THE FIGHT OF CASSIUS M. CLAY.—The Maysville Ky. Eagle gives a particular account of the origin of the rencounter between Clay and Turner, which resulted in the death of the latter. There were three pro-slavery candidates for the State Convention in Madison county, and only one emancipation candidate. Among the former was Maj. Turner, father of the deceased. They had two public meetings, on Thursday and Friday—The latter at a regimental muster—and the pro-slavery candidates managed to occupy the greater part of the time, Maj. Turner being the most obnoxious in this respect. In consequence, Mr. Clay bore down very hard upon the latter. At the close of his speech on the second day, Mr. Clay was questioned by a Maj. Runyon, and they got in a dispute in reference to the school fund, during which Clay called Runyon a tool of Turner. The account then proceeds:—

Clay descended from the stand in perfect good humor, and without expecting difficulty with any one, when Major Turner remarked that 'Runyon was not his tool.'

Clay replied that whether Turner knew it or not, he was evidently his willing tool.—Upon this, Cyrus Turner, the son of the candidate, stepped up to Clay, and pronounced his statement a d—d lie, and struck him in the face. Clay was soon stabbed by some one behind him, beat over the head with a stick by Alferd Turner, and perhaps others, and a revolving pistol was snapped four times at his head, bursting a cap each time, by Thomas Turner. He did not draw his knife nor shake off the hold of those who were clinging to him until he received the blood spouting forth from his side, and he believed from the wound that he must die. With superhuman effort he shook off those who held him, encountered Cyrus Turner and stabbed him. The wound took effect in the lower part of his abdomen, resulting in his death in thirty four hours.

The Shelby News publishes an article in reply to the above, in which it is stated that one was as culpable as the other.

THE IRISH STATE PRISONERS.—The advices by the Canada state that the Irish Solicitor General was in London in consultation with English land officers of the crown in regard to the case of Smith O'Brien, O'Donohue and Meagher, and that as the result, the Government have determined to bring in a special act of Parliament giving the Queen a power to do, what it seems they are convinced the law does not now give her, —that is to alter the sentence so as to substitute transportation for death. Irish members are very indignant, and are about to petition the Queen to settle the matter, and prevent the excitement which such a step would produce by exercising their immediate and full pardon. If the Ministry adopt such a step,—it will be the right of the prisoners, whom the ex-post facto law will affect—to be heard by counsel at the bar of the House against it. In the meantime, John Martin and Keiven O'Doherty, formerly editors of the Irish Felon and Tribune, have been removed from Dublin and put on board the Trident war steamer, in execution of the sentence of transportation for ten years.

State Convention—Canal Commissioner.

To the following resolution we call the attention of our friends, in the hope that early action will be had in the premises:

Resolved, That the friends of the National and State administrations, in Pennsylvania, be requested to meet in the several cities and counties of the State, and select delegates equal in number to their representatives in the State Legislature, who shall meet in convention at the court house in Harrisburg, at 11 o'clock A. M., on Thursday the 16th day of August next, for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Canal Commissioner, and to do such other business as the interests of the country may require. Happy child, thy days are ended;
All thy sorrows now are past;
Pain with bliss no longer blended—
Blooming joys will ever last.

In Jackson, Susq. Co., Pa., July 4, 1849, Mrs. H. N. WORDEN, wife of Rev. J. B. Worden, in the 53d year of her age.

Her disease was an affection of the heart, which occasioned very great distress until near the close of life, when all pain subsided, and she departed to be with Christ, without a struggle or a groan.

Her funeral was attended, July 6, at the Baptist meeting-house in Jackson, and an appropriate sermon preached by the Rev. N. Calender of New Milford, from 2 Tim. iv: 7, 8.—"Thus the mourners go about the street because man goeth to his long home."

But we mourn not as those "who have no hope," because "we believe that Jesus died and rose again" and that those who sleep in Jesus, God will bring with him. [COM.

RESOLUTION

RELATIVE TO THE AMENDMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Penn'a. in General Assembly met, That the Constitution of this Commonwealth be ammended in the second section of the fifth article, so that it shall read as follows: The Judges of the Supreme Court, of the several Courts of Common Pleas, and of such other Courts of Record as are or shall be established by law, shall be elected by the qualified electors of the Commonwealth in the manner following, to wit: The Judges of the Supreme Court, by the qualified electors of the Commonwealth at large. The President Judges of the several Courts of Common Pleas and such other Courts of Record as are or shall be established by law, and all other Judges required to be learned in the law, by the qualified electors of the respective districts over wich they are to preside or act as Judges: And the Associate Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas by the qualified electors of the Counties respectively.—The Judges of the Supreme Court shall hold their offices for the term of fifteen years if they so long behave themselves well: (subject to the allotment hereinafter provided for, subsequent to the first election:) The President Judges of the several Courts of Common Pleas, and of such other courts of Record as are or shall be established by law, and all other Judges required to be learned in the law, shall hold their offices for the term of ten years, if they shall so long behave themselves well: The Associate Judges of the Courts of Common pleas shall hold their offices for the term of five years, if they shall so long behave themselves well: all of whom shall be commissioned by the Governor, but for any reasonable cause which shall not be sufficient grounds of impeachment, the Governor shall remove any of them on the address of two-thirds of each branch of the Legislature. The first election shall take place at the general election of this Commonwealth next after the adoption of this amendment, and the commissions of all the Judges who may be then in office shall expire on the first Monday of December following, when the terms of the new judges shall commence. The persons who shall then be elected Judges of the Supreme Court shall hold their offices as follows; one of them for three years, one for six years, one for nine years one for twelve years, and one for fifteen years; the term of each to be decided by lot by the said judges as soon after the election as convenient, and the result certified by them to the Governor, that the commissions may be issued in accordance thereto. The judge whose commission will first expire shall be Chief Justice during his term, and thereafter each judge whose commission shall first expire shall in turn be the Chief Justice, and if two or more commissions shall expire on the same day, the judges holding them shall decide by lot which shall be the Chief Justice. Any vacancies happening by death, resignation, or otherwise, in any of the said courts, shall be filled by appointment by the Governor, to continue till the first Monday of December succeeding the next general election. The Judges of the Supreme Court, and the Presidents of the several Courts of Common Pleas, shall at stated times, receive for their services an adequate compensation, to be fixed by law, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office, but they shall receive no fees or perquisites of office, nor hold any other office of profit under this Commonwealth, or under the government of the United States, or any other State of this Union. The Judges of the Supreme Court during their continuance in office shall reside within this Commonwealth, and the other Judges during their continuance in office shall reside within the district or county for which they were respectively elected.

What time establishes and consecrates, what experience adopts and confirms, what all men in all places unite in saying is good and valuable, is so, no doubt. A popularity of this sort fixes in society its roots so strong that time cannot destroy it. The success which has attended this medicine for several years past, has overcome the prejudices of all respectable men, and the article has taken a stand among the first class of discoveries and blessings of the age; and when resorted to in season, eradicates the disease for which it is recommended.

From the Boston Post.

Dr. S. Fowle, 138 Washington street, has an article entitled as above, which we believe is the best preparation hitherto discovered for the cure of colds and other consumptive complaints. Having tested this medicine, we can speak with confidence as to its salutary effects in removing colds and other complaints incident to this season of the year.
