PLENTY TO EAT AND TENDER CARE FOR THREE MONTHS TO COME.

"I don't think I ever saw you here before," mused the court, as Samuel Grover walked out. "No, I guess not, for I arrived here from Mexico only yesterday."

"Did, sh ? How was Diaz when you left?" "He seemed to feel all right."

"What part of Mexico are you from, Mr.

Grover ?" "From-from-" Don't be in a hurry, Mr. Grover. If you have forgotten the name of the place I'll wait till it occurs to you. It wasn't the town of Podunk, was it?" "That's the town-that's the place," replied smile of relief. "Reaching this city from the town of Podunk, Mexico, after leaving President Diaz in the best of health, you tried to put a man out of his own corner grocery, and were arrested while throwing bricks at a hod carrier. That's about the prisioner, his anxious look giving way to a it, isn't it ?" The prisoner made no reply, and after a long silence he suddenly asked: "Judge, wouldn't it be better to own up that I live on Twelfth street, and that I got drunk because my wife wanted a divorce ?".

"I knew that all the time, Mr. Grover, but if you prefer to hail from Mexico, I can't help myself."

"Well, I'll tell the truth, your honor. I'm having heaps of trouble with my wife, and don't care a cent what becomes of me."

"It's him that's made all the trouble," screamed a female voice near the door "Let me get through this crowd and tell the judge what a vagabond, villian, liar and mean man that fel-

"Say three months, judge." whispered the prisoner, heading for the corridor.

"Three it is." When the woman reached the bar her husband was seated on the back of the chair in the corridor, picking his teeth with a sliver, and as he caught his wife's eye he said softly:

"Pienty to eat and the tenderest treatment for three long months to come."-Detroit Free Press.

NOT A CHICKEN

At precisely two o'clock by the bell, the other morning, says the Detroit Free Press, a policeman who was walking up Beaubien Street caught sight of a negro who was skulking along a fence, and he called upon him to stop.

"Ize in a big hurry to ketch de mawning train for Toledo," called back the African. The officer threatened to shoot it he did not stop, and the skulker halted.

"Does you imagine that I haz got a chicken, heah?" he asked as the officer approached, 'Yes, sir-that's exactly what I imagine."

E"And if I hazu't got a chicken, I kin go right down to the depot, kin I?"

"I guess you can."

"Well, sah, gaze on dis yere, an' tell me if de name is chicken !" said the man, as he pulled a big goose around in front of him.

The officer went back on his word, and took the negro under arrest, and the victim was yesterday explaining:

"Whar's de use trying to get along wid dem p'licemen? De best way is to drop de goose and, an' make fur de woods."

ALMOST HAD A QUARREL.

The editor of the Rush City, Minnesota, Times Post, speaks of a visit of Dr. Bently to

"He did not like the reading of our last article, and we don't blame him, for there were a few sayings in it which were a little severe.— But he locked arms with us, and we waltzed around the room with him to the tune of high words and to the indefinite delight of the spectators. There were numerous chairs and other furniture in the room, which were speedily demolished and put out of the way. The doctor got frantic and kicked over a two gallon jug of ink, which of course, we didn't like, because it was new ink, and, besides, it spoiled the looks of the floor. We took the doctor for a sponge and sopped the ink up as quickly as possible.— That's what made the doctor mad. We then shoved the doctor over a chair, and we rolled around for a while, and then we began to fee! like fight, and we don't doubt but what we would have had a quarrel very soon, but the doctor suddenly concluded that he didn't care whether we took back what we said or not, and, as there was not any prospect of our taking it back right off, he concluded to quit just as we had got ready to begin."

NEXT DOOR.

About nine o'clock yesterday morning a armer-looking man entered a grocery-store on Woodward avenue, having a jug in his hand, and he said to one of the clerks:

"I want two pounds of nails and-" "Next door," promptly replied the clerk.

notioning with his thumb.

The farmer entered the store next door, aced his jug on the counter, and said:

"I want a gallon of molasses and-"

"Next door," said the proprietor, motioning ward the grocer.

The farmer looked at him for a minute and then went out and re-entered the other store. ile jug remarked :

"Why in the blazes couldn't you have told me in the first place that I could get the molasses here and the nalls next door? What's the use of being so mighty high-toned about noth-
