

Seven Days Later from Europe. ARRIVAL OF THE CALEDONIA

By Telegraph to the North American. TELEGRAPH OFFICE, ST. JOHN, May 25, 3 P.M.

The steamer Caledonia, Captain John Leitch, arrived at Halifax at 7 1/2 o'clock last evening, bringing one week's later intelligence from all parts of Europe.

ENGLAND. The bill for the modification of the Navigation Laws has been carried in the House of Lords by a majority of ten in favor of the ministry. These laws may now be considered as virtually repealed. The result has given the Whig ministry a new tenure of office.

Continental Europe. The whole of continental Europe seems ready to burst into one general conflagration. The quarrel between the Parliaments throughout the various divisions of Germany and their respective Princes, has reached the highest pitch, and in Saxony a frightful conflict has already taken place.

The people, or rather the Red Republican party, fought with the troops during seven hours on the 21st inst., and a great loss of life occurred. The railways were displaced in order to prevent troops from Berlin from arriving, but a sufficient force of Prussians having come up opportunely, a momentary tranquility was secured by sheer military force.

The Paris papers, on Thursday, gave no certain information of the entry of the French troops into Rome. All we learn is that the Neapolitans were marching upon that city, and it was thought that the French would occupy it before them.

The Pilot of the Empire. Mr. Levi Smith, has voluntarily given himself up to the authorities, to answer any criminal charge that may be brought against him. He has been admitted to bail in the sum of $1000. The Courier and Enquirer says:—

FRANCE. From Paris the reports are repeated that the rupture between the President of the Republic and his cousin, Napoleon Bonaparte, is complete. A fierce quarrel, it is said, rages between them, which tends to increase the dangers which surround the heads of the armies—the privates and officers of which seem to be greatly wrought upon by the Socialists.

A serious riot had taken place in the barracks of the 7th Light Infantry, stationed at the Hotel des Invalides. Sergeant Major Boychet having had his name placed upon the list of Socialists as a candidate for the Assembly, was arrested. The man insisted upon his release. A riot of a serious character ensued. The officers were set at defiance. At length Boychet was sent off to the garrison, but not without great difficulty. The regiment has been sent away from Paris.

The same manifestations were predominant in many regiments, as the Socialists by the most increasing efforts continued to seduce the soldiers from their duty, but the lack which the French troops have met with in the Papal States has moved all France to the centre, and touched the people upon their tenderest point—the glory of France Italy.

The French General marched on the 27th from Civita Vecchia. The account of his further progress is furnished by telegraph messages.

General Oudinot had set out on his march home, where according to every information was called by the wish of the people, and he met some serious resistance at the city of Rome, and he was watching the arrival of the rest of the division.

No date is given, but it is probable that General Oudinot was near Rome on the 30th inst.

Milan, on the approach of the French on the side of the Lombard. Cannon are planted on the road, and the gates and streets that lead to Civita Vecchia. The long covered gallery, erected by Pope Borghia between the Castle of St. Angelo and the Vatican Palace has been blown up with powder, and the materials used to block up the entrances to the city.

A deputation of the Central Committee had protested against the invasion, and informed Gen. Oudinot that Rome would resist this entrance by force, and blew up the Original, the Vatican, and St. Peter, which were already undermined.

The French General replied that his instructions were imperative, and that he would enter Rome by force if not quietly received.

A letter from an eye witness, gives the following account of the attack on the city: Accompanying the 1st Battalion of Sardinians sent on to the gates of Rome being received with musket shots, retired in good order, and soon part of the division advanced and penetrated without difficulty to the midst of the Capital the streets of which were carried, but they were received by a well directed fire of musketry, and a storm of missiles from the windows and roofs of the houses, &c.

The 20th of the line, which was the front, was severely treated. A company of Voltigueres was almost totally destroyed.

At last, seeing the impracticability of continuing a struggle, which was becoming fatal to the French, Gen. Oudinot ordered a retreat, and the expeditionary corps at this time occupied a strong position near Rome. The French lost about 200 killed, of whom several officers. Amongst them is Mr. Harris, the Aid de Camp of Gen. Oudinot, and several hundred wounded.

A correspondent of the Daily News, writing from Rome under date of the 30th ult., states that the French did not enter Rome at all, and that all the fighting took place outside of the walls of the city. The gates of San Pancrazio Petrez and Cabaleger were the points of attack. A sortie was made by Garibaldi, as the French advanced, and the Italians are said by the correspondent to have lost six hundred killed on the spot. There were 425 Frenchmen taken prisoners—many of whom, while crossing the streets, were heard to declare that they had been tricked into the expedition by promises of being led against the Austrians.

It is said that on the attack on Rome, Gen. Oudinot was nearly taken prisoner, the Italian combatants having caught hold of him, and it was with great difficulty that he was rescued by his men.

The law of the United States under which the District Attorney has so promptly and properly acted in bringing the case of the Empire before a Grand Jury of the Circuit Court of the United States, was passed in 1838, and approved by the President, 7th July of that year.

The title of the act is "An Act to provide for the better security of the lives of passengers on board of vessels propelled in whole or in part by steam." And section 12 provided: "That every Captain, Engineer, Pilot or other person employed on board of any steamboat or vessel propelled in whole or in part by steam by whose misconduct, negligence or inattention to his or their respective duties, the life or lives of any person or persons on said vessel may be destroyed, shall be deemed guilty of manslaughter, and upon conviction thereof before any Circuit Court in the United States, shall be sentenced to confinement at hard labor for a period of not more than ten years."

Two living specimens of the real Orang Outang, or wild man of the wood, have arrived in Salem. The animals that have hitherto been brought to this country and exhibited under the name of the Orang Outang have been of the species Chimpanzee, or large black African Ape. The present pair walk erect upon the hinder feet, catch a nut, and have all the natural movements of the human race. They do not offer to scratch or bite, like the monkey tribe, but defend themselves with great dexterity with a club or short stick, and will throw any missile with unerring aim. They show the strongest affection for each other, and upon the entrance of a stranger, the male invariably advances in front of the female, with some weapon in his hand, if he can secure it.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Monday last, says the Owego Gazette of the 19th, GEORGE KNOWLTON, employed by Mr. HENRY SACKETT, of Candor, in hauling logs with a car on the railroad, when near Chibsey's mill, discovered a train of freight cars coming and stopped to unhitch and remove his car from the track, so as to allow the train to pass, and in kicking the wheels loose the horse gave a spring jerking him off the car on to the track, the car passing over and crushing both legs. He died early on Tuesday morning, leaving a wife and two children.

The gold fever is raging to a considerable extent in Georgia, the mines in that section having been unusually productive of late. One lump of solid gold was recently found near Elijah worth $1500, and another worth nearly the same amount was shortly after picked up by a poor laborer near Dalton.

A PHYSICIAN'S REMEDY. For affection of the Lungs, Shortness of Breath, &c. &c. Sussex county, N. J., Nov. 8, 1847. Dr. Seth W. Fowler—Dear Sir, I have been induced in consequence of the benefits received from your medicine, to add my testimony in favor of its healing properties. Having been afflicted for several months with a severe lung disease, under which I labored with shortness of breath and great bodily weakness, I was recommended by a Physician of Hackettston, N. J., to try Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which not only gave me relief, but restored my failing strength and also imparted new life and energy to my system. I can therefore cheerfully recommend to all afflicted with lung diseases, to try this Balsam of Wild Cherry. Respectfully yours, THEODORE J. ALLEN.

Colton's Premium Bee Hive. On an entirely New Plan. THIS Hive is decided to be the best Hive in use, by those who have used it, and by the most experienced bee keepers.

It has three protections against the bee moth—1st, the bottom iron, so that the egg will not hatch under it. 2d, it is so constructed that the worm cannot crawl above the bottom box, if the egg should hatch. 3d, the room can be increased or diminished, by removing the drawers arranged upon the sides, and turning the bees in upon the centre, sufficient to keep the comb covered with the bees all through the season, and the bees will protect the comb from the moiler.

This Hive can be used for a swarming or a non-swarming Hive.

It is perfectly simple in its construction, and gives the bees ample room for all to work at the same time, so that they will never lay out on the wings or the hive.

The bees will increase one third more in this than in the other kinds, and make twice the amount of honey.

The old comb can be removed at any time without work at the bees below.

The subscriber having purchased the right for this valuable improvement for Susquehanna county, offers for sale individual and township rights. A model of this truly ingenious contrivance may be seen at the store of J. Ethridge in Montrose, who will explain its advantages, and is authorized to make contracts for the sale of rights.

Important from Canada. QUEENSBURY, July 24, 1848. To all who are afflicted with Asthma. I have at different times been afflicted with severe colds, which produced in my case, the Asthma. I have, on these occasions used Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild-Cherry. In two years ago I was quite well—so much so that I could not rest at night. I procured of the agent in this city, a bottle of this Balsam of Wild-Cherry. Before I had taken the whole of it I felt relieved. I continued taking it until I had taken three or four bottles, which completely cured me. The present season I took another severe cold, and immediately resorted to this Balsam; and a part of one bottle had the desired effect. I therefore cheerfully recommend my friends and all others who need it; to try this Balsam of Wild-Cherry. Wm. McGraw is the particular Agent for this city. Wm.
