Within eighteen months, eleven banking houses in the Schuylkill coal districts have closed their doors. In Pottsville five of the nine banks have come to grief. The depositors of the German Banking Company, lose $35,000. Rutter, the cashier of the National Bank of Pottsville, runs off with $18,000.

One Sunday morning lately, Alfred J. Miller, of Berks county, was struck by an up freight train at Reading. The Dispatch says: At the same moment a down coal train came along and horse, buggy and driver were dragged down the track and ground between the two trains. The carriage was broken to pieces, the up train carrying portions for some distance up the track, while the other train dragged the remainder down the track. The debris of the buggy was scattered along the tracks for a distance of 300 feet.

Upon the trains, having been signalled and stopped, Mr. Miller was found between the two tracks, entangled in portions of the carriage. He was rescued from his perilous position by several gentlemen. He was then discovered to be badly hurt, his head and face covered with blood, having received a number of contusions, his clothes torn to shreds, and otherwise badly bruised about the body. Mr. Miller was taken to the Keystone house, where his wounds were dressed. The horse was left lying between the trains until they had passed, as it was found impossible to remove the animal. He was then led some distance down the street, when it was found that one of his hind hoofs was only attached by the fetlock, that his flank was torn open, and that he was injured beyond recovery, so he was accordingly shot. Mr. Miller subsequently stated that his horse became unmanageable and reared and plunged until caught between the two trains. The horse, a four year old, was valued at $200, and the buggy at $125. Mr. Miller's father was in Reading yesterday and reported that his son was not seriously injured, and that his condition has improved. His escape from a horrible death was truly miraculous.

A special despatch from Berlin to the London News says the industrial crisis in Germany grows worse and destitution is spreading with significant rapidity. A deputy recently stated in the Reichstag that actual famine was impending in the Giant Mountains, in Silesia. In Berlin a committee has been formed to examine measures of relief, and other cities and towns have asked permission to begin important public works so as to give employment to the poor. Altogether, the situation is distressing and the future threatening.

Spain is showing enterprise in some directions which hold out hopes for the future of the country. At a menagerie exhibition in Tolosa recently a lady made a bet of 5,000 pesetas that she would enter the lion's den, and an immense crowd flocked to witness the daring act. The lady entered with a small whip in her hand, put her head in a lion's mouth and seated herself upon him amid great applause, while the manager of the show held up his hands in amazement and swore he never saw such bravery before. The innocent Spaniards departed without a suspicion that the daring lady was a member of the troupe.

It appears as though Canada might soon cease to be an asylum for criminals from the United States. An extradition act has been introduced in the Dominion parliament which should pass. It provides extradition in regard to twenty-seven crimes, and reaches those whose crimes were committed before its passage as well as others. It makes perjury or subornation of perjury extraditable, as well as fraud by a bailee, banker, agent, factor, trustee, or by a director of any joint stock company. This will reach the cases of those gentlemen who defraud heirs, plunder treasuries and in a fiduciary capacity rob widows, orphans and honest hard-working citizens of their possessions; and if it becomes a law and we do our part, Canada will no longer be an Elysian bourne of delight to those who infest society in the United States and are a disgrace to any country.

DR. SCHENCK'S STANDARD REMEDIES. The standard remedies for all diseases of the lung, are Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and it taken before the lungs are destroyed, a speedy cure is effected.
To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.

The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs; nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.
To enable the pulmonic syrup to do this, Schenck's Mandrake Pills and Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, removing all obstructions, relax the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved.
Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative; the alkali of which it is composed mixes with the food and prevents souring. It assists the digestion by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition, so that the force and the Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood; then the lungs heat, and the patient will surely get well if care is taken to prevent fresh cold.

All who wish to consult Dr. Schenck, either personally or by letter, can do so at his principal office, corner of Sixth and Arch Sts., Philadelphia, every Monday.
Schenck's medicines are sold by all druggists throughout the country.
