Men who use indecent language on the cars of the Lehigh Valley road are arrested, and in York the profane are taken off the streets by the police. This is a time of reform; and if such a rule were in force in other places there would be a wonderful depletion of hoodlums.

Mr. D. T. Sterling, of Meshoppen, had a narrow escape from death, a few days since, in consequence of taking an overdose of aconite. Suffering from an attack of rheumatism, he applied at a drug store for medicine, and aconite was given him by mistake, instead of the medicine applied for. He became immediately prostrated from its effects, but timely medical aid was at once rendered and the effects of the poison neutralized, and his life saved.

One of the largest excursion trains of the season bound for the West, passed over the L. V. & Erie Railways on the 1st of May. Fifteen passenger coaches and six baggage cars, with about 700 people, farmers, mechanics, stock-men, speculators and others. This excursion was under the able management of L. C. Detrick, of Wilkes-Barre, and Mr. A. B. Close, of Elmira, who are making a great success of these affairs.—Record of the Times.

A sad accident occurred on Sunday evening at Dickson City, three miles north of this city, resulting in the death of Mrs. William Hinckley. Mr. Hinckley had gone to Providence to church, leaving his wife and two children at home. Mrs. Hinckley wishing to read, placed a kerosene lamp upon a chair, and declined herself upon the floor, when one of the children in approaching her hit the chair, tipped the lamp over and on floor, breaking the lamp and setting fire to the spilled oil. Mrs. Hinckley promptly grasped the child and saved it from the flames, but in so doing her own clothes caught fire, and she ran out into the street to cry for help. The breeze fanned the flames so that she was immediately completely enveloped in flames, and before help could reach her was so badly burned that her life was faded. She lingered until four o'clock Monday morning, when death put an end to her terrible sufferings. She was about twenty-three years of age and leaves a husband and two children. This is the second person that has been burned to death in the little hamlet of Dickson, a Mrs. Davis having met the same sad fate there some eight years ago by her clothes catching fire from an oven.—Scranton City Journal.

State Items.

MAY. TO ALL, PARTICULARLY INVALIDS, spring is a trying season. Indications of sickness should at once be attended to. Fatal disease may be caused by allowing the bowels to become constipated and the system to remain in a disordered condition, until the disorder has time to develop itself. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, is an old and truthful saying. Therefore, we advise all who are troubled with the complaints now very prevalent—headache, indigestion, disordered liver, want of appetite, nausea, or feverish skin, to take, without delay, Schenck's Mandrake Pills. We know of no remedy so harmless and decisive in its action. It at once strikes at the root of the disease and produces a healthy tone to the system. People never need suffer from any disease arising from a disordered condition of the liver if they would take this excellent medicine when they feel the first indications of the malady. Families leaving home for the summer months should take three or four boxes of these pills with them. They have an almost instantaneous effect. They will relieve the patient of headache in one or two hours, and will rapidly cleanse the liver of surrounding bile, and will effectually prevent a bilious attack. They are sold by all druggists.
