise from the dead, yet would they not believe." When assured that public opinion had changed a good deal in the last ten years he replied, quickly; "Yes, lieve what they hardly dare acknowledge, even to themselves."

extreme and belligerant talk, and said he government has had to pass through. In or any faction in the South, were meditating armed resistance, he replied warmly and with great emphasis: "If there is who is really talking in earnest of any such thing, I have yet to learn of him or of any one who knows of him. I do not believe there is one. I know the peosuch idea." "What is the feeling there, especially in South Carolina and Florida?" "They are, of course, indignant outrage on a free government and they are anxiously, but quietly, awaiting the result." He further said that he had unscrupulousness of his politics, and has winter quarters before the cold weather set in, but also for the purpose of doing what he could to counteract the impression that the South was nursing the spirit of new rebellion. That idea has been widely circulated at the North, he said and added, with indignant energy: "It has been and is their whole stock in trade."

Of the outcome of the present election

The latest information of the result in Florida which he received before he left home was that the Returning Board were sure to return the Tilden electors elected by about seven hundred majority. The South Carolina Canvassing Board had not shut up shop and run away beyond the reach of the scene with the national policy only in sheriff, as he expressed it, when he left, and he was not conversant enough with the facts to venture a positive opinion, He could not quite. believe that the Supreme Court of that State had allowed themselves to be outwitted by such a set little rhetorical disapprovals of fraud and of tricksters as they knew the Canvassing Board to be composed of, still he had known many a good case in court to Pamphlets, Business Circulars, Wrappers, Pags, be lost through the blundering of the managers. The venerable publicist was intensely earnest and almost propletic in tone and manner as he looked ahead and read the to him, certain results of a civil strife at this time, but he seemed exceedingly confident in his own mind that the people were too wise to take such a risk, and he held strongly that no honest man or patriot would for a moment think of such a thing, if it could be possibly avoided,

> Louisiana is the "Pelican State," South Carolina the "Palmetto State," and Florida the "Alligator State," therefore the New York Telegram sings:

My pelican 'tisof thee, Palmetto, uncertain tree, Alligator, answer me-Who's the man?

The official count of the vote of Pennsylvania for President shows an aggregate vote of 758,957, or 86,488 more than were cast for Governor, last year, when the heaviest vote ever, polled in the State was thrown. The official totals are as follows: Hayes, 384,158; Tilden, 366, 204; Opoper, 7,204; Smith, 1,318; American Alliance ticket, 83; Hayes' plurality, 17,944; Hayes' majority, 9,339. The vote of the State, without Philidelphia, gave Cheap for cash. No charges for showing our goods. Conn. Mutual Life Ins. Co., Assetts Haves a plurality of 3,453, an amount less than the Republican gain in Allegheney county. The Pepullican vote increased ten per cent. over that of 1872 and twenty-six and a quarer per cent. over the vote of 1875. The Democratic vote increased twenty-three per cent. over 1872 and twenty-five and three quarters per cent over last year-a smaller proportionate variation than any other State will show, not quite one half of one per cent. in favor of the R publicans. The gain was really with the D-mocrats by about three per cent, formearly the whole Temperance vote of 13.214 was swallowed up by the Republicans. The same proportionate increase in Floridz, however, would have given Tilden the State the condition of those people mentioned "by a large majority," sai, 7,150.—Phila.
