HOW THEY DID IT. They were sitting side by side. And she sighed and he sighed. Said he "My darling idol !" And he idled, and then she idled. "You are creation's belle." And she bellowed, and then he bellowed. "On my soul there's such a weight." And he waited, and then she waited. "Your hand I ask, so bold I'm grown." And he groaned, and then she groaned. "You shall have your private gig." He giggled, and then she giggled. Said she, "My dearest Luke-"

And he looked, and then she looked. "I'll have thee, if thou wilt," And he wilted, and then she wilted.

THE FIRST MAN.

Some repairs were needed on the engine when the train reached Reno, and while most of the passengers were taking a philosophical view of the delay and making themselves as comfortable as possible in the depot, in walked a native. He wasn't a native Indian, nor a native grizzly, but a native Nevadian, and he was rigged out in imperial style. He wore a bearskin coat and cap, buckskin leggings and moccasins, and in his belt was a big knife and two revolvers.-There was lightning in his eye, destruction in his walk, and as he sauntered up to the red-hot stoye and scattered tobacco juice over it, a dozen passengers looked pale with fear. Among the passengers was a car painter from Jersey City, and after surveying the native for a moment, he coolly inquired:

"Aren't you afraid you'll fall down and hurt yourself with all those weapons?" "W-what?" gasped the native in astonish-

"I suppose they sell such outfits as you've got on at auction out here, don't they?" continued

"W-what d've mean-who ar' ye?" whispered the native as he walked around the stove and put on a terrible look. "My name is Logwood," was the calm reply and I mean that, if I were you, I'd crawl out of those old ducis, and put on some decent clothes !" "Don't talk that way to me, or you won't ive a minit!" exclaimed the native as he hopped around. "Why you homesick coyote, I'm Grizzly Dan, the heaviest Indian fighter in the World! I was the first white man to scout for Gen. Crook! I was the first white man in the Black Hills! I was the first white man among the Modocs!" ...

"I don't believe it !" flatly replied the painter. "You look more like the first white man down to the dinner-table!"

"The native drew his knife, put it back again, looked around, and then softly asked:

"Stranger, will ye come over behind the ridge and shoot and slash till this thing is settled?" "You bet I will !" replied the man from Jersey, as he rose up. "Just pace right out and I'll follow !"

Every man in the room jumped to his feet in wild excitement. The native started for the back-door, but when he found the car painter at his heels, with a six-barrelled Colt in his hand, he halted and said: "Friend, come to think about it, I don't want to kill you, and have your widow come on me

"Go right ahead—I'm not a married man!" replied the painter.

"But you've got relatives and I don't want no law suits to bother me just as spring is com-

"I'm an orphan, without a relative in this world!" shouted the Jerseyite.

"Well, the law will make me bury you, and it would be a week's work to dig a grave at this season of the year. I think I'll break a rib or two for you, smash your nose, gouge out your left eye, and let it go at that !"

"That suits me to a dot !" said the painter .-"Gentlemen, please stand back, and some of you shut the door to the ladies' room."

"I was the first man to attack a grizzly bear with the bowie knite," remarked the native as he looked around. "I was the first man to discover silver in Nevada. I made the first scout up Powder river. I was the first man to make hunting-shirts out of the skin of Pawnee Indians. I don't want to hurt this man, as he is kinder sad and down-hearted, but he must apologize to me."

"I won't do it !" cried the painter.

"Gentlemen, I never fight without taking off my coat, and I don't see any nail here to hang it on," said the native. A COME INCOMES

"I'll hold it-I'll hold it!" shouted a dozen oices in chorus.

"And another thing," softly continued the native. "I never fight in a hot room, I used to do it years ago, but I found it was running me into the consumption. I always do my fighting out doors now."

"Pil go out with you, you old rabbit hunter," exclaimed the painter, who had his coat off. "That's another deadly insult, to be wiped out in blood, and I see I must finish you. I never fight around a depot, though. I go out on the prarie, where there is a chance to throw

"Where's your prarie, lead the way !" howl-

"It wouldn't do any good," replied the native he leaned against the wall. "I always hold a ten dollar gold piece between my teeth wher fight, and I haven't got one to-day—in fact, I'm dead broke."

"Here's a gold piece!" called a tall man, holding up the metal.

"I'm a thousand times obleeged," mournfully replied the native, shaking his head. "I never C. H. Ditson & Co., go into a fight without putting red paint on my left ear for luck; and I havent any red paint by me, aud there's not a bit in Reno?"

"Are—you-—going—to—fight?" demanded the car painter, reaching out for the bear skin

"I took a solemn onth when a boy never to fight without painting my lett ear," protested the Indian killer. "You wouldn't want me to go back on my solemn oath, would you?"

"You're a cabbage, a squash, a pumpkin, dressed up in leggings!" contemptously remarked the car painter, as he put on his coat.

"Yes, he's a great coward," remarked several others as they turned away.

"I'll give ten thousand dollars for ten drops of red palut !" shrieked the native. "Oh! why is it that I have no paint for my ear when here is such a chance to go in and kill!"

A big blacksmith from Illinois took him by the neck, and run him out, and he was seen no more for an hour. Just before the train started and after all the passengers had taken seats, the "first man" was seen on the platform. He had another bowie knife, and had also put a tomahawk in his belt. There was red paint on his lett ear, his eyes rolled, and, in a terrible voice, he called out:

"Where is that man Logwood? Let him come out here and meet his doom !"

"Is that you & Count me in!" replied the car painter, as he opened a window. He rush ed for the door, leaped down and was pulling off his overcoat again, when the native began to retreat, calling out:

"I'll get my hair cut and be back here in seyenteen seconds. I never fight with long hair. I promised my dying mother not to."

When the train rolled away he was seen flourishing his tomahawk around his head in the wildest manner.
