THE WEEK.

The military operations on the Danube and in Asia make slow progress on both sides. The Russians in spite of their great resources and fine organization, have a great many difficulties to overcome. The character of the country and the fortifications render an advance tedious on land, and Hobart Pasha's respectable English pluck and well drilled sailors keep the Muscoviter from making much progress in maratime operations. Apart from the actual warfare it is a question whether Russia or Turkey is suffering most. Both are impecunious, but the Turks are living on the manna of fanaticism. A statement has been published by the Paris Patric to the effect that the Russian debt is now $3,000,000,-000, while in 1830 it was scarcely $74, 000,000.

An official Constantinople dispatch says the Russians, having attacked on Friday in great force the position occupied by the vanguard of the Turkish auxillary troops in the vicinity of Batoum, an engagement lasting eight and one half hours, resulting in the complete route of the Russians, who lost 4 000 men. The Turkish loss was inconsider-

Attorney General Devens has recently made a decision to the effect that the contracts between the government and the parties in charge of the erection of public buildings were illegal and void. because they extended over a term of years whereas the appropriations are made for one year only, and the law prohibits the making of contracts binding the government to pay for service for which there is no appropriation. This work is done under the direction of the Treasury department, and Secretary Sherman has appointed Assistant Secretary French, Supervising Architect Hill. and Colonel Casey, of the Engineer corps, a commission to examine into the matter and report some legal way of preventing the difficulties which must arise under a strict construction of this decision of the attorney general.

The commissioner of Internal revenue recently referred to the attorney general the question whether a banking house purchased and used for banking purposes, either with part of the authorized capital of a corporation or association or the personal funds of a private banker, is to be deemed "capital employed in the banking business" as the term "capital employed" is used in the statute? The question is decided affirmatively, and, in closing the opinion, the attorney general states that every banking corporation should be assessed for the fixed amount of its capital, less the sum put into government bonds, and the private banker for the capital employed by him in that business other than that by him invested in such bonds. The statute which is the sole basis for and guide of any assessment authorizes no further deductions in ascertaining the sum upon which the monthly tax of one-twenty-fourth of oue per cent. is to be calculated.

In accordance with this decision, the commissioner of internal revenue has issued instructions to collectors informing them that all returns for assessments of banks, banking associations, companies and corporations, etc., of bankers hereafter made will be required to embrace the entire amount of paid up capital of the bank association, company or corporation, and the entire capital employed by any private bank or banker in the business of banking. The returns will also in each case, as a deduction from the capital, the average amount invested in United States bonds. No other deduction than this will be allowed.

Governor Hartranit on Saturday issued the death warrant for the execution of Geo. W. Fletcher, convicted of the murder of a fireman at Philadelphia over a year ago. The execution is to take place June next, Fletcher, who was a politivictim out, and placing his arm around earth. his neck shot him dead. Fletcher was tried, found guilty, and his case was taken before the supreme court on a writ of error. This was done in order to se-taken before the board of pardons, which met about two weeks ago in Philadelphia, when the case of Fletcher and Quigley were both considered and acted upon adversely. No action has yet been taken by the Governor in Quigley's case but in all probability he will meet the same fate

On Thursday, May 10th, the Permanent Exhibition was duly inaugurated at Philadelphia. It is to be in its prominent feature a continuation of the Centennial Exhibition, complete in vevery department though necessarily condensed in its appointments. At the opening nearly one hundred thousend spectators were present, among them the President and other persons of note from various

The display in the main building is said to be even more complete in its arrangements than it was during the Centennial, having been entirely re-arranged. It is divided into eight divisions, embracing industrial, machinery, art, agricultural, musical, educational, publication and public comfort. Besides the home exhibit the following countries will be represented; Spain, Japan, China, Brazil, Mexico, Norway, Sweeden, Denmark, Egypt, Germany, France, Italy, Tunis, Belgium, Switzerland, Turkey, Venzuela, Russia, Great Britian, Austria, Portugal and the Orange River Free State.— The Main building, Memorial Hall, and Horticultural Hall are used.

The Pennsylvania Border.

Capt. Patterson, Superintendent of the United States Coast Survey, has received a letter from J. N. L. Pruyn, the chairman of the New York Commission appointed to re run the boundary line between the States of New York and Penn- Amount of read juplicate...... sylvania, in regard to the detail of an attache of the Coast Survey to perform the astronomical work. Several weeks ago Col. Worral, one of the Pennsylvania Commissioners, had a consultation with Capt. Patterson on the same subject, and it was this interview which led to correspondence between the Pennsylvania and New York commissioners. Capt. Patterson will promptly accede to the request of the commissioners when it is formally made, and will designate for the work one Treasurer's percepage..... of the most skillful men of the service.

On the 12th of October, 1786, Com- Balance in treasur's hands...... missioner Andrew Ellicott for Pennsylvania and James Clinton and Simeon DeWitt for New York, appointed for the purpose of running and marking a boundary line between the two States, to begin at the Delaware River on the 42d degree of north latitude, and to continue on the same parallel to the western extremity of tic States, reported that they had finished 90 miles of the boundary extending from the Delaware River to the west side of the south branch of the Tioga River, and had marked the same with suitable milestones. One year later, Oct. 29,1787. Andrew Ellicott, and Andrew Porter, Commissioners of Pennsylvania, and servations and surveys were conducted under the directions of the eminent astronomer and mathematician, David Rit-

The object of the resurvey authorized by the two States is to correct the line, which it is believed varies at many points from the parallel designated in the original charter to William Penn as the limit of his proprietary possessions in the direction of the Royal Colony of New York. This, it is admitted was not owing to lack of skill, but to the crude state of astronomical science at that time and the imperfection of the appliances used. Of late years there has been a very general resurvey of the boundary lines of the older States, and in some cases very serious errors have been discovered, and if the commissioners should in that city on Monday, the 11th day of finally determine to invite the Superintendent of the Coast Survey to designate cal rough (republican in politics) had a one of his assistants to take direction of to the same company that Fletcher did.

Andrew Ellicott, and Andrew Porter, Commissioners of Pennsylvania, and Abraham Hardenburg and William Morris, Commissioners ef New York, reported that they had extended the line from the ninetieth milestone to Lake Erie, and that they had marked the line in a permanent manner by milestones, or posts surrounded by mounds of earth when stones could not be procured.

The stones at the several points where the latitude was determined were large and well marked, containing on the south side, Pennsylvania, latitude 42c north, 1787," also the variation of the magnetic needle; and on the north side, "New York," and their several distances from the Delaware River. VEGETINE. The range of disorders which yield to the influence The range of disorders which yield to the influences of this medicine, and the number of defined diseases which it never fails to care, are greater than any other single medicine has hitherto been even recommended for by any other than the proprietors of some quack nostrum. These diseases are scrofula and all cruptive diseases and tumore, rheumatism, gont, Neuralgia, and spinal complaints and all inflammatory symptoms; Ulcers, all syphilitic diseases, kidney and bladder diseases, dropsy, the whole train of painful disorders which so generally afflict American women, and which carry annually thousands of them to premature graves:

which so generally afflict American women, and which carry annually thousands of them to premature graves; dyspepsia, that universal curse of American manhood, heartburn, piles, consumption, nervousness, inability to sleep, and impure blood.

This is a formidable list of human ailments for any single medicine to successfully attack, and it is not probable that any other article before the public has the power to cure the quarter of them except Vegetine. It lays the ax at the root of the tree of diseases by first climinating every impurity from the blood, promoting the secretions, opening the porer—the great secape valves of the system—invigorating the liver to its full and natural action, cleaning the stomach and strengthening digestion. This much accomplished, the speedy and the permanent cure of not only the diseases we have enumerated, but likewise the whole train of chronic and constitutional disorders, is certain to follow. ic and constitutional disorders, is certain to follow.— This is precisely what Vegetine does, and it does it so quickly, and so easily, that it is an accomplished fact almost before the patient is aware of it himself.
